Reporting Science The Case Of Aggression:

Reporting Science Jeffrey H. Goldstein, 2024-08-08 Originally published in 1986 this is a nonscientific book about science. It is concerned with the relationships among social science journalism, public information, and public policy. Reporting Science: The Case of Aggression explores some of the obstacles and suggestions for overcoming them to the mutual exchange of information when that information concerns research and theory on a sensitive issue; in this instance, violence. Among the issues explored are: What is the social scientist's responsibility, if any, for the public dissemination of his or her work? How accurate are mass media reports of scientific research on such socially sensitive issues as violence and the effects of mass media portrayals of sex and aggression? How do science journalists select particular pieces of research for study? How can interested scientists more effectively present their work to the public? What are the ethical issues involved in greater scientist-journalist cooperation?

Communicating Science Eileen Scanlon, 1999 Communicating Science is an ideal introduction for anyone who wants to learn about the relationship between science, the media, and the public. Surgeon General's Report by the Scientific Advisory Committee on Television and Social Behavior United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Commerce. Subcommittee on Communications, 1972

Television Violence and Public Policy James Hamilton, 2000-08-16 Discusses why and how we should rate the content of television programs for violence. Violence and Terror in the Mass Media George Gerbner, Nancy Signorielli, 1988-01-13 Originally a Unesco project, this annotated bibliography results from more than 4,600 requests to media scholars and researchers for research reports, publications, and other information relating to violence and terrorism. Although there is an international cast to the materials, most are from the U.S. Even though violence and terrorism permeate our myths and legends, there is increasing concern with their effect on viewers. This bibliography is particularly timely, with entries through spring 1987. The sections of the work: mass media content; mass media effects; pornography and the media; terrorism and the media give a better idea of the work's scope than does the title. The annotations are clearly written, succinctly descriptive of the original work's research with test groups and evaluative of research results. Reference Books Bulletin This bibliography focuses on research and scholarly works relating to violence and terror. Consisting primarily of articles published in scholarly journals and books, this comprehensive work examines major topics such as violence and mass media content; violence and mass media effects; terrorism and the mass media; and pornography. Also included are articles from popular journals, reports published by the United States and other governments, conference papers, and dissertations. Each entry consists of the bibliographic citation and a short abstract. Many of the sources include studies from other countries where relevant research has been conducted. The compiler's introduction provides a clear definition of violence and terrorism as they are dealt with in this volume and offers an interesting overview of various aspects of the subject. A Cognitive Psychology of Mass Communication Fred W. Sanborn, Richard Jackson Harris, 2013-07-18 A Cognitive Psychology of Mass Communication is the go-to text for any course that adopts a cognitive and psychological approach to the study of mass communication In its sixth edition it continues its examination of how our experiences with media affect the way we acquire knowledge about the world and how this knowledge influences our attitudes and behavior Using theories from psychology and communication along with reviews of the most up to date research this text covers a diversity of media and media issues ranging from commonly discussed topics such as politics sex and violence to lesser studied topics such as sports music emotion and prosocial media This sixth edition offers chapter outlines and recommended readings lists to further assist readability and accessibility of concepts and a new companion website that includes recommended readings even more real world examples and activities PowerPoint presentations sample syllabi and an instructor guide

Communicating Uncertainty Sharon M. Friedman, Sharon Dunwoody, Carol L. Rogers, 2012-10-12 Exploring the interactions that swirl around scientific uncertainty and its coverage by the mass media this volume breaks new ground by looking at these issues from three different perspectives that of communication scholars who have studied uncertainty in a number of ways that of science journalists who have covered these issues and that of scientists who have been actively involved in researching uncertain science and talking to reporters about it In particular Communicating Uncertainty examines how well the mass media convey to the public the complexities ambiguities and controversies that are part of scientific uncertainty In addition to its new approach to scientific uncertainty and mass media interactions this book distinguishes itself in the quality of work it assembles by some of the best known science communication scholars in the world This volume continues the exploration of interactions between scientists and journalists that the three coeditors first documented in their highly successful volume Scientists and Journalists Reporting Science as News which was used for many years as a text in science journalism courses around the world

Science and the Media Massimiano Bucchi, 2014-03-20 In the days of global warming and BSE science is increasingly a public issue This book provides a theoretical framework which allows us to understand why and how scientists address the general public The author develops the argument that turning to the public is not simply a response to inaccurate reporting by journalists or to public curiosity nor a wish to gain recognition and additional funding Rather it is a tactic to which the scientific community are pushed by certain internal crisis situations Bucchi examines three cases of scientists turning to the public the cold fusion case the COBE Big Bang issue and Louis Pasteur's public demonstration of the anthrax vaccine a historical case of public science Finally Bucchi presents his unique model of communications between science and the public carried out through the media This is a thoughtful and wide ranging treatment of complex contemporary issues touching upon the history and sociology of science communication and media studies Bucchi's theories on scientific communication in the media are a valuable contribution to the current debate on this subject

Doing Research on Sensitive Topics Raymond M. Lee, 1993-03-16 This book is a comprehensive guide to the methodological ethical and practical issues involved in undertaking research on sensitive topics Raymond M Lee explores the reasons why social research may be politically or socially contentious its relation to issues of social or political power its capacity to encroach on people's lives and its potentially problematic nature for the researcher Issues examined include the choice of methodologies for sensitive research problems of estimating the size of hidden populations questions of sampling surveying and interviewing and sensitivity in access and the handling of data The book also discusses the political and ethical issues at stake in the relations between the researcher and the researched and in the disclosure dissemination and publication of research

Television and the Aggressive Child L. Rowell Huesmann, Leonard D. Eron, 2013-06-19 The research presented in this book originally published in 1986 looks to pinpoint the psychological processes involved in the media violence aggression relation Expanding on earlier studies the compilation of essays here delves deeply into aggression study and compares results about media influence across 5 countries Cultural norms and programming differences are investigated as well as age and gender and other factors What is offered overall is a psychological model in which TV violence is both a precursor and a consequence of aggression

Aggression and Crimes of Violence Jeffrey H. Goldstein, 1986 Aggression is perhaps the most serious human problem from family violence to street crime to war it threatens not only the quality of daily life but also life itself This volume explores the empirical evidence on human aggression and violent crime drawing on a variety of disciplines including anthropology criminology education law medicine physiology political science psychiatry psychology and sociology For the second edition the author has completely updated the book and added new and expanded material on family violence predicting dangerousness the effects of pornography on aggression sports violence and the psychology of war and peace From reviews of the first edition A solid work which should be seen as the basic source Contemporary Sociology A refreshingly sensible book Aggressive Behavior Goldstein is an excellent explicator of the way a sociologist works and the kinds of results he can achieve Publishers Weekly

Sports, Games, and Play Jeffrey H. Goldstein, 2012-12-06 This updated study of sports and recreation utilizes the most current research introducing the latest innovations and analyses in new chapters while revising and expanding chapters from the previous edition Presenting diverse methodological and conceptual approaches this anthology reflects the current view of sports as a natural laboratory for ecologically valid research This collection contains literature reviews innovative theories and methods and essays on various psychological and social aspects of sports games and organized play

Essays on Violence J. Martín Ramírez, Robert A. Hinde, Jo Groebel, 1987

Memorializing Violence Alison Crosby, Heather Evans, 2025-02-11 Memorializing Violence brings together feminist and queer reflections on the transnational lives of memorialization practices asking what it means to grapple with loss mourning grief and desires to collectively remember and commemorate as well as urges to forget in the face of disparate yet entangled experiences of racialized and gendered colonial imperial militarized and state violence The volume uses a transnational feminist approach to ask How do such efforts in seemingly unconnected remembrance landscapes speak to with and through each other in a world order inflected by colonial imperial and neoliberal logics structures and strictures How do these memorializing initiatives not only formulate within but move through complex transnational flows and circuits and what transpires as they do What does it mean to inhabit loss mourning resistance and refusal through memorialization at this moment and what is at stake in doing so What might transnational feminist analyses of gender race sexuality class and nation have to offer in this regard

New Methodological Perspectives on Observation and Experimentation in Science

Wenceslao J. González, 2010-12-29 Observation and experimentation are central topics of philosophy and methodology of science The empirical sciences have commonly been associated to observational and experimental processes because they have been considered crucial for testing the contents of these Thus observation and experimentation have received attention from different angles and they have been historically relevant in the advancement of science Their philosophical methodological analysis includes some key aspects those related to axiological epistemological and methodological issues New Methodological Perspectives on Observation and Experimentation in Science deals with a classic topic that is seen from new angles Its nine chapters seek non traditional aspects trying to extend the boundaries of this philosophical methodological theme They are presented in five sections 1 A Philosophical Methodological Context 2 Experience and Scientific Observations 3 Empirical Support and Experiments in Science 4 Changes in the Framework on Observation and Experimentation and 5 Enlarging the Philosophical Scope Law and Ecology Wenceslao J Gonzalez is Professor of Logic and Philosophy of Science University of A Coruña He is a Full Member of the International Academy for Philosophy of Sciences AIPS Visiting fellow at the Center for Philosophy of Science University of Pittsburgh and a Team Leader of the European Science Foundation program entitled The Philosophy of Science in a European Perspective He has been named a Distinguished Researcher by the Main National University of San Marcos in Lima Peru He has been a visiting researcher at the Universities of St Andrews Münster and London LSE He has given lectures at the Universities of Pittsburgh Stanford Quebec and Helsinki The conferences in which he has participated include those organized by the Universities of Uppsala New South Wales Bologna Canterbury NZ and Beijing He has edited 26 volumes on philosophy and methodology of science

Vikings and the Vikings Paul Hardwick, Kate Lister, 2019-11-12 This essay collection is a wide ranging exploration of Vikings the television series that has successfully summoned the historical world of the Norse people for modern audiences to enjoy From a range of critical viewpoints these all fresh essays explore the ways in which past and present representations of the Vikings converge in the show s richly textured dramatization of the rise and fall of Ragnar Loobrok and the exploits of his heirs creating what many viewers label a true representation of the age From the show s sources in both saga literature and Victorian revival to its engagement with contemporary concerns regarding gender race and identity via setting sex society and more this first book length study of the History Channel series appeals to fans of the show Viking enthusiasts and anyone with an interest in medievalist representation in the 21st century

The Forensic Psychologist's Report Writing

Guide Sarah Brown, Erica Bowen, David Prescott, 2017-05-08 The Forensic Psychologist's Reporting Writing Guide is the first book to provide both student trainees and practitioners with best practice guidance for one of the core skills of their role. Written and edited by an international range of experts from the UK, North America and Australasia, it provides clear advice on a range of assessments from psychometric tests to personality functioning and includes real life examples to illustrate key points. Uniquely, the book also offers guidance on the range of different client groups that forensic psychologists work with across both civil and legal contexts, including juveniles, female clients, couples and those with cognitive impairments. From core principles to writing style to key issues, each chapter also includes a checklist of advice and further reading. Comprehensive and practical, The Forensic Psychologist's Reporting Writing Guide is a user-friendly companion to this critical and often overlooked skill and will be essential reading for both neophyte and experienced forensic psychologists alike.
