Can NGOs Make a Difference? Anthony J. Bebbington, Samuel Hickey, Diana C. Mitlin, 2013-04-04 Can non-governmental organisations contribute to more socially just alternative forms of development? Or are they destined to work at the margins of dominant development models determined by others? Addressing this question, this book brings together leading international voices from academia, NGOs and the social movements. It provides a comprehensive update to the NGO literature and a range of critical new directions to thinking and acting around the challenge of development alternatives. The book's originality comes from the wide range of new case study material it presents, the conceptual approaches it offers for thinking about development alternatives and the practical suggestions for NGOs. At the heart of this book is the argument that NGOs can and must re-engage with the project of seeking alternative development futures for the world's poorest and more marginal. This will require clearer analysis of the contemporary problems of uneven development and a clear understanding of the types of alliances NGOs need to construct with other actors in civil society if they are to mount a credible challenge to disempowering processes of economic, social and political development.

Sustainable Capitalism and the Pursuit of Well-Being Neil E. Harrison,2013-12-17 Sustainable development is the central challenge of the 21st Century How can human civilization continue to develop without destroying the natural systems on which it depends Environmentalists tell us that capitalism is the problem because it feeds our self interest They tell us that we have to restrain ourselves and only consume what the Earth can sustain Or governments must tell us what we can and cannot buy This book uses the science of complex systems to explain why governments cannot deliver sustainability or happiness and how self interest can be used to make society sustainable Capitalism won the Cold War until the Great Recession of 2008 it seemed to be the perfect system But more of us are unhappy even as it has ravaged the planet The central problem is the paradigm on which our social systems are founded that more consumption production possessions is always better Based on research from political economy philosophy and psychology this book shows that the problem is not self interest We are unhappy because we have been taught that our interests are material and that buying stuff will make us happy Yet social pressure to consume only prevents us from satisfying our basic psychological needs and fully enjoying life For that we need to pursue our personal well being Because this also reduces our material consumption environmental sustainability comes from each of us knowing what s truly good for our selves Even without the constant economic growth that harms the planet and damages our lives capitalism also is sustainable This book will be of interest to scholars and students of sustainability civil society activists and social entrepreneurs thought leaders and policymakers All My Bones Shake Robert Jensen, 2010-09 Robert Jensen a life long activist fighting for women s rights racial equality and global justice reveals with this book the emotional journey that brought him back to the church after an entire adulthood of religious indifference Our world is The Social Effects of Global Trade Joy Murray, Arunima Malik, Arne Geschke, 2017-11-02 The inclusion of qualitative social data into global environmental and economic input output IO models remained illusive for many years It was not until around 2013 that researchers found ways to include data for example on poverty inequality and worker safety into IO models capable of tracing global supply chains The sustainable development goals have now propelled this work onto the world stage with some urgency They have shone a spotlight onto social conditions around the world and brought global trade into the frame for its ability to influence social conditions for good or ill This book provides a compilation of groundbreaking work on social indicators from the most prominent IO research groups from a wide range of academic backgrounds and from around the world In addition it frames this work in the real world of politics human rights and business bringing together a multidisciplinary team to demonstrate the power of IO to illuminate some of the world s most pressing problems Edited by well known researchers in the area Joy Murray Arunima Malik and Arne Geschke the book is designed to appeal to a broad academic and business audience While many chapters include technical details and references for follow up reading it is possible to omit those sections and yet gain a deep appreciation of the power of IO to address seemingly intractable problems Giving to Help, Helping to Give Tade Akin Aina, 2013-08-01 The past decade has seen a flowering of philanthropic activities across many parts of Africa Unlike before this flowering has the distinct character of African agency energy and engagement Philanthropy is no longer about narratives of passive poor and miserable Africans receiving help from rich fortunate and often Western outsiders The emerging narratives about philanthropy in Africa are about an increasingly confident and knowledgeable assertion of African capacities to give not only to help but also to transform and seek to address the root causes of injustice want ignorance and disease The narratives are also about the increasing questioning of the role and place of Africans in the world s philanthropic traditions and what constitutes African specificities but also African differences and varieties This book is about African philanthropic experiences their varieties challenges and opportunities It is about documenting investigating describing questioning and reflecting on philanthropy in Africa Because Africa is not a monolithic entity with one single history cultural political and economic experience this ground breaking book rightly tackles the varied modes forms vehicles and means in which the philanthropic experiences are expressed in Africa It is a pioneering and ambitious effort in a field and community of practice that is new both in terms of scholarship and in professional practice Many of the chapters boldly engage the burden of reflections questions ambivalences and ambiguities that one often finds in an emerging field innovatively positing the outlines concepts frameworks and theories of scholarship and practice for a field critical to development on the continent
