Danaro and Fred Mackey had cheered for the club; then you go against them. "Go on, I don't want your support."

Fred and Lou fell between the two groups and therefore had to face this problem of divided allegiance. Doc's position on the corner was so definitely established that no one even considered the possibility of his choosing to bowl for the Community Club against the Nortons.

This was the only match between the two teams that ever took place. The corner boys were satisfied with their victory, and the club did not seek a return match. Tony Cardio objected to the way in which the Nortons had tried to upset the concentration of his team and said it was no fun to bowl against such poor sports. There were, however, clashes with individual members of the club. One night in November, Doc, Frank Boelli, Joe Dodge, and I were bowling when Chick Morelli and Lou Danaro came in together. We agreed to have two three-man teams, and Chick and Doc chose sides. Chick chose Lou and me. The match was fairly even at first, but Doc put his team far ahead with a brilliant third string. Toward the end of this string, Chick was sitting next to Joe Dodge and mumbling to him, "You're aousy, aousy. You're a no good bowler."

Joe said nothing, but Chick had repeated his remarks several times. Then Joe got up and fired back at Chick, "You're a conceited _____! I feel like taking a wallop at

Representation In Ethnography:

Approaches to Ethnography Colin Jerolmack, Shamus Khan, 2017-10-23 No ethnographer can record and analyze everything that she encounters in the field We must make choices about what to look at and how to look at it which means privileging some aspects of social life while bracketing others Approaches to Ethnography enumerates the key analytic strategies which Jerolmack and Khan call approaches that ethnographers deploy to tame the buzzing confusion of the social world The book identifies eight approaches that typify ethnography which it groups and compares along four axes 1 Micro organizational and macro 2 people and places and mechanisms 3 dispositions and situations and 4 reflexivity Each approach it is shown enables the illumination of a distinct dimension of the social world Every chapter is written by a seasoned ethnographer who enumerates one of the approaches and reflects on how that approach shapes their field site selection observations and analysis Taken as a whole the chapters show how these approaches which operate more like sensitizing devices than theoretical mandates can play a greater role in guiding the kinds of questions that get asked and answered in the field than whether one adopts an inductive or deductive stance toward theory Engaging accessible and often inspiring Approaches to Ethnography offers a practical and novel way to teach evaluate and conceptualize ethnographic research

Service-Learning Trae Stewart,Nicole Webster,2011-09-01 Service learning is an exciting pedagogy and field of study offering insight into how academic study and community engagement blend to create social change In its most traditional conceptualization servicelearning activities typically manifest within communities where outside individuals address a need Service learning is purported to have a transforming effect on individual student perspectives by providing students the opportunity to interact with people and enter into situations that allow students to test their predisposition towards others However the literature on the impact of service learning on participants acceptance of diversity and development of open mindedness reports mixed outcomes The purpose of this book is to explore cultural tensions and dynamics within the field of service learning It is not meant to be an exhaustive review of the interplay between culture and service learning but rather a starting point for an ongoing conversation about how this complex topic impacts the field In 18 chapters educators students and administrators investigate the cultural values of service learning itself and the tensions created when this is at odds with the values of others within K 12 and higher education in the United States and abroad Authors include community organization representatives researchers directors of offices of community engagement university administrators junior and senior faculty and former service learning undergraduate students Submissions reflect a range of genres including theoretical conceptual pieces position papers case studies and other traditional academic essays challenging how students and community members are affected by the cultural tensions within service learning engagement Encyclopedia of Communication Theory Stephen W. Oliver-Rotger, 2014-09-19 This volume combines literary analysis and theoretical approaches to mobility diasporic identities and the construction of space to explore the different ways in which the notion of return shapes contemporary ethnic writing such as fiction ethnography memoir and film Through a wide variety of ethnic experiences ranging from the Transatlantic Asian American Latino and Caribbean alongside their corresponding forms of displacement political exile war trauma and economic migration the essays in this collection connect the intimate experience of the returning subject to multiple locations historical experiences inter subjective relations and cultural interactions They challenge the idea of the narrative of return as a journey back to the untouched roots and home that the ethnic subject left behind Their diacritical approach combines on the one hand a sensitivity to the context and structural elements of modern diaspora and on the other an analysis of the individual psychological processes inherent to the experience of displacement and return such as nostalgia memory and belonging In the narratives of return analyzed in this volume space and identity are never static or easily definable rather they are in process and subject to change as they are always entangled in the historical and inter subjective relations ensuing from displacement and mobility This book will interest students and scholars who wish to further explore the role of American literature within current debates on globalization migration and ethnicity
