McChesney, 2024-07-25 In 1894 Great Britain invited Abd al Rahman Khan the amir of Afghanistan to England for a state visit Then at the height of its imperial might Britain sought to strengthen ties with the strategically important Afghanistan which shared a long frontier not yet a border with British India The amir s aim for the visit was to secure permission for an Afghan legation embassy in London while the British unaware of this goal hoped to overawe the amir with displays of military and industrial might as well as performances to show the strength and unity of British civil society The amir citing illness ultimately declined the invitation but in a calculated snub sent his second son Prince Nasr Allah Khan in his place This book narrates the events of the prince s mission in a number of revealing ways Using both British and Afghan sources including the journal of a senior member of the Afghan contingent McChesney places the visit in its international and historical context and analyzes the internal dynamics of the prince's delegation the seventy members of whom represented Afghanistan but included two Englishmen and two English women. A further twenty members representing the Government of British India were as multi ethnic and multilingual as the members of the Afghan delegation. This bilateral and complex mission left India in April 1895 and remained together for the next six months. From the beginning it was riven by incidents of misogyny racism and class conflict that affected its ability to perform its diplomatic functions. The reader gains insights into the goals and tactics of two asymmetrical yet competing powers as well as a rare look at the human element in this cross cultural diplomatic encounter.

Lipstick in Afghanistan Roberta Gately, 2010-11-09. Roberta Gately's lyrical and authentic debut novel inspired by her own experiences as a nurse in third world war zones is one woman's moving story of offering help and finding hope in the last place she expected. Grippled by haunting magazine images of starving refugees Elsa has dreamed of becoming a nurse since she was a teenager. Of leaving her humble working class Boston neighborhood to help people whose lives are far more difficult than her own. No one in her family has ever escaped poverty but Elsa has a secret weapon a tube of lipstick she found in her older sister's bureau. Wearing it never fails to raise her spirits and cement her determination. With lipstick on she can do anything even travel alone to war torn Afghanistan in the wake of 9/11. But violent nights as an ER nurse in South Boston could not prepare Elsa for the devastation she witnesses at the small medical clinic she runs in Bamiyan. As she struggles to prove herself to the Afghan doctors and local villagers she begins a forbidden romance with her only confidant a charming Special Forces soldier. Then a tube of lipstick she finds in the aftermath of a tragic bus bombing leads her to another life changing friendship In her neighbor Parween Elsa finds a kindred spirit fiery and generous Together the two women risk their lives to save friends and family from the worst excesses of the Taliban But when the war waging around them threatens their own survival Elsa discovers her only hope is to unveil the warrior within Roberta Gately s raw intimate novel is an unforgettable tribute to the power of friendship and a poignant reminder of the tragic cost of war

Losing Afghanistan Noah Coburn,2023-05-25 A 2016 study of the Afghanistan international intervention from perspective of an ambassador a Navy SEAL an Afghan businessman a wind energy engineer The US led intervention in Afghanistan mobilized troops funds and people on an international level not seen since World War II Hundreds of thousands of individuals and tens of billions of dollars flowed into the country But what was gained for Afghanistan or for the international community that footed the bill Why did development money not lead to more development Why did a military presence make things more dangerous Through the stories of four individuals an ambassador a Navy SEAL a young Afghan businessman and a wind energy engineer Noah Coburn weaves a vivid account of the challenges and contradictions of life during the intervention Looking particularly at the communities around Bagram Airbase this ethnography considers how Afghans viewed and attempted to use the intervention and how those at the base tried to understand the communities around them These compelling stories step outside the tired paradigms of unruly Afghan tribes an effective Taliban resistance and a corrupt Karzai government to show how the intervention became an entity unto itself one doomed to collapse under the weight of its own bureaucracy and contradictory intentions Praise for Losing Afghanistan Coburn's experienced eye demonstrates that understanding local culture is a two way street Highly recommended for Afghans or anyone puzzled by the policies of international military and civilian institutions and in need of practical advice on how to cope with their strange ways of thinking Thomas Barfield Boston University Rich in description and thick with ironies Losing Afghanistan reveals the insanities of a war run by and for contractors and by soldiers posing as development agents In this first hand account of war time Afghanistan Coburn navigates the various and sometimes shared assumptions of walled off foreigners and the world they created in which Afghans play but minor parts A quiet indictment Catherine Lutz Brown University Losing Afghanistan provides a unique window into the longest most costly US and international intervention since the Second World War Having spent over a decade researching and writing about Afghanistan living with ordinary Afghans and a bewildering array of international actors Coburn illuminates the chasm between what ordinary Afghans think and want and what international actors assume and do and the frustration and disillusionment that resulted Michael Keating Associate Director Chatham House and Former UN Deputy Envoy to Afghanistan Kabul
