The Secure and the Dispossessed Nick Buxton, Ben Hayes, 2015-11-20 While the world s scientists and many of its inhabitants despair at the impact of climate change corporate and military leaders see nothing but opportunities For them melting ice caps mean newly accessible fossil fuels borders to be secured from climate refugees social conflicts to be managed and more failed states in which to intervene They are securing their assets at the expense of the planet and its inhabitants The Secure and the Dispossessed looks at these deadly approaches with a critical eye It also considers the flip side that the legitimacy of the elite is under unprecedented pressure from resistance by communities to resource grabs to those creating new ecological and socially just models for managing our energy food and water Topics covered include geoengineering militarism refugee protection greenwashing and the agricultural crisis among others Adaptation and resilience to a climate changed world is desperately needed but the form it will take will affect all of our futures The Christian Advocate ,1908 Employment Security Review ,1947 Security Blurs Tessa Diphoorn, Erella Grassiani, 2018-12-07 Security Blurs makes an important contribution to anthropological work on security It introduces the notion of security blurs to analyse manifestations of security that are visible and identifiable yet constructed and made up of a myriad and overlapping set of actors roles motivations values practices ideas materialities and power dynamics in their inception and performance The chapters address the entanglements and overlaps between a variety of state and non state security providers from the police and the military to vigilantes community organisations and private security companies The contributors offer rich ethnographic studies of everyday security practices across a range of cultural contexts and reveal the impact on the lives of ordinary citizens This book presents a new anthropological approach to security by explicitly addressing the overlap and entanglement of the practices and discourses of state and non state security providers and the associated forms of cooperation and conflict that permit an analysis of these actors activities as increasingly blurred
