Crime and Deviance in Cyberspace David S. Wall, 2017-07-05 This volume presents the reader with an interesting and at times provocative selection of contemporary thinking about cybercrimes and their regulation The contributions cover the years 2002 2007 during which period internet service delivery speeds increased a thousand fold from 56kb to 56mb per second When combined with advances in networked technology these faster internet speeds not only made new digital environments more easily accessible but they also helped give birth to a completely new generation of purely internet related cybercrimes ranging from spamming phishing and other automated frauds to automated crimes against the integrity of the systems and their content In order to understand these developments the volume introduces new cybercrime viewpoints and issues but also a critical edge supported by some of the new research that is beginning to challenge and surpass the hitherto

journalistically driven news stories that were once the sole source of information about cybercrimes

Andragogical Instruction for Effective Police Training Robert F. Vodde, 2009 This book details a 2 year study that examined and compared the efficacy of an andragogical instructional methodology to that of a traditional prescriptive pedagogical and militaristic format of basic police training The study not only revealed that an andragogical approach yielded greater outcomes in terms of skills and competencies but was preferred among recruits in great part due to the emphasis placed on experiential learning and a collegiate and collaborative approach to learning In his research Robert F Vodde identified six thematic categorical constructs by which basic police training programs can be organized and administered to include the importance for not only working within a quasi military hierarchal organizational structure but in preparing recruits for the emotional and physical challenges associated with police work When properly administered an andragogical approach represents a well planned and skillfully orchestrated process that holistically integrates all aspects of the curriculum one that capitalizes on the use of multi sensory experiential hands on learning activities that allow recruits to apply what they have learned Considering the short and long term impacts of basic police training Vodde illuminates in this book that an andragogical instructional methodology serves as a pragmatic effective and responsive approach to training it is one that creates a physical and psychological climate that takes into consideration the affective needs of the recruit thus providing for a healthy engaging challenging and collaborative atmosphere in which future police officers develop a clear understanding and perspective of their role within the greater context of society

The Cumulative Book Index, 1995 A world list of books in the English language Crime, Justice, and Social Order Alison Liebling, Joanna Shapland, Richard Sparks, Justice Tankebe, 2021-12-23 To honour the extraordinary contribution of Professor Anthony Edward Bottoms to criminology and criminal justice leading criminologists and penal scholars have been asked to contribute original essays on the wide range of areas in which he has written The book starts by reflecting on the depth and breadth of Anthony's contribution and his melding of perspectives from moral philosophy social theory empirical social science research and criminal justice This is no ordinary collection because it also contains a major essay by Anthony Bottoms on Criminology and positive morality reflecting on social order and social norms In similar vein Jonathan Jacobs approaches criminology from a moral philosophical viewpoint whilst Ian Loader and Richard Sparks ponder social theory and contemporary criminology Topically Peter Neyroud reflects on evidence based practice and the process of trying to do experiments in relation to policing In the second section of the book on Crime Justice and Communities Loraine Gelsthorpe reminds us that justice is about people in considering the treatment of women in community justice Joanna Shapland draws parallels between the process of desistance from crime and the potential role of restorative justice in affecting offenders journeys P O Wikstrom reflects on the social ecology of crime whilst Antje Du Bois Pedain considers the theoretical and practical challenges of sentencing constructively Finally the book turns to Anthony Bottoms major interest in punishment and penal order David Garland puts penal populism under the microscope whilst Alison Liebling explores the empirical evidence for theories of penal legitimacy Mike Nellis looks back at the use of the creative arts in prisons in Scotland's Barlinnie Unit whilst Justice Tankebe explores police legitimacy Research Methods for Criminal Justice and the Social Sciences Connie Ireland, Bruce Lawrence Berg, Robert J. Mutchnick, 2010 Research Methods for Criminal Justice and the Social Sciences combines a traditional research book with exercises that allow students to experience research in a controlled environment It is a companion methods manual for use with most traditional social scientific research textbooks This book offers readers basic information about methodological concerns brief readings and a variety of practices exercises relating to those readings Some features of this book Each chapter begins with a BRIEF discussion of the elements relevant to a basic understanding of research methods After each section of each chapter are several abstracted reprints containing basic intros of published articles Each reading is then followed with an Application Exercise which relates to the methodological procedure in the abstracted reprint all exercises were designed to be completed by college students and allows them to get their hands dirty with the This is a perfect resource for individuals interested in the field of criminal justice criminology or sociology

Bowker's Law Books and Serials in Print ,1998 Mismanagement in African Governments Dr. Alain Mortha,2016-03-31 This book emanates from the authors doctoral dissertation research that explored African government mismanagement practices by focusing on the pilot case study of Chad in Central Africa Two of Chads positions that are most bothersome and disconcerting to the author are least favorable place in the world to conduct business according to the World Bank and one of twenty countries in the world where corruption is most existent as adjudged by Transparency International Being born and raised in Chad the author was so shocked by these statistics that his chief desire in writing this book is to propose some sort of solution that may help African countries enhance the management of public resources rather than pointing a finger of blame A comparative investigation of the management practices during the autocratic regime of former president Hissein Habr and the democratic regime of current president Idriss Dby Itno was conducted This book begins with an overview of previous Chadian governments the history of corruption in Chad and a description of mismanagement practices during the regimes of Habr and Dby as revealed through research An overview of the mismanagement practices in Sub Sahara African governments also illustrates the similarities between Chad and these countries The author provides a theoretical framework used to conduct his research as well as several leadership models that he believes would be useful for African governments The book ends with the authors proposed customized Scholar Practitioner Leader SPL model based on ethics and TQM to enhance the management of public resource and a discussion about the limits of his research plus recommendations for future research The results of the study were shocking to say the least and raised questions about the viability of the Occidental democracy imposed in Africa by developed countries Will some African countries be better off with a benevolent dictatorship rather than a democratic regime Find more in the book

Current Publications in Legal and Related Fields ,2003 Qualitative Research Methods for the Social Sciences Bruce Lawrence Berg,2007 This volume offers a comprehensive and straightforward coverage of doing qualitative research The central purpose of this book is to instruct inexperienced researchers in ways of collecting organizing and making sense of qualitative data Language, Crime and Courts in Contemporary Africa and Beyond Russell H. Kaschula,Monwabisi K. Ralarala,Georgina Heydon,2023-09-08 The research represented in this volume and in the series as a whole is intended to provide critical analyses and findings that can underpin the development of language policies practice guides and other resources that support a fair and accessible legal system However this will also require well developed teaching and research programmes so it is our intention that this volume will continue to support the growth of forensic linguistics in Southern African universities and nurture the next generation of scholars dedicated to forensic and legal linguistics This aim will be supported by the newly formed African Association of Forensic and Legal Linguists AAFLI which will help to coordinate the study of forensic linguistics in Africa This book series Studies in Forensic and Legal Linguistics in Africa and Beyond Volumes I II III and IV continues to play an important role in bringing African forensic linguistic scholarship to a wider audience while simultaneously promoting the field amongst academic and legal institutions in Africa

Permutation Statistical Methods for Criminology and Criminal Justice Kenneth J. Berry, Janis E. Johnston, Michael A. Long, Paul Stretesky, Michael J. Lynch, 2025-08-11 This book takes a unique approach to explaining permutation statistical methods for advanced undergraduate students graduate students faculty researchers and other professionals interested in the areas of criminology or criminal justice The book integrates permutation statistical methods with a wide range of classical statistical methods It opens with a comparison of two models of statistical inference the classical population model espoused by J Neyman and E Pearson and the permutation model first introduced by R A Fisher and E J G Pitman Numerous comparisons of permutation and classical statistical methods are illustrated with examples from criminology and criminal justice and supplemented with a variety of R scripts for ease of computation The text follows the general outline of an introductory textbook in statistics with chapters on central tendency variability one sample tests two sample tests matched pairs tests completely randomized analysis of variance randomized blocks analysis of variance simple linear regression and correlation and the analysis of goodness of fit and contingency Unlike classical statistical methods permutation statistical methods do not rely on theoretical distributions avoid the usual assumptions of normality and homogeneity depend solely on the observed data and do not require random sampling making permutation statistical methods ideal for analyzing criminology and criminal justice databases Permutation methods are relatively new in that it took modern computing power to make them available to those working in criminology and criminal justice research The book contains detailed examples of permutation analyses Each analysis is paired with a conventional analysis for example a permutation test of the difference between experimental and control groups is contrasted with Student's two sample t test An added feature is the inclusion of multiple historical notes on the origin and development of both parametric and conventional tests and measures Designed for an audience with a basic statistical background and a strong interest in parametric and non parametric statistics the book can easily serve as a textbook for undergraduate and graduate students in criminology criminal justice or sociology as well as serving as a research source for faculty researchers and other professionals in the area of criminology No statistical training beyond a first course in statistics is required but some knowledge of or interest in criminology or criminal justice is assumed
