The American

Education Policy Landscape Jennifer A. Rippner, 2015-10-16 In today's complex educational environment it's critical for educators to understand the policy landscape. Research based and grounded in a non-ideological perspective, The American Education Policy Landscape is an essential guide for educators, graduate students, and policymakers alike. This accessible resource unpacks complex concepts and provides a comprehensive overview of early childhood, K-12, and higher education policy issues, including governance structures at the local, state, and national levels; the process of policymaking; issues of educational finance; and the impact of stakeholders. The American Education Policy Landscape provides aspiring and practicing educators, analysts, researchers, and policymakers with the foundational knowledge and context for understanding education policy, enabling them to make effective decisions, provide informed advice, and craft critical research questions on education.

Systemic Racism Joe R. Feagin, 2006 In this book, Feagin develops a theory of systemic racism to interpret the highly racialized character and development of this society. Exploring the distinctive social worlds that have been created by racial oppression over nearly four centuries and what this has meant for the people of the United States, focusing his analysis on white on black oppression. Drawing on the commentaries of black and white Americans in three historical eras: the slavery era, the legal segregation era, and then those of white Americans, Feagin examines how major institutions have been thoroughly pervaded by racial stereotypes, ideas, images, emotions, and practices. He theorizes that this system of racial oppression was not an accident of history but was created intentionally by white Americans. While significant changes have occurred in this racist system over the centuries, key and fundamental elements have been reproduced over nearly four centuries, and US institutions today imbed the racialized hierarchy created in the 17th century. Today, as in the past, racial oppression is not just a surface-level feature of society but rather it pervades, permeates, and interconnects all major social groups, networks, and institutions across society.

Managing Natural Resources for Development in Africa Washington Odongo Ochoa, P. C. Sanginga, Isaac Bekalo, 2010 The complex and dynamic interlinks between natural resource management (NRM) and development have long been recognized by national and international research and development organizations and have generated voluminous literature. However, much of what is available in the form of university course books, practical learning manuals, and reference materials in NRM is based on experiences from outside Africa. Managing Natural Resources for Development in Africa: A Resource Book provides an understanding of the various levels at which NRM issues occur and are being addressed scientifically.

economically socially and politically The book s nine chapters present state of the art perspectives within a holistic African context The book systematically navigates the tricky landscape of integrated NRM with special reference to Eastern and Southern Africa against the backdrop of prevailing local national regional and global social economic and environmental challenges The authors wide experience the rich references made to emerging challenges and opportunities and the presentation of different tools principles approaches case studies and processes make the book a rich and valuable one stop resource for postgraduate students researchers policymakers and NRM practitioners The book is designed to help the reader grasp in depth NRM perspectives and presents innovative guidance for research design and problem solving including review questions learning activities and recommended further reading The book was developed through a writeshop process by a multi disciplinary team of lecturers from the University of Nairobi Egerton University Kenyatta University the University of Zimbabwe the University of Malawi Makerere University and the University of Dar es Salam In addition selected NRM experts from regional and international research organizations including the World Agroforestry Center ICRAF the Africa Forest Forum RUFORUM IIRR and the International Development Research Centre IDRC participated in the writeshop and contributed material to the book

From Loose to Tight Management Elke Weyer,2017-10-10 Elke Weyer sheds light on the question why after more than three decades of higher education reforms in some countries it is still not clear whether the reforms have achieved their stated goals i e to create autonomous universities that meet political expectations By back casting real life decision making processes the author reconstructs how different types of actors influenced the academic governance of higher education institutions in the context of these reforms This approach highlights how numerous changes in governance and organisation affect the relationships between actors and how they promote their interests DCEG
