homosexuality in British fiction about the Second World War is noticeable only by its relative absence from the field Whereas feminist literary criticism has broadened the canon of war fiction to include narratives by and about women queer scholars have seldom focused on literary representations of homosexuality during the war Natalie Marena Nobitz closes a glaring gap in the critical attention of four novels dealing with the disruption of gender roles and institutionalised heteronormativity Walter Baxter's Look Down in Mercy 1951 Mary Renault's The Charioteer 1953 Sarah Waters' The Night Watch 2006 and Adam Fitzroy's Make Do and Mend 2012 Sarah Waters Kaye Mitchell, 2013-09-12 Leading scholars explore the work of Sarah Waters from a full range of critical perspectives Includes a new interview with the author Quiet Neighbours Catriona McPherson, 2020-09-01 A woman on the run uncovers a series of deadly secrets in this gripping twisty standalone psychological thriller from award winning master storyteller Catriona McPherson Lowland Glen is the oldest bookshop in a quiet Scottish town full of bookshops rambling and disordered full of hidden treasures Londoner Jude fell in love with it when she visited last summer the high point of a miserable holiday Now in the depths of winter it seems a strange place to run away to but Jude's tired and heartsick and when the bookstore's charming but eccentric owner Lowell welcomes her with open arms she knows she's made the right decision Lowell needs an assistant and the job comes with accommodation too The isolated gravedigger's cottage isn't perfect for a woman alone but it's a good place to hide from her troubles and at least she has quiet neighbors Quiet but not silent The long dead and the books they left behind have tales to tell and the dusty bookshop is not the haven it seems Lowell's past and Jude's present are a dangerous cocktail of secrets and lies and someone is coming to light the taper that could burn everything down around them Prosthetic Agency Gill Plain, 2023-07-13 Prosthetic Agency Literature Culture and Masculinity after World War II examines the social and psychic upheaval of demobilisation It maps the rapid transition from wartime regimentation to individual responsibility from intense homosociality to heteronormative expectations from normativity to disability and from uniformed masculinity to domestic citizenship This book considers some of the many ways in which popular culture of the time sought to mediate these difficult transitions exploring films popular fiction memoir and biography In particular the book explores how technology was imagined as a new space of masculine becoming and how disability was written represented and assimilated Through a focus on popular narrative this book explores the modes of masculinity promoted as ideally suited to national reconstruction and tries to make sense of a culture of rehabilitation that could not name or know itself as such From Journey's End to The Dam Busters Roland Wales, 2016-09-30 Kingston playwright R C Sherriff came to fame with his First World War drama Journey's End which was based on his own experiences as a young officer on the Western Front Its success made him a household name and opened the door to a highly lucrative career as a novelist playwright and screenwriter in Hollywood and in Britain Many of his movies The Invisible Man Goodbye Mr Chips The Four Feathers Odd Man Out Quartet and of course The Dam Busters are still well known but the man behind them much less so This book rediscovers Sherriff using his own words his letters diaries published and unpublished manuscripts to shed light on a man who ironically gained his greatest success from the trench warfare he found so difficult to bear British Women's Writing, 1930 to 1960 Sue Kennedy, Jane Thomas, 2020-07-17 This volume contributes to the vibrant ongoing recuperative work on women's writing by shedding new light on a group of authors commonly dismissed as middlebrow in their concerns and conservative in their styles and politics. The neologism interfeminism coined to partner Kristin Bluemel's intermodernism locates this group chronologically and ideologically between two waves of feminism whilst also forging connections between the political and cultural monoliths that have traditionally overshadowed them. Drawing attention to the strengths of this out of category writing in its own right, this volume also highlights how intersecting discourses of gender class and society in the interwar and postwar periods paved the way for the bold reassessments of female subjectivity that characterise second and third wave feminism. The essays showcase the stylistic cultural and political vitality of a substantial group of women authors of fiction non-fiction drama poetry and journalism including Vera Brittain Storm Jameson Nancy Mitford Phyllis Shand Allfrey Rumer Godden Attia Hosain Doris Lessing Kamala Markandaya Susan Ertz Marghanita Laski Elizabeth Bowen Edith Pargeter Eileen Bigland Nancy Spain Vera Laughton Matthews Pamela Hansford Johnson Dorothy Whipple Elizabeth Taylor Daphne du Maurier Barbara Comyns Shelagh Delaney Stevie Smith and Penelope Mortimer. Additional exploration of the popular magazines Woman's Weekly and Good Housekeeping and new material from the Vera Brittain archive add an innovative dimension to original readings of the literature of a transformative period of British social and cultural history. Shute: The engineer who became a prince of storytellers Richard Thorn, 2017-08-08 Nevil Shute was a writer whose books were frequently looked down on by literary critics and yet when he died in 1960 he was one of the best selling novelists of his day Today books such as A Town Like Alice and On the Beach continue to attract new generations of fans However there was more to Shute than his books a great deal more Richard Thorn explores Shute's personal and professional life drawing from extensive research carried out using archives and sources in the UK USA and Australia Nevil Shute Norway began his professional life as an aeronautical engineer working on the outskirts of London for the newly established de Havilland Aircraft Company He quickly went on to play a key role in Britain's ill fated and final airship programme before co founding an aircraft manufacturing company at the height of an economic depression All the while using the pseudonym Nevil Shute he spent his time writing for relaxation in the evenings After the Second World War he flew a single engined aeroplane to Australia and back in search for new material for his novels Fascinated by the new world that he had seen the novelist sold up and moved his family to Australia buying a farm in a small town on the outskirts of Melbourne For the remainder of his life Australia was his home and the inspiration for many of his best loved novels Shute tells the story of the life and times of an extraordinary man who made a significant contribution to twentieth century popular literature This book will appeal to fans of Shute's work those interested in his background and personal life or to readers interested in the early years of the aviation industry in Britain

The Birds That Wouldn't Sing Justin Smith, 2024-12-19 This compelling book offers a unique perspective on D Day and its aftermath through the personal testimonies of the Wrens who worked for Admiral Sir Bertram Ramsay during Operation Overlord Drawing on public and private archives it reveals the untold stories of the women serving in the Women's Royal Naval Service WRNS balancing their wartime contributions with the strictures of secrecy and censorship The narrative is framed by letters from these Wrens which provide intimate glimpses into both the personal and professional challenges they faced during World War II The book captures the atmosphere of war as experienced by British auxiliaries It highlights the Wrens vital but often overlooked role in the D Day planning effort and beyond revealing the surreal coexistence of the ordinary and extraordinary in wartime Focusing in particular on the wartime archive of one of the Wrens Joan Prior the author brings to life the contribution of these women to the war effort while also offering insights into British French and German morale and culture This thoughtful and moving account adds depth to the broader historical narrative of World War II making it a valuable addition for both the general reader and the professional historian
