J. Pearsall, 2008-01-29 In the wake of the death of his friend Arthur Henry Hallam the subject of In Memoriam Alfred Tennyson wrote a range of intricately connected poems many of which feature pivotal scenes of rapture or being carried away This book explores Tennyson's representation of rapture as a radical mechanism of transformation theological social political or personal and as a figure for critical processes in his own poetics The poet's fascination with transformation is figured formally in the genre he is credited with inventing the dramatic monologue Tennyson's Rapture investigates the poet's previously unrecognized intimacy with the theological movements in early Victorian Britain that are the acknowledged roots of contemporary Pentecostalism with its belief in the oncoming Rapture and its formative relation to his poetic innovation Tennyson's work recurs persistently as well to classical instances of rapture of mortals being borne away by immortals Pearsall develops original readings of Tennyson's major classical poems through concentrated attention to his profound intellectual investments in advances in philological scholarship and archeological exploration including pressing Victorian debates over whether Homer's raptured Troy was a verifiable site or the province of the poet's imagination Tennyson's attraction to processes of personal and social change is bound to his significant but generally overlooked Whig ideological commitments which are illuminated by Hallam's political and philosophical writings and a half century of interaction with William Gladstone Pearsall shows the comprehensive engagement of seemingly apolitical monologues with the rise of democracy over the course of Tennyson's long career Offering a new approach to reading all Victorian dramatic monologues this book argues against a critical tradition that sees speakers as unintentionally self-revealing and ignorant of the implications of their speech Tennyson's Rapture probes the complex aims of these discursive performances and shows how the ambitions of speakers for vital transformations in themselves and their circumstances are not only articulated in but attained through the medium of their monologues Homer's Iliad and the Trojan War Jan Haywood, Naoise Mac Sweeney, 2018-03-22 In this new volume Jan Haywood and Naoise Mac Sweeney investigate the position of Homer's Iliad within the wider Trojan War tradition through a series of detailed case studies. From ancient Mesopotamia to twenty-first century America, these examples are drawn from a range of historical and cultural contexts and from Athenian pot paintings to twelfth-century German scholarship, they engage with a range of different media and genres. Inspired by the dialogues inherent in the process of reception, the book adopts a dialogic structure. In each chapter, paired essays by Haywood and Mac Sweeney offer contrasting authorial voices addressing a single theme, thereby drawing out connections and dissonances between a diverse suite of classical and post-classical Iliadic receptions. The resulting book offers new insights both into individual instances of Iliadic reception in particular historical contexts but also into the workings of a complex story tradition. The centrality of the Iliad within the wider Trojan War tradition is shown to be a function of conscious engagement not only with Iliadic content but also with Iliadic status and the iconic idea of the Homeric.

Museums, Modernity and Conflict Kate Hill, 2020-11-26 Museums, Modernity and Conflict examines the history of the relationship between museums, collections and war, revealing how museums have responded to and been shaped by war and conflicts of various sorts. Written by a mixture of museum professionals and academics and ranging across Europe, North America and the Middle East, this book examines the many ways in which museums were affected by major conflicts such as the World Wars, considers how and why they attempted to contribute to the war effort, analyses how wartime collecting shaped the nature of the objects held by a variety of museums and demonstrates how museums of war and of the military came into existence during this period. Closely focused around conflicts which had the most wide-ranging impact on museums, this collection includes reflections on museums such as the Louvre, the Stedelijk in the Netherlands, the Canadian War Museum and the State Art Collections, Dresden. Museums, Modernity and Conflict will be of interest to academics and students worldwide, particularly those engaged in the study of museums, war and history. Showing how the past continues to shape contemporary museum work in a variety of different and sometimes unexpected ways, the book will also be of interest to museum practitioners.

Breaking Ground Getzel M. Cohen, Martha Sharp Joukowsky, 2004 Biographies of twelve often overlooked women archaeologists. Gellhorn Caroline Moorehead, 2007-04-01 The first major biography of legendary war correspondent Martha Gellhorn, whose life provides a unique and thrilling perspective on world history in an extraordinary time. Martha Gellhorn's heroic career as a reporter brought her to the front lines of virtually every significant international conflict between the Spanish Civil War and the end of the Cold War. The preeminent and often the only female correspondent on the scene, she broke new ground for women in the male preserve of journalism. Her wartime dispatches, marked by a passionate desire to expose suffering in its many guises and an inimitable immediacy, rank among the best of the twentieth century. A deep-seated love of travel complemented this interest in world affairs From her birth in St Louis in 1908 to her death in London in 1998 Gellhorn passed through Africa Cuba China and most of the great cities of Europe recording her experiences in first rate travel writing and fiction A tall glamorous blonde she made friends easily among the boldface names that populated her life were Eleanor Roosevelt Leonard Bernstein and H G Wells but she was as incapable of settling into comfortable long term relationships as she was of sitting still and happiness often eluded her despite her professional success Both of her marriages ended badly the first to Ernest Hemingway publicly so Drawn from extensive interviews and with exclusive access to Gellhorn s papers and correspondence this seminal biography spans half the globe and almost an entire century to offer an exhilarating intimate portrait of one of the defining women of our times

Human Cargo Caroline Moorehead, 2024-09-04 An arresting portrait of the lives of today's refugees and a searching look into their future The word refugee is more often used to invoke a problem than it is to describe a population of millions of people forced to abandon their homes possessions and families in order to find a place where they may quite literally be allowed to live In spite of the fact that refugees surround us the latest UN estimates suggest that 20 million of the world's 6.3 billion people are refugees few can grasp the scale of their presence or the implications of their growing numbers Caroline Moorehead has traveled for nearly two years and across four continents to bring us their unforgettable stories In prose that is at once affecting and informative we are introduced to the men women and children she meets as she travels to Cairo Guinea Sicily the U.S. Mexico border Lebanon England Australia and Finland She explains how she came to work and for a time live among refugees and why she could not escape the pressing need to understand and describe the chain of often terrifying events that mark their lives Human Cargo is a work of deep and subtle sympathy that completely alters our understanding of what it means to have and lose a place in the world
