Statistical Quality Control for the Food Industry Merton Hubbard, 2013-11-11 Considering the ability of food processing companies to consistently manufacture safe foods with uniform quality over the past 20 or 30 years without these new tools and new systems one might expect that quality control improvements would be marginal On the other hand these changes have already provided substantial opportunities for

process and product improvement This second edition is intended to update the basic concepts and discuss some of the new ones Preface to the First Edition If an automobile tire leaks or an electric light switch fails if we are short changed at a department store or erroneously billed for phone calls not made if a plane departure is delayed due to a mechanical failure these are rather ordinary annoyances which we have come to accept as normal occurrences Contrast this with failure of a food product If foreign matter is found in a food if a product is discolored or crushed if illness or discomfort occurs when a food product is eaten the consumer reacts with anger fear and sometimes hysteria The offending product is often returned to the seller or a disgruntled letter is written to the manufacturer In an extreme case an expensive law suit may be filed against the company The reaction is almost as severe if the failure is a difficult to open package or a leaking container There is no tolerance for failure of food products Bioprocesses in Food Industry Ray Underwood,2018-10-08

Bioprocessing has been used for a long time in the production of food In fact as early as 3500 B C Sumerian brewers were using bioprocessing to create a popular beverage many drinkers still enjoy today Bioprocessing as the name suggests uses living organisms and their components in the creation of new products Bioprocessing is often used to manufacture pharmaceuticals sustainable materials alternative fuels and even many of the foods we enjoy Biotechnology as applied to food processing in most developing countries makes use of microbial inoculants to enhance properties such as the taste aroma shelf life texture and nutritional value of foods The process whereby micro organisms and their enzymes bring about these desirable changes in food materials is known as fermentation Fermentation processing is also widely applied in the production of microbial cultures enzymes flavours fragrances food additives and a range of other high value added products These high value products are increasingly produced in more technologically advanced developing countries for use in their food and non food processing applications Many of these high value products are also imported by developing countries for use in their food processing applications Food biocatalysts and bioprocessing industries face great challenges in order to develop and establish systems to develop high quality safety foods as well as feeds and other industrial goods environmentally acceptable and in a sustainable way The text is supported by numerous clear informative diagrams The book would be highly useful to the postgraduate students and researchers of applied biology biotechnology microbiology and biochemical engineering Novel Food Processing Technologies Gustavo V. Barbosa-Canovas,Maria S. Tapia,M. Pilar Cano,2004-11-30 Reflecting current trends in alternative food processing and preservation this reference explores the most recent applications in pulsed electric field PEF and high pressure technologies food microbiology and modern thermal and nonthermal operations to prevent the occurrence of food borne pathogens extend the shelf life of foods and improve

Genetic Modification in the Food Industry Susan Harlander, Sibel Roller, 2012-12-06 Although the true economic impact of genetic modifications is yet to be realized the potential of this new technology to benefit the food processing industry and to improve food quality is enormous Specific genetically modified whole foods and food ingredients that have recently become available or are about to become available are described and discussed in relation to their technical performance and consumer acceptance The regulatory ethical and communication issues in food biotechnology are also reviewed As the products of gene technology come on stream decisions need to be made as to whether or not to use them Yet many food industry professionals have little or no background in biotechnology and have a limited concept of possible applications in foods Therefore this book aims to foster a greater understanding of the benefits and potential pitfalls of this new technology
