The Journal of Education ,1923 Trail Guide to U.S. Geography Cindy Wiggers,2007-08 Melville, Mapping and Globalization Robert T. Tally Jr.,2011-10-27 In Melville Mapping and Globalization Robert Tally argues that Melville does not belong in the tradition of the American Renaissance but rather creates a baroque literary cartography artistically engaging with spaces beyond the national model At a time of intense national consolidation and cultural centralization Melville discovered the postnational forces of an emerging world system a system that has become our own in the era of globalization Drawing on the work of a range of literary and social critics including Deleuze Foucault Jameson and Moretti Tally argues that Melville s distinct literary form enabled his critique of the dominant national narrative of his own time and proleptically undermined the national literary tradition of American Studies a century later Melville s hypercanonical status in the United States makes his work all the more crucial for understanding the role of literature in a post American epoch Offering bold new interpretations and theoretical juxtapositions Tally presents a postnational Melville well suited to establishing new approaches to American and world literature in the twenty first century Bulletin of the American Geographical Society American Geographical Society of New York,1914 Topophrenia Robert T. Tally,2018-11-09 What is our place in the world and how do we inhabit understand and represent this place to others Topophrenia gathers essays by Robert Tally that explore the relationship between space place and mapping on the one hand and literary criticism history and theory on the other The book provides an introduction to spatial literary studies exploring in detail the theory and practice of geocriticism literary cartography and the spatial humanities more generally The spatial anxiety of disorientation and the need to know one's location even if only subconsciously is a deeply felt and shared human experience Building on Yi Fu Tuan's topophilia or love of place Tally instead considers the notion of topophobia as a simultaneous sense of place consciousness coupled with a feeling of disorder anxiety and dis ease He argues that no effective geography could be complete without also incorporating an awareness of the lonely loathsome or frightening spaces that condition our understanding of that space Tally considers the tension between the objective ordering of a space and the subjective ways in which narrative worlds are constructed Narrative maps present a way of understanding that seems realistic but is completely figurative So how can these maps be used to not only understand the real world but also to put up an alternative vision of what that world might otherwise be From Tolkien to Cervantes Borges to More Topophobia provides a clear and compelling explanation of how geocriticism the spatial humanities and literary cartography help us to narrate represent and understand our place in a constantly changing world
