Research Strategies In Alcoholism Treatment Assessment:

A Primer of Research Strategies in Alcoholism Treatment Assessment Dan J. Lettieri, 1992      Research Strategies in Alcoholism Treatment Assessment Dan J. Lettieri, 1988 Experts in the substance abuse field highlight the practical issues inherent in planning and conducting alcohol treatment assessment research The rising costs of health care and malpractice fees along with third party payers demands for more accountability have resulted in an urgent need for more and better treatment evaluation Contributors address some of the pitfalls and examine valuable techniques and tools involved in conducting treatment assessment research Topics include the initial assessment or diagnostic instrument the role of the treatment environment on the outcome of treatment the data collection process and its relation to the goals of the assessment and the cost effectiveness of treatment      A Primer of Research Strategies in Alcoholism Treatment

Assessment Dan J. Lettieri, 1992      The Handbook of Psychopharmacology Trials Marc Hertzman, Douglas E. Feltner, 1997-06 Each year pharmaceutical companies invest billions of dollars in clinical trials of drugs used for the treatment of central nervous system diseases Due to enormous progress in basic pharmaceutical research in recent years controlled tests of new medications are flourishing and these trials have rapidly become an intense focus of practical medical research Aware of the complexities presented in the design execution and evaluation of clinical trials Marc Hertzman and Douglas E Feltner bring together a collection of essays that dissect the scientific psychosocial political and ethical concerns that must be examined for any CNS trial The internationally known contributors examine concerns about ethics and cost the FDA and its regulatory impact and the implementation of a variety of trials for disorders such as schizophrenia alcoholism eating disorders insomnia and aggression The editors carefully consider important social issues including the considerations related to women s special needs and the relative merits of psychotherapy and medications The Handbook of Psychopharmacology Trials provides an up to date and stimulating exploration of important issues on the subject of CNS Clinical trials      Handbook of Psychology, Research Methods in Psychology John A. Treatment Assessment Research Dan J. Lettieri, Mollie Sayers, Jack E. Nelson, 1985      Harm Reduction Patricia G. Erickson, Diane M. Riley, Yuet W. Cheung, Pat A. O'Hare, 1997-12-15 Since the First International Conference on the Reduction of Drug Related Harm held in 1990 the term harm reduction has gained wide currency in the areas of public health and drug policy Previously the field was characterized by heated struggle between prohibition and legalization of addictive substances and this debate tended to obscure practical collective approaches Harm reduction an approach which encompasses various policy directives and program initiatives was inspired by the positive outcomes of such public measures as needle exchange programs for reduction of HIV risk methadone maintenance programs education on the risks of tobacco use and programs designed to limit alcohol consumption The essays in this book illustrate the scope and vigour of the emerging harm reduction model The essays drawn from seven international conferences on harm reduction cover a wide variety of topics including public policy women and reproductive issues the experiences of special populations human rights defining and measuring harm and intervention Researchers and practitioners will benefit from the varied papers in the volume which combine insights into policy making and front line outreach efforts with comprehensive conceptual and empirical approaches Harm Reduction represents an important initiative in making academic work accessible and useful to a larger community and provides guidance for the development of effective policies and programs
