Place And Space Landscapes:

Space, Place, and Landscape in Ancient Greek Literature and Culture Kate Gilhuly, Nancy Worman, 2014-09-22 This book brings together a collection of original essays that engage with cultural geography and landscape studies to produce new ways of understanding place space and landscape in Greek literature from the fifth and fourth centuries BCE The authors draw on an eclectic collection of contemporary approaches to bring the study of ancient Greek literature into dialogue with the burgeoning discussion of spatial theory in the humanities The essays in this volume treat a variety of textual spaces from the intimate to the expansive the bedroom ritual space the law courts theatrical space the poetics of the city and the landscape of war And yet all of the contributions are united by an interest in recuperating some of the many ways in which the ancient Greeks in the archaic and classical periods invested places with meaning and in how the representation of place links texts to social practices

Landscapes of the New West Krista Comer, 1999 In the early 1970s empowered by the civil rights and women's movements a new group of women writers began speaking to the American public Their topic broadly defined was the postmodern American West By the mid 1980s their combined works made for a bona fide literary groundswell in both critical and commercial terms However as Krista Comer notes despite the attentions of publishers the media and millions of readers literary scholars have rarely addressed this movement or its writers Too many critics Comer argues still enamored of western images that are both masculine and antimodern have been slow to reckon with the emergence of a new far more feminine postmodern multiracial and urban west Here she calls for a redesign of the field of western cultural studies one that engages issues of gender and race and is more self conscious about space itself especially that cherished symbol of western authenticity open landscape Surveying works by Joan Didion Wanda Coleman Maxine Hong Kingston Leslie Marmon Silko Barbara Kingsolver Pam Houston Louise Erdrich Sandra Cisneros and Mary Clearman Blew Comer shows how these and other contemporary women writers have mapped new geographical imaginations upon the cultural and social spaces of today's American West

Shared Spaces and Divided Places Deborah L. Rotman, Ellen-Rose Savulis, 2003 This indispensable collection of essays is among the first to seriously link gender and landscape research two major emerging topics in historical archaeology and to explore the relationship between the two Landscapes represent unique as well as collective experiences so it is not without cultural significance that landscapes have historically been codified as female The book represents an intersection of the study of landscape archaeology and space with the study of gender By expanding the definition of landscape to include interior spaces by challenging the equivocation of gendered space with feminized space and by approaching the subject matter dialectically the book promotes an in depth understanding of the issues that arise when scholars apply gender issues to the study of space manipulation

Modern Approaches to the Visualization of Landscapes Dennis Edler, Corinna Jenal, Olaf Kühne, 2021-01-31 The volume deals with the effects of digitization on spatial and especially landscape construction processes and their visualization A focus lies on the generation mechanisms of landscapes with digital tools of cartography and geomatics including possibilities to model and visualize non visual stimuli but also spatial temporal changes of physical space Another focus is on how virtual spaces have already become part of the social and individual construction of landscape Potentials of combining modern media of spatial visualization and constructivist landscape research are discussed Mining the Landscape Geraldine Mate,2022-09-12 Mining was one of the primary elements of colonial enterprise in Australia and a factor in movement on colonial frontiers In the second half of the 19th and early 20th century mining particularly of gold saw transformations of the land itself as well as in the way that people working in mining engaged with the landscape around them Landscape archaeology provides a theoretical perspective that allows an articulation of how people created and understood the place in which they lived and worked The impact of and narrative surrounding gold mining has meant that it has long been a focus of study both historical and archaeological The archaeology of mining has traditionally fallen under the umbrella of industrial archaeology with analyses based on historical economic and technological evidence However this is changing From an industrial focus examining the remnants of mines and associated processing equipment archaeology has progressed towards understandings of the social aspects of mining recognising that people not just equipment occupied these landscapes Nevertheless there remains a separation between industrial technology based studies and purely social household based archaeological studies a division that overlooks the integration of home and livelihood This work addresses these very challenges using a landscape based approach that articulates a nuanced meaning laden and experienced mining landscape Integrating the social and the industrial the case study of Mount Shamrock a gold mining town in Queensland Australia demonstrates how this methodology can enhance our understanding of the past The work presents an integration of social and industrial perspectives in a mining settlement and provides an exemplar in the application of landscape theory to Australian historical archaeology These concepts and approaches developed in an Australian context are of universal interest History, Space and Place Susanne Rau,2019-03-05 Spaces too have a history And history always takes place in spaces But what do historians mean when they use the word spaces And how can spaces be historically investigated Susanne Rau provides a survey of the history of Western concepts of space opens up interdisciplinary approaches to the phenomenon of space in fields ranging from physics and geography to philosophy and sociology and explains how historical spatial analysis can be methodologically and conceptually conceived and carried out in practice The case studies presented in the book come from the fields of urban history the history of trade and global history including the history of cartography but its analysis is equally relevant to other fields of inquiry This book offers the first comprehensive introduction to the theory and methodology of historical spatial analysis Supported by Open Access funds of the University of Erfurt People, Places and Landscapes Richard S. Krannich,A. E. Luloff,Donald R. Field,2011-05-30 This volume is a cogent empirical analysis of the interplay between a region s natural amenities and its socioeconomic evolution It focuses on the rural sectors of America s

Intermountain West region which lies between the Cascades and Sierra Nevada mountains to the west and the Rocky Mountains to the east Coherently structured and meticulously detailed it adds much to our understanding of the ways an area's forests lakes mountains parkland and historic attractions affect residents sense of well being as well as the sociodemographic and economic changes they experience The book examines patterns of growth and change linked to the emergence of New West conditions assessing their implications for the wider community as well as discussing the impact these trends could have on the consumption of natural resources It also points to ways in which communities and their development can be managed sustainably The tight geographical focus of this valuable resource ensures a depth of analysis which can be applied to similar regions worldwide Based on a large scale random sample survey of both full time and seasonal residents it provides a much needed overview of the macro level economic demographic and social transformations affecting rural communities in America As such the book has relevance for all researchers concerned with rural development the changes impacting rural landscapes and natural resource management

Place Tim Cresswell, 2014-12-03 Thoroughly revised and updated this text introduces students of human geography and allied disciplines to the fundamental concept of place combining discussion about everyday uses of the term with the complex theoretical debates that have grown up around it A thoroughly revised and updated edition of this highly successful short introduction to place Features a new chapter on the use of place in non geographical arenas such as in ecological theory art theory and practice philosophy and social theory Combines discussion about everyday uses of the term place with the more complex theoretical debates that have grown up around it Uses familiar stories drawn from the news popular culture and everyday life as a way to explain abstract ideas and debates Traces the development of the concept from the 1950s through its subsequent appropriation by cultural geographers and the linking of place to politics

Textures of Place Paul C. Adams, Steven D. Hoelscher, Karen E. Till, 2001 A fresh and far ranging interpretation of the concept of place this volume begins with a fundamental tension of our day as communications technologies help create a truly global economy the very political economic processes that would seem to homogenize place actually increase the importance of individual localities which are exposed to global flows of investment population goods and pollution Place no less today than in the past is fundamental to how the world works The contributors to this volume distinguished scholars from geography art history philosophy anthropology and American and English literature investigate the ways in which place is embedded in everyday experience its crucial role in the formation of group and individual identity and its ability to reflect and reinforce power relations Their essays draw from a wide array of methodologies and perspectives including feminism ethnography poststructuralism ecocriticism and landscape ichnography to examine themes as diverse as morality and imagination attention and absence personal and group identity social structure home nature and cosmos

Landscapes between Then and Now Nicola Brandt, 2020-09-08 In Landscapes Between Then and Now Nicola Brandt examines the increasingly compelling and diverse cross disciplinary work of photographers and artists made during the transition from apartheid to post apartheid and into the contemporary era By examining specific artworks made in South Africa Namibia and Angola Brandt sheds light on established and emerging themes related to aftermath landscapes embodied histories un belonging spirituality and memorialization She shows how landscape and identity are mutually constituted and profiles this process against the background of the legacy of the acutely racially divisive policies of the apartheid regime that are still reflected on the land As a signpost throughout the book Brandt draws on the work of the renowned South African photographer Santu Mofokeng and his critical thinking about landscape Landscapes Between Then and Now explores how practitioners who engage with identity and their physical environment as a social product might reveal something about the complex and fractured nature of postcolonial and contemporary societies Through diverse strategies and aesthetics they comment on inherent structures and epistemologies of power whilst also expressing new and radical forms of self determinism Brandt asks why these cross disciplinary works ranging from social documentary to experimental performance and embodied practices are critical now and what important possibilities for social and political reflection and engagement they suggest

Exploring Place in the Australian Landscape David S. Jones, 2022-08-30 This book offers an original framework on how to investigate understand and translate sense of place at a regional scale The book explores contemporary sense of place theory and practice drawing upon the Western District of Victoria in Australia being the Country of the White Cockatoo It offers a unique multi temporal and thematical analytical approach towards comprehending and mapping the values that underpin and determine strengths of human relationships and nuances to this landscape Included is a deep ethno ecological and cross cultural translation that takes the reader through both the Western understanding of sense of place as well as the Australian Aboriginal understanding of Country Both are different intellectual constructions of thoughts values and ideologies but which share numerous commonalities due to their archetypal meanings feelings and values transmitted to humans

Haunted Landscapes Ruth Heholt, Niamh Downing, 2016-11-17 Haunted Landscapes offers a fresh and innovative approach to contemporary debates about landscape and the supernatural Landscapes are often uncanny spaces embroiled in the past associated with absence memory and nostalgia Yet experiences of haunting must in some way always belong to the present they must be felt This collection of essays opens up new and compelling areas of debate around the concepts of haunting affect and landscape Landscape studies supernatural studies haunting and memory are all rapidly growing fields of enquiry and this book synthesises ideas from several critical approaches spectral affective and spatial to provide a new route into these subjects Examining urban and rural landscapes haunted domestic spaces landscapes of trauma and borderlands this collection of essays is designed to cross disciplines and combine seemingly disparate academic approaches under the coherent locus of landscape and haunting Presenting a timely intervention in some of the most pressing scholarly debates of our time Haunted Landscapes offers an attractive array of essays that cover topics from Victorian times to the present

Mapping the Invisible Landscape Kent C. Ryden, 1993 Any

landscape has an unseen component a subjective component of experience memory and narrative which people familiar with the place understand to be an integral part of its geography but which outsiders may not suspect the existence of. Unless they listen and read carefully This invisible landscape is made visible through stories and these stories are the focus of this engrossing book Traveling across the invisible landscape in which we imaginatively dwell. Kent Ryden himself a most careful listener and reader asks the following questions: What categories of meaning do we read into our surroundings? What forms of expression serve as the most reliable maps to understanding those meanings? Our sense of any place he argues consists of a deeply ingrained experiential knowledge of its physical makeup an awareness of its communal and personal history a sense of our identity as being inextricably bound up with its events and ways of life and an emotional reaction positive or negative to its meanings and memories. Ryden demonstrates that both folk and literary narratives about place bear a striking thematic and stylistic resemblance. Accordingly Mapping the Invisible Landscape examines both kinds of narratives. For his oral materials Ryden provides an in depth analysis of narratives collected in the Coeur d'Alene mining district in the Idaho panhandle for his consideration of written works he explores the OC essay of place OCO the personal essay which takes as its subject a particular place and a writer's relationship to that place. Drawing on methods and materials from geography folklore and literature Mapping the Invisible Landscape offers a broadly interdisciplinary analysis of the way we situate ourselves imaginatively in the landscape the way we inscribe its surface with stories. Written in an extremely engaging style this book will lead its readers to an awareness of the vital role that a sense of place plays in the formation of local cultures to an understanding of the many layered ways in which place interacts with individual lives and to renewed appreciation of the places in their own lives and landscapes.

Design Things Thomas Binder, Giorgio De Michelis, Pelle Ehn, Giulio Jacucci, Per Linde, 2024-12-17 A new perspective on design thinking and design practice beyond products and projects toward participatory design things. Design Things offers an innovative view of design thinking and design practice envisioning ways to combine creative design with a participatory approach encompassing aesthetic and democratic practices and values. The authors of Design Things look at design practice as a mode of inquiry that involves people space artifacts materials and aesthetic experience following the process of transformation from a design concept to a thing. Design Things which grew out of the Atelier Architecture and Technology for Inspirational Living research project goes beyond the making of a single object to view design projects as sociomaterial assemblies of humans and artifacts design things. The book offers both theoretical and practical perspectives providing empirical support for the authors conceptual framework with field projects case studies and examples from professional practice. The authors examine the dynamics of the design process the

Signifying Place and Space George Nash,2000 A series of 18 papers taken from a number of sessions between 1997 and 1999 at the TAG conference in Bournemouth and Birmingham and the IRAC in Portugal Post Celtic Tiger Landscapes in Irish Fiction Marie Mianowski,2016-11-03 This volume discusses place and landscape in Irish fiction since 2008 including work by William Trevor Dermot Bolger Anne Enright Donal Ryan Claire Kilroy Kevin Barry Gerard Donovan Danielle McLaughlin Trisha McKinney Billy O Callaghan and Colum McCann In light of writing by geographers anthropologists and philosophers like Doreen Massey Tim Ingold Giorgio Agamben and Jeff Malpas this book examines metamorphoses of place and landscape in fiction in the aftermath of a crisis with deep economic and cultural consequences It shows what place and landscape representations reveal of the past and how boundedness openness and emergence can contribute to designing future landscapes

The Routledge Handbook of Cultural Landscape Heritage in The Asia-Pacific Kapila D. Silva,Ken Taylor,David S. Jones,2022-07-29 The Routledge Handbook of Cultural Landscape Heritage in the Asia Pacific revisits the use growth and potential of the cultural landscape methodology in the conservation and management of culture nature heritage in the Asia Pacific region Taking both a retrospective and prospective view of the management of cultural heritage in the region this volume argues that the plurality and complexity of heritage in the region cannot be comprehensively understood and effectively managed without a broader conceptual framework like the cultural landscape approach The book also demonstrates that such an approach facilitates the development of a flexible strategy for heritage conservation Acknowledging the effects of rapid socio economic development globalization and climate change contributors examine the pressure these issues place on the sustenance of cultural heritage Including chapters from more than 20 countries across the Asia Pacific region the volume reviews the effectiveness of theoretical and practical potentials afforded by the cultural landscape approach and examines how they have been utilized in the Asia Pacific context for the last three decades The Routledge Handbook of Cultural Landscape Heritage in the Asia Pacific provides a comprehensive analysis of the processes of cultural landscape heritage conservation and management As a result it will be of interest to academics students and professionals who are based in the fields of cultural heritage management architecture urban planning landscape architecture and landscape management

Landscape Architecture Framed from an Environmental and Ecological Perspective Mustafa Ergen,Yasar Ergen,2022-04-28 Landscape architecture involves designing planning and managing natural and built environments Its goal is to balance natural spaces with the human element As such new methods and analysis techniques are necessary for creating healthy and user friendly spaces in both urban developments and natural environments This book discusses these approaches to planning and designing natural spaces with a focus on sustainability

Africa for Sale? ,2013-06-15 The past several decades have witnessed a rise in foreign and domestic investments in Africa

s arable land While such land projects are currently the focus of widespread media and scholarly interest the role of the state in driving negotiating and facilitating these acquisitions deserves closer attention This book analyzes how state land policies stakeholder interactions and privatization schemes interact to facilitate large scale land acquisitions It includes a study of the various forms of state intervention the influence of foreign agencies governments and private entities and a look at how states interact with local populations The inclusion of case studies in settings throughout the African continent should attract the interest of both an academic and non academic readership
