Reason To Believe Romanticism Pragmatism And The Possibility Of Teaching:

Reason to Believe Hephzibah Roskelly, Kate Ronald, 1998-07-10 Reason to Believe is about teaching and the possibility of making positive change in education The authors explore the way that American pragmatism and the rhetoric of North American romanticism work together to create a method for restoring hope to teachers and responsiveness to the systems they work within What the book calls romantic pragmatic rhetoric offers teachers a way to locate the roots of their beliefs and methods to name them and thus to act to change and challenge systems that have become in William James phrase tyrannical machines

Reason to Believe Hephzibah Roskelly, Kate Ronald, 1998-01-01 Explores current theories of teaching and demonstrates that English studies can benefit from the work of nineteenth century American romanticism and pragmatism both of which affirm the possibility of growth and development The book argues eloquently for the importance of hope and relies extensively for its theoretical underpinnings on the influential writings of Cornel West and Paulo Freire writing and the histories and character of the marketplace prizes awards and literary events With its unprecedented breadth of coverage A Companion to Creative Writing is an indispensable resource for those who are undertaking creative writing studying creative writing at any level or considering studying creative writing Education as Civic Engagement G. Olson, L. Worsham, 2012-08-16 A collection of the finest works of scholarship examining education mostly higher education as civic engagement published over the last decade in JAC an award winning journal of rhetoric politics and culture Beyond Conversation William Duffy, 2021-01-04 Collaboration was an important area of study in writing for many years but interest faded as scholars began to assume that those working within writing studies already got it In Beyond Conversation William Duffy revives the topic and connects it to the growing interest in collaboration within digital and materialist rhetoric to demonstrate that not only do the theory pedagogy and practice of collaboration need more study but there is also much to be learned from the doing of collaboration While interrogating the institutional politics that circulate around debates about collaboration this book offers a concise history of collaborative writing theory while proposing a new set of commonplaces for understanding the labor of coauthorship Specifically Beyond Conversation outlines an interactionist theory that explains collaboration as the rhetorical capacity that manifests in the discursive engagements coauthors enter into with the objects of their writing Drawing on new materialist philosophies post qualitative inquiry and interactionist rhetorical theory Beyond Conversation challenges writing and literacy educators to recognize the pedagogical benefits of collaborative writing in the work they do both as writers and as teachers of writing The book will reinvigorate how teachers scholars and administrators advocate for the importance of collaborative writing in their work The Best of the Independent Rhetoric and Composition Journals 2010 Steve Parks, Linda Adler-Kassner, 2011-03-26 THE BEST OF THE INDEPENDENT RHETORIC AND COMPOSITION JOURNALS 2010 represents the result of a nationwide conversation beginning with journal editors but expanding to teachers scholars and workers across the discipline of Rhetoric and Composition to select essays that showcase the innovative and transformative work now being published in the field s independent journals Representing both print and digital journals in the field the essays featured here explore issues ranging from classroom practice to writing in global and digital contexts from writing workshops to community activism Together the essays provide readers with a rich understanding of the present and future direction of the field Feminist Rhetorical Resilience Elizabeth A Flynn, Patricia Sotirin, Ann Brady, 2012-06-16 Although it is well known in other fields the concept of resilience has not been addressed explicitly by feminist rhetoricians This collection develops it in readings of rhetorical situations across a range of social contexts and national cultures Contributors demonstrate that resilience offers an important new conceptual frame for feminist rhetoric with emphasis on agency change and hope in the daily lives of individuals or groups of individuals disempowered by social or material forces Collectively these chapters create a robust conception of resilience as a complex rhetorical process redeeming it from its popular association with individual heroism through an important focus on relationality community and an ethics of connection Resilience in this volume is a specifically rhetorical response to complicated forces in individual lives Through it Feminist Rhetorical Resilience widens the interpretive space within which rhetoricians can work Introduction to Scholarship in Modern Languages and Literatures David G. Nicholls, 2015-01-01 The third edition of the MLA's widely used Introduction to Scholarship in Modern Languages and Literatures features sixteen new essays by leading scholars Designed to highlight relations among languages and forms of discourse the volume is organized into three sections Understanding Language provides an overview of the field of linguistics with special attention to language acquisition and the social life of languages Forming Texts offers tools for understanding how speakers and writers shape language it examines scholarship in the distinct but interrelated fields of rhetoric composition and poetics Reading Literature and Culture continues the work of the first two sections by introducing major areas of critical study The nine essays in this section cover textual and historical scholarship interpretation comparative cultural and translation studies and the interdisciplinary topics of gender sexuality race and migrations among others As in previous volumes an epilogue examines the role of the scholar in contemporary society Each essay discusses the significance underlying assumptions and limits of an important field of inquiry traces the historical development of its subject introduces key terms outlines modes of research now being pursued postulates future developments and provides a list of suggestions for further reading This book will interest any member of the academic community seeking a review of recent scholarship while it provides an indispensable resource for undergraduate and graduate students of modern languages and literatures National Healing Claude Hurlbert, 2013-02-01 In National Healing author Claude Hurlbert persuasively relates nationalism to institutional racism and contends that these are both symptoms of a national ill health afflicting American higher education and found even in the field of writing studies Teachers and scholars even in progressive fields like composition are unwittingly at odds with their own most liberatory purposes he says and he advocates consciously broadening our understanding of rhetoric and writing instruction to include rhetorical traditions of non Western cultures Threading a personal narrative of his own experiences as a student professor and citizen through a wide ranging discussion of theory pedagogy and philosophy in the writing classroom Hurlbert weaves a vision that moves beyond simple polemic and simplistic multiculturalism National Healing offers a compelling new aesthetic epistemological and rhetorical configuration Postcomposition Sidney I Dobrin, 2011-06-02 Leading a burgeoning self critical moment in composition studies and writing program administration Postcomposition is a fundamental reconsideration of the field that attempts to shift the focus away from pedagogy and writing subjects and toward writing itself In this forceful and reasoned critique of many of the primary tenets and widely accepted institutional structures of composition studies Sidney I Dobrin delivers a series of shocks to the system meant to disrupt the pedagogical imperative and move beyond the existing limits of the discipline Dobrin evaluates the current state of composition studies underscoring the difference between composition and writing and arguing that the field's focus on the administration of writing students and its historically imposed prohibition on theory greatly limit what can be understood about writing. Instead, he envisions a more significant approach to writing, one that questions the field's conservative allegiance to subject and administration and reconsiders writing as spatial and ecological. Using concepts from ecocomposition, spatial theory, network theory, complexity theory, and systems theory, Postcomposition lays the groundwork for a networked theory of writing and advocates the abandonment of administration as a useful part of the field. He also challenges the usefulness of rhetoric in writing studies, showing how writing exceeds rhetoric. Postcomposition is a detailed consideration of how posthumanism affects the field's understanding of subjectivity. It also tears at the seams of the contingent labor problem. As he articulates his own frustrations with the conservatism of composition studies and builds on previous critiques of the discipline, Dobrin stages a courageous and inevitably polemical intellectual challenge to the entrenched ideas and assumptions that have defined composition studies.

Women and Literacy Beth Daniell, Peter Mortensen, 2020-08-17 Path-breaking research on women and literacy in the past decade established conventions and advanced innovative methods that push the making of knowledge into new spheres of inquiry. Taking these accomplishments as a point of departure, this volume emphasizes the diversity of approaches and subjects that characterizes the next generation of research on women and literacy. It builds on and critiques scholarship in literacy studies, composition studies, rhetorical theory, gender studies, postcolonial theory, and cultural studies to open new venues for future research. Contributors discuss what literacy is, more precisely, what literacies are, but their strongest interest is in documenting and theorizing women's lived experience of these literacies, with particular attention to the diversity of women's literacies within the U.S., including but not limited to the varying relations that exist among women, literacy, economic position, class, race, sexuality, and education, relations among women, literacy, and economic contexts in the U.S. and abroad, including but not limited to changes in women's private and domestic literacies, the evolution of technologies of literacy, and women's experience of the commodification of literacies and emergent roles of women and literacy in a globally interdependent world. This broad, significant work is a must read for researchers and graduate students across the fields of literacy studies, composition studies, rhetorical theory, and gender studies.

GenAdmin Colin Charlton, Jonikka Charlton, 2011-09-26 GenAdmin: Theorizing WPA Identities in the Twenty-First Century examines identity formation in a generation of rhetoric and composition professionals who have undergone explicit preparation in scholarly dimensions of writing program administration. The authors argue for GenAdmin both as an intellectual identity and as a contingent philosophy of writing program work. GenAdmin alternates between traditional chapters and accompanying Interludes, each of which offers extended illuminations of the single conflict or theoretical question integral to the preceding chapter.

The SAGE Handbook of Rhetorical Studies Andrea A. Lunsford, Kirt H. Wilson, Rosa A. Eberly, 2008-10-29 The SAGE Handbook of Rhetorical Studies surveys the latest advances in rhetorical scholarship, synthesizing theories and practices across major areas of study in the field and pointing the way for future studies Edited by Andrea A Lunsford and Associate Editors Kirt H Wilson and Rosa A Eberly the Handbook aims to introduce a new generation of students to rhetorical study and provide a deeply informed and ready resource for scholars currently working in the field The Activist WPA Linda Adler-Kassner,2008-04-10 One wonders if there is any academic field that doesn't suffer from the way it is portrayed by the media by politicians by pundits and other publics How well scholars in a discipline articulate their own definition can influence not only issues of image but the very success of the discipline in serving students and its other constituencies The Activist WPA is an effort to address this range of issues for the field of English composition in the age of the Spellings Commission and the No Child Left Behind Act Drawing on recent developments in framing theory and the resurgent traditions of progressive organizers Linda Adler Kassner calls upon composition teachers and administrators to develop strategic programs of collective action that do justice to composition's best principles Adler Kassner argues that the story of college composition can be changed only when writing scholars bring the wonders down to articulate a theory framework that is pragmatic and intelligible to those outside the field and then create messages that reference that framework In The Activist WPA she makes a case for developing a more integrated vision of outreach English education and writing program administration Remembering Women Differently Lynée Lewis Gaillet,Helen Gaillet Bailey,2019-05-23 An examination of women's work rhetorical agency and the construction of female reputation Before the full and honest tale of humanity can be told it will be necessary to uncover the hidden roles of women in it and recover their voices from the forces that have diminished their contributions or even at times deliberately eclipsed them The past half century has seen women rise to claim their equal portion of recognition and Remembering Women Differently addresses not only some of those neglected it examines why they were deliberately erased from history The contributors in this collection study the contributions of fourteen nearly forgotten women from around the globe working in fields that range from art to philosophy from teaching to social welfare from science to the military and how and why those individuals became either marginalized or discounted in a mostly patriarchal world These sterling contributors scholars from a variety of disciplines rhetoricians historians compositionists and literary critics employ feminist research methods in examining women's work rhetorical agency and the construction of female reputation By recovering these voices and remembering the women whose contributions have made our civilization better and more whole this work seeks to ensure that women's voices are never silenced again
