Involving women and youth in responsible investment in agriculture and food systems in Ghana Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2021-10-27 Women and youth led agribusinesses WYE which may also be operating as family businesses in agricultural value chains have been identified as catalysts for rural transformation given their potential for creating employment and stimulating value addition both on and off farm Given that agriculture and food systems are likely to remain the key generators of employment in Ghana over the coming decades and that 80% of all activities in the midstream of food value chain are undertaken by SMEs in Africa It is very much necessary to generate the evidence to support the argument that family women and youth led agribusinesses have a key role to play in the rural transformation pathway underway in Ghana Raw Material Scarcity and Overproduction in the Food Industry Suresh D. Sharma,Arpan R. Bhagat,Salvatore Parisi,2019-04-09 This book describes the consequences of an increased demand for food for human consumption for the global food industry In four concise chapters the authors explore the trend for the overproduction of food the concomitant diminution of raw materials and the increase in environmental concerns Chapter one describes the variations in biochemical properties of fishmeal depending on the season and geographical location Chapter two discusses how the expansion of cropland and pastures to meet the rising demand for food is damaging the environment while chapter three examines the impact of bee viruses on food crops and production Lastly the fourth chapter addresses the issue of food adulteration and provides specific examples of fraud in the American dairy industry This book is of interest to researchers working in the area of food production in academia and industry as well as certification and scientific bodies involved in food inspection Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis ,1977-07
