Representing Religion In World Cinema Filmmaking Mythmaking Culture Making:

Representing Religion in World Cinema S. Plate, 2016-04-30 Religious traditions have provided a seemingly endless supply of subject matter for film from the Ten Commandments to the Mahabharata At the same time film production has engendered new religious practices and has altered existing ones from the cult following of The Rocky Horror Picture Show to the 2001 Australian census in which 70 000 people indicated their religion to be Jedi Knight Representing Religion in World Cinema begins with these mutual transformations as the contributors query the two way interrelations between film and religion across cinemas of the world Cross cultural and interdisciplinary by nature this collection by an international group of scholars draws on work from religious studies film studies and anthropology as well as theoretical impulses in performance gender ethnicity colonialism and postcolonialism

Religion and Film S. Brent Plate, 2017-09-05 Religion and cinema share a capacity for world making ritualizing mythologizing and creating sacred time and space Through cinematography mise en scene editing and other production activities film takes the world out there and refashions it Religion achieves similar ends by setting apart particular objects and periods of time telling stories and gathering people together for communal actions and concentrated focus The result of both cinema and religious practice is a re created world a world of fantasy a world of ideology a world we long to live in or a world we wish to avoid at all costs Religion and Film introduces readers to both religious studies and film studies by focusing on the formal similarities between cinema and religious practices and on the ways they each re create the world Explorations of film show how the cinematic experience relies on similar aesthetic devices on which religious rituals have long relied sight sound the taste of food the body and communal experience Meanwhile a deeper understanding of the aesthetic nature of religious rituals can alter our understanding of film production Utilizing terminology and theoretical insights from the study of religion as well as the study of film Religion and Film shows that by paying attention to the ways films are constructed we can shed new light on the ways religious myths and rituals are constructed and vice versa This thoroughly revised and expanded new edition is designed to appeal to the needs of courses in religion as well as film departments In addition to two new chapters this edition has been restructured into three distinct sections that offer students and instructors theories and methods for thinking about cinema in ways that more fully connect film studies with religious studies

Shi'i Islam in Iranian Cinema Nacim Pak-Shiraz, 1999-07-01 In recent years there has been a remarkable surge in Iranian films expressing contentious issues which would otherwise be very difficult to discuss publicly inside the Islamic Republic of Iran such as the role of clergy in Iranian society Nacim Pak Shiraz here highlights how many Iranian film directors concern themselves with the content of the religious and historical narratives of culture and society sparking debate about the medium's compatibility or incongruity with religion and spirituality She explores the various ways that Shi'i discourse emerges on screen and offers groundbreaking insights into both the role of film in Iranian culture and society and how it has become a medium for exploring what it means to be Iranian and Muslim after thirty years of Islamic rule This is invaluable reading students and scholars of Film Studies and contemporary Iranian cinema but also of the culture and identity of Iran more widely

The Dardenne Brothers' Cinematic Parables Joel Mayward, 2022-09-30 The Dardenne Brothers Cinematic Parables examines the work of Belgian filmmakers Jean Pierre and Luc Dardenne who have been celebrated for their powerfully affecting social realist films Though the Dardenne brothers films rarely mention religion or God they have received wide recognition for their moral complexity and spiritual resonance This book brings the Dardenne filmography into consideration with theological aesthetics Christian ethics phenomenological film theory and continental philosophy The author explores the brothers nine major films beginning with The Promise 1996 and culminating in Young Ahmed 2019 through the hermeneutics of philosopher Paul Ricoeur By using Ricoeur s description of parable as a narrative metaphor which generates an existential limit experience Joel Mayward crafts an innovative Ricoeurian hermeneutic for making theological interpretations of cinema Drawing upon resources from three disciplinary spheres theology philosophy and film studies in a dynamic interweaving approach Mayward proposes that the Dardenne brothers create postsecular cinematic parables which evoke theological and ethical responses in audiences imaginations through the brothers distinctive filmmaking style what is termed transcendent realism The book ultimately demonstrates how the Dardenne brothers are truly doing not merely depicting theology and ethics through the cinematic form it presents film as theology what Mayward refers to as theocinematics This is valuable reading for scholars of theology philosophy and film studies as well as film critics and cinephiles interested in the cinema of the Dardenne brothers

In the Days of Caesar Amos Yong, 2010-09-14 In the Days of Caesar is a constructive political theology formulated in sustained dialogue with the Pentecostal and charismatic renewal one of the most vibrant religious movements at the beginning of the twenty first century Amos Yong here argues that the many tongues practices and gifts of renewal Christianity offer up new resources for thinking about how Christian community can engage and transform the social political and economic structures of the world Yong has three goals here First he seeks to correct stereotypes of Pentecostalism both political and theological Secondly he aims to provoke Pentecostals to reflect theologically from out of the depths of their own Pentecostalism rather than merely to adopt some framework for theological or political self understanding Finally Yong shows that a distinctively Pentecostal form of theological reflection is not a parochial activity but has constructive potential to illuminate Christian belief and practice This book s engagement with political theology from a Pentecostal perspective is the first of its kind before the Revolution Pedram Partovi, 2017-07-14 Critics and academics have generally dismissed the commercial productions of the late Pahlavi era best known for their songs and melodramatic plots as shallow derivative entertainment. Instead they have concentrated on the more recent internationally acclaimed art films claiming that these constitute Iranian national cinema despite few Iranians having seen them. Film discourse and even fan talk have long attempted to marginalize the mainstream releases of the 1960s and 1970s with the moniker filmfarsi ironically asserting that such popular favorites were culturally inauthentic. This book challenges the idea that filmfarsi is detached from the past and present of Iranians. Far from being escapist Hollywood fare merely translated into Persian it claims that the better films of this supposed genre must be taken as both a subject of and source for modern Iranian history. It argues that they have an appeal that relies on their ability to rearticulate traditional courtly and religious ideas and forms to problematize in unexpectedly complex and sophisticated ways the modernist agenda that secular nationalist elites wished to impose on their viewers. Taken seriously these films raise questions about standard treatments of Iran's modern history. By writing popular films into Iranian history this book advocates both a fresh approach to the study of Iranian cinema as well as a rethinking of the modernity tradition binary that has organized the historiography of the recent past. It will appeal to those interested in Iranian cinema, Iranian history and culture and more broadly readers dissatisfied with a dichotomous approach to modernity.

Sacred Matters Gary Laderman, 2009-05-12 Widely praised in hardcover as a fascinating and important addition to religious and cultural studies Sacred Matters reveals the remarkable ways that religious practices permeate American cultural life. In a country where references to God are as normal as proclaiming love of country support for the military or security for the nation's children religion scholar Gary Laderman casts his eye over our deeply hidden spiritual landscape questioning whether our conventional views even begin to capture the rich and strange diversity of religious life in America. A compelling read Sacred Matters shows that genuinely religious practices and experiences can be found in the unlikelyst of places in science laboratories and movie theaters at the Super Bowl and Star Trek conventions and in Americans' obsession with prescription drugs and pornography. When devoted fans make a pilgrimage to Graceland because of their love for Elvis Laderman argues their behavior doesn't just seem religious it is religious enacting a well known ritual pattern toward saints in the history of Christianity. In a dramatic reframing of what is holy and secular Sacred Matters makes a powerful and illuminating case that religion is everywhere and that we have barely begun to reckon with its hold on our cultural life.

Cinema and Sacrifice Costica Bradatan, Camil Ungureanu, 2017-10-02 Cinema has a long history of engaging with the theme of sacrifice. Given its capacity to stimulate the imagination and resonate across a wide spectrum of human experiences sacrifice has always attracted filmmakers. It is on screen that the new grand narratives are sketched the new myths rehearsed and the old ones recycled. Sacrifice can provide stories of loss and mourning betrayal and redemption death and renewal destruction and re-creation apocalypses and the birth of new worlds. The contributors to this volume are not just scholars of film but also students of religion and literature philosophers ethicists and political scientists thus offering a comprehensive and interdisciplinary approach to the relationship between cinema and sacrifice They explore how cinema engages with sacrifice in its many forms and under different guises and examine how the filmic constructions reconstructions and misconstructions of sacrifice affect society including its sacrificial practices This book was originally published as a special issue of Angelaki journal of the theoretical humanities
