Republic Of China Marching Toward The 21st Century:

The Republic of China Marching Toward the 21st Century ,1991 Marching Toward the 21st Century Taiwan,1989
 1997 China's Communication of the Belt and Road Initiative Carolijn van Noort,2021-08-19
 This book examines how China's international political communication of the Belt and Road Initiative comprises narratives about infrastructure and the Silk Road. By carefully selecting infrastructure modalities and Silk Road representations, it is argued that China's aesthetic production of the Belt and Road Initiative advances China's image as an infrastructure and standards setting power, conjures up a historical continuation of friendly and cooperative relations, and forges China's identity as a good neighbor, good friend, and good partner. Using a multiple case study approach, this book analyses China's communication of the Second Belt and Road Forum, the Alternative North-South Road in Kyrgyzstan, the Standard Gauge Railway in Kenya, and the China-Maldives Friendship Bridge. Detailed literary analyses of the Travels of Marco Polo and the Travels of Ibn Battuta further elucidate China's selective uses of history. Chapters highlight spatial, temporal, political, economic, technological, and perceptual modalities in infrastructure narratives and reveal the composition of Silk Road narratives contributing to key debates about Chinese discourse, media strategy, and infrastructure communication. China's Communication of the Belt and Road Initiative will appeal to students and scholars of politics, international relations, communication, and Asian studies globally. China's Economic Development, 1950-2014 Chu-yuan Cheng,2014-09-26
 China's Economic Development 1950-2014: Fundamental Changes and Long-Term Prospects is a comprehensive and up-to-date analysis of Chinese economic development from 1950-2014, focusing on current world-wide attention to the economic reform. Chu-yuan Cheng covers a wide range of topics, including the cultural effects and ideological influences on China's economic development, the process of China's transition from a planned to a market economy, leadership changes, and the root of the Cultural Revolution, the machine-building industry, and scientific and engineering manpower in China. China's new development plans in the twenty-first century and the process and consequence of the Quiet Revolution, the international economic relations, including the U.S.-China, Sino-Japanese economic relations, and access to WTO economic relations across the Taiwan Strait, and the formation of the Greater China Economic Sphere, and the long-term development prospect of the Chinese economy in the twenty-first century and beyond. A Critical History of New Music in China Jingzhi Liu,2010
 By the end of the nineteenth century, Chinese culture had fallen into a stasis, and intellectuals began to go abroad for new ideas. What emerged was an exciting musical genre that C. C. Liu terms new music. With no direct ties to traditional Chinese music, new music reflects the compositional techniques and musical idioms of eighteenth and nineteenth-century European styles. Liu traces the genesis and development of new music throughout the twentieth century, deftly examining the social and political forces that shaped new music and its uses by political activists and the government. A History of the World from the 20th to the 21st Century John Ashley Soames Grenville,2005

Kennedy,2005 This book a statement of genuine concern on the state of the school curriculum in Hong Kong by a veteran educator forms a comprehensive account of current curriculum development implementation and interpretation Kennedy invites the reader to critically examine how local and global issues influence the way the Hong Kong curriculum has been constructed Against this theoretical background he maintains a clear practical focus on present policies of the educational authority and suggests a new curriculum in various fields This book sheds light on recent pressure for curriculum change and reform in Hong Kong offering fresh insights to those concerned with the state of education in both Hong Kong and cities around the world Urban Mobilizations and New Media in Contemporary China Lisheng Dong,Hanspeter Kriesi,2016-03-09 Popular protests are on the rise in China However since protesters rely on existing channels of participation and on patronage by elite backers the state has been able to stymie attempts to generalize resistance and no large scale political movements have significantly challenged party rule Yet the Chinese state is not monolithic Decentralization has increased the power of local authorities creating space for policy innovations and opening up the political opportunity structure Popular protest in China particularly in urban realm not only benefits from the political fragmentation of the state but also from the political communications revolution The question of how and to what extent the internet can be used for mobilizing popular resistance in China is hotly debated The government virtual social organizations and individual netizens both cooperate and compete with each other on the web New media both increases the scope of the mobilizers and the mobilized thereby creating new social capital and provides the government with new means of social control thereby limiting the political impact of the growing social capital This volume is the first of its kind to assess the ways new media influence the mobilization of popular resistance and its possible effects in China today Edu-renaissance:

Living with the Party Yifan Shi, 2023-02-18 This book explores the subcultures cultural trends and regulations of leisure and subcultures among young people in Beijing from 1949 to the 1980s It complicates our understanding of the successes of the CCP and the nature of those successes more a synergy or synthesis than victory over society or defeat It argues that while the CCP aimed to direct the most private sphere in people's everyday life i.e. leisure it did not achieve this goal by coercive means but by appealing ways through organized leisure activities This book suggests that although elements of youth subcultures can be observed throughout the Mao era we should not treat them as a way of passive resistance Instead we must position these subcultures between different layers of the Party's leisure regulation to examine what the CCP actually achieved Many people who engaged in subcultures defied the blatant politicization of their leisure some might have defied the process of collectivization but few defied the process of institutionalization during which people did not find state intervention contradictory to their own way of pleasure seeking This book also suggests that instead of regarding the Deng Xiaoping era as a breakaway from Maoist interventionist rule we need to see the historical continuity as revealed by the Party's uninterrupted policy of leisure regulation Thought provoking and at times amusing this book will interest sinologists historians and scholars of China's social form Television in Post-Reform China Ying Zhu, 2013-01-11 This book explores the political economic and cultural forces locally and globally that have shaped the evolution of Chinese primetime television dramas and the way that these dramas in turn have actively engaged in the major intellectual and policy debates concerning the path steps and speed of China's economic and political modernization during the post Deng Xiaoping era. It intertwines the evolution of Chinese television drama particularly with the ascendance of the Chinese New Left that favors a recentralization of state authority and an alternative path towards China's modernization and China's current administration's call for building a harmonious society. Two types of serial drama are highlighted in this regard: the politically provocative dynasty drama and the culturally ambiguous domestic drama. The book also provides cross-cultural comparisons that parallel the textual and institutional strategies of transnational Chinese language TV dramas with dramas from the three leading centers of transnational television production: the US, Brazil, and Mexico in Latin America and the Korean-led East Asia region. The comparison reveals creative connections while it also explores how the emergence of a Chinese cultural linguistic market together with other cultural linguistic markets complicates the power dynamics of global cultural flows.

THE CHINESE PATH Xinyuan He, 2023-09-18 Since the Opium War of 1840, China has pioneered a uniquely Chinese Path to modernization, created a new model for human advancement, and expanded the channels for developing countries to achieve modernization. The formation and extension of the Chinese Path shows that modernization need not mean Westernization. By reviewing the marvels that have taken place in the evolution of the Path, the book reveals the inevitability of the formation of the Chinese Path, highlights its uniqueness, advantages, and dynamics, and its relevance for humanity's search for alternative ways to successfully modernize. It provides both a diachronic account of the intrinsic vitality and a synchronic interpretation of the superiority of the Chinese Path despite the so many twists and turns China has gone through. The message it delivers is loud and clear: the Chinese Path, which is completely different from the Western path to modernization, is a sure path to realizing the rejuvenation and modernization of the Chinese nation and offers a Chinese approach to solving problems facing humankind.

Japan's Sea Lane Security Euan Graham, 2005-11-16 This is the first major English language study to explore the broad and longstanding connections between Japan's national security and the safety of its sea lanes. Tracing issues from pre and post 1945 eras, the book explores how Japan's concerns with sea lane protection have developed across such diverse fields as military strategy, diplomacy, trade policy, energy security, and law enforcement. Drawing upon case study material and primary research, including interviews with officials and security analysts, the book presents a chronological analysis of Japan's sea lane security. While Japan's security policies have recently undergone relatively rapid change, a historical treatment of sea lane security issues reveals long-term continuity in security policymakers' perceptions and responses regarding Japan's defence and foreign policy. Revealing a neglected but important aspect of Japan's military and economic security, the book investigates why officials and analysts continue to portray the defence of Japan's sea lanes as a matter of life and death

The Palgrave Handbook of Diplomatic Thought and Practice in the Digital Age Francis Onditi, Katharina McLarren, Gilad Ben-Nun, Yannis A. Stivachtis, Pontian Okoth, 2023-08-01 This handbook integrates a range of conceptual and empirical approaches to diplomacy in the context of ongoing technological and societal change. Technological and societal disruptions affect modern diplomacy, altering its character and reforming its way. In light of such changes, this book offers both historical foundations and contemporary perspectives in the field. By doing so, it demonstrates how contemporary change impacts the work of diplomats representing sovereign states. Global diplomatic services will forever be affected by the digitalization of engagement between states during and after the COVID-19 pandemic. In this rapidly changing culture with burgeoning geopolitical and geostrategic realignment among global powers, the tools of diplomacy have changed. The state's foreign policy astuteness and responses to these changes could have long-term impacts. All this culminates in opportunities for improving the management of diplomatic services and efficiency of the Ministries of Foreign Affairs (MoFA) of various states. This book provides useful insights into how modern diplomacy works, especially the integration of informalities into formal diplomatic practices in complex peace and security environments within such a framework of change. Chinese

International Students and Citizenship Xiudi Zhang, 2020-02-22 This book investigates how Chinese international students reconfigure their sense of themselves as citizens when they reflect on what Chinese citizenship means in the context of New Zealand. Adopting a case study approach, it develops a theory relating to the thoughts of Chinese international students. The theory is based on the communities, schools, family, and state relationships of both their past and their contemporary daily experiences. It finds that the struggles of Chinese young people lie in between being individuals and submitting to the general will of the family, state, and guanxi, a Chinese concept of interpersonal relationships. The book argues that the Western literature on citizenship is not sufficient in helping us understand how it is viewed in the Chinese contexts. It offers readers a picture of what citizenship means for Chinese young people and the role of citizenship education in Modern Chinese society and demonstrates that the Chinese young people studied re-educated themselves on citizenship in a way that is unstable and emotional. This book makes important contributions to the literature on Chinese students who are studying abroad by going beyond the well-researched topics of academic and social experience to explore deeper understandings of each individual student's relationship to family and the state in China and how the study abroad experience has developed new understandings of individual's relationships to China and new possibilities for contributing to Chinese society on return. 王丹丹 著, 1990
