Requiem for a Dream Clint Mansell, Kronos Quartet, 2000 Close Reading New Media Jan van Looy, Jan Baetens, 2003 Close Reading New Media is the first publication to apply the method of close analysis to new media Since the early nineteen nineties electronic art and literature have continually gained importance in artistic and academic circles Significant critical and theoretical attention has been paid to how new media allow the text to break traditional power relations and boundaries The passive reader becomes an active participant choosing his own path and assembling not just his own interpretation of the text level of the signified but also his own text level of the signifier Texts no longer have a beginning or an ending being a web of interlinked nodes The decentered nature of electronic text empowers and invites the reader to take part in the literary process Poststructuralist theorists predicted a total liberation of textual restrictions imposed by the medium of print However while these are culturally significant claims little attention has been paid to their realization The goal of this volume is twofold Our aim is to shed light on how ideas and theories have been translated into concrete works and we want to comment on the process of close reading and how it can be applied to electronic literature While all contributions deal with particular works their aim is always to provide insight into how electronic fiction and new media can be read This book proposes close readings of work by Mark Amerika Darren Aronofsky M D Coverley Raymond Federman Shelley Jackson Rick Pryll Geoff Ryman and Stephanie Strickland

Requiem for a Dream Hubert Selby (Jr.), 2003 The Solaris Effect Steven Dillon, 2010-01-01 What do contemporary American movies and directors have to say about the relationship between nature and art How do science fiction films like Steven Spielberg's A.I. and Darren Aronofsky's represent the apparent oppositions between nature and culture wild and tame Steven Dillon's intriguing new volume surveys American cinema from 1990 to 2002 with substantial descriptions of sixty films emphasizing small budget independent American film Directors studied include Steven Soderbergh Darren Aronofsky Todd Haynes Harmony Korine and Gus Van Sant as well as more canonical figures like Martin Scorsese Robert Altman David Lynch and Steven Spielberg The book takes its title and inspiration from Andrei Tarkovsky's 1972 film Solaris a science fiction ghost story that relentlessly explores the relationship between the powers of nature and art The author argues that American film has the best chance of aesthetic success when it acknowledges that a film is actually a film The best American movies tell an endless ghost story as they perform the agonizing nearness and distance of the cinematic image This groundbreaking commentary examines the rarely seen bridge between select American film directors and their typically more adventurous European counterparts Filmmakers such as Lynch and Soderbergh are cross cut together with Tarkovsky and the great French director Jean Luc Godard in order to test the limits and possibilities of American film Both enthusiastically cinephilic and fiercely critical this book puts a decade of U S film in its global place as part of an ongoing conversation on nature and art

Bodies in Pain Tarja Laine,2017-04 The films of Darren Aronofsky invite emotional engagement by means of affective resonance between the film and the spectator s lived body Aronofsky s films which include a rich range of production from Requiem for a Dream to Black Swan are often considered cerebral because they explore topics like mathematics madness hallucinations obsessions social anxiety addiction psychosis schizophrenia and neuroscience Yet this interest in intelligence and mental processes is deeply embedded in the operations of the body shared with the spectator by means of a distinctively corporeal audiovisual style Bodies in Pain looks at how Aronofsky s films engage the spectator in an affective form of viewing that involves all the senses ultimately engendering a process of self reflection through their emotional dynamics

Hollywood Online Ian London,2024-03-07 Hollywood Online provides a historical account of motion picture websites from 1993 to 2008 and their marketing function as industrial advertisements for video and other media in the digital age The Blair Witch Project is the most important example of online film promotion in cinema history Over the last thirty years only a small number of major and independent distributors have converted internet created buzz into box office revenues with similar levels of success Yet readings of how the film s internet campaign broke new ground in the summer of 1999 tend to minimize overlook or ignore the significance of other online film promotions Similarly claims that Blair initiated a cycle of imitators have been repeated in film publications and academic studies for more than two decades This book challenges three major narratives in studies about online film marketing Hollywood s major studios and independents had no significant relationship to the internet in the 1990s online film promotions only took off after 1999 because of Blair and Hollywood cashed in by initiating a cycle of imitators and scaling up corporate activities online Hollywood Online tests these assumptions by exploring internet marketing up to and including the film s success online Pre Blair 1993 9 then by examining the period immediately after Blair Post Blair 2000 8 which broadly coincides with the rise and decline of DVD as well as the emergence of the social media sites MySpace Facebook and Twitter

The Cinema of Generation X Peter Hanson,2002-03-06 When Steven Soderbergh exploded onto movie screens with sex lies and videotape in 1989 it represented more than the arrival of an important new director it heralded the arrival of an entire generation of important new directors Quentin Tarantino Pulp Fiction Kevin Smith Dogma David Fincher Fight Club M Night Shyamalan The Sixth Sense Ben Stiller Reality Bites Michael Bay Pearl Harbor and dozens of others are all members of Generation X the much talked about but much misunderstood successors to baby boomers This book is a critical study of the films directed by Gen Xers and how those directors have been influenced by their generational identity While Generation X as a whole sometimes seems to lack direction its filmmakers have devoted their careers to making powerful statements about contemporary society and their generation s role in it Each section of the book deals with an aspect of Gen X filmmaking including the influence of popular culture postmodern narrative devices slackerdom and the lack of direction disenfranchisement and nihilism the ever evolving role of technology gender issues and sexuality the question of race the influence of older filmmakers and visions of the future

Generation Tarantino Andrew J. Rausch, 2025-07-10 In iconic films like Reservoir Dogs and Pulp Fiction Quentin Tarantino personified the spirit of 90s filmmaking boldly forging his own opportunities rather than waiting for the movie industry to come knocking on his door He and his fellow travelers directors like Richard Linklater Dazed and Confused John Singleton Boyz n the Hood Guillermo del Toro The Devil s Backbone David Fincher Seven Robert Rodriguez Desperado Kevin Smith Clerks Noah Baumbach Kicking and Screaming Wes Anderson Rushmore Paul Thomas Anderson Boogie Nights Christopher Nolan Following Darren Aronofsky Requiem for a Dream and Sofia Coppola The Virgin Suicides established their maverick style careers by breaking norms creating new standards and building on the techniques of the films that preceded them pushing the artistic boundaries of cinema to new heights Breaking free from the blockbuster bloat of the 1980s Generation Tarantino in some ways recalled the era of an earlier wave of pioneers of Scorsese Spielberg Coppola Altman and De Palma But they were uniquely of their time capturing the attitude of young adults in the 1990s breaking the rules setting new standards mixing tones and genres in a way that no one had before These were directors who wouldn t take no for an answer Generation Tarantino The Last Wave of Young Turks in Hollywood is an examination of the films careers and artistic styles of the most significant filmmakers to emerge during the 1990s With interviews from filmmakers screenwriters cameramen producers and actors this is a book about a generation of directors who raised the artistic bar and changed cinema forever
