The Decades of Henry Bullinger, Minister of the Church of Zurich Heinrich Bullinger, 1851 The Second Birth Tilo Schabert, 2015-11-20 Most scholars link the origin of politics to the formation of human societies but in this innovative work Tilo Schabert takes it even further back to our very births Drawing on mythical philosophical religious and political thought from around the globe including America Europe the Middle East and China The Second Birth proposes a transhistorical and transcultural theory of politics rooted in political cosmology With impressive erudition Schabert explores the physical fundamentals of political life unveiling a profound new insight our bodies actually teach us politics Schabert traces different figurations of power inherent to our singular existence things such as numbers time thought and desire showing how they render our lives political ones and thus how politics exists in us individually long before it plays a role in the establishment of societies and institutions Through these figurations of power Schabert argues we learn how to institute our own government within the political forces that already surround us to create our own world within the one into which we have been born In a stunning vision of human agency this book ultimately sketches a political cosmos in which we are all builders in which we can be at once political and free Legitimacy Arthur Isak Applbaum, 2019-11-19 At an unsettled time for liberal democracy with global eruptions of authoritarian and arbitrary rule here is one of the first full fledged philosophical accounts of what makes governments legitimate What makes a government legitimate The dominant view is that public officials have the right to rule us even if they are unfair or unfit as long as they gain power through procedures traceable to the consent of the governed In this rigorous and timely study Arthur Isak Applbaum argues that adherence to procedure is not enough even a properly chosen government does not rule legitimately if it fails to protect basic rights to treat its citizens as political equals or to act coherently How are we to reconcile every person s entitlement to freedom with the necessity of coercive law Applbaum s answer is that a government legitimately governs its citizens only if the government is a free group agent constituted by free citizens To be a such a group agent a government must uphold three principles The liberty principle requiring that the basic rights of citizens be secured is necessary to protect against inhumanity a tyranny in practice The equality principle requiring that citizens have equal say in selecting who governs is necessary to protect against despotism a tyranny in title The agency principle requiring that a government s actions reflect its decisions and its decisions reflect its reasons is necessary to protect against wantonism a tyranny of unreason Today Applbaum writes the greatest threat to the established democracies is neither inhumanity nor despotism but wantonism the domination of citizens by incoherent inconstant and incontinent rulers A government that cannot govern itself cannot legitimately govern others

A Law of Peoples for Recognizing States Chris Naticchia, 2016-11-02 Which political entities should the international community recognize as member states granting them the rights and powers of statehood and entitling them to participate in formulating adjudicating and implementing international law What criteria should it use and are those criteria defensible From Kosovo Palestine and Taiwan to South Sudan Scotland South Ossetia Abkhazia and Catalonia these questions continuously arise and constantly challenge the international community for a consistent principled stance In response to this challenge Chris Naticchia offers a social contract argument for a theory of international recognition a normative theory of the criteria that states and international bodies should use to recognize political entities as member states of the international community Regardless of whether political entities adequately respect human rights or practice democracy he argues we must recognize a critical mass of them to get international institutions working Then we should recognize secessionist entities that suffer from persistent grave and widespread human rights abuses by their government and under certain conditions minority nations within multinational states that seek independence We must also recognize entities whose recognition would contribute to the economic development of the least well off entities Drawing on the social contract tradition and developing a broadly Rawlsian view A Law of Peoples for Recognizing States will both challenge and appeal to a broad readership in political philosophy international law and international relations
