M. Conradie, 2006-10-01 There has been a proliferation of publications in the field of Christian ecological theology over the last three decades or so These include a number of recent edited volumes each covering a range of topics and consolidating many of the emerging insights in ecological theology The call for Christian churches to respond to the environmental crisis has been reiterated numerous times in this vast corpus of literature also in South Africa Religion and Globalization Peter Beyer, 1994-03-31 In his exploration of the interaction between religion and worldwide social and cultural change the author examines the major theories of global change and discusses the ways in which such change impinges on contemporary religious practice meaning and influence Beyer explores some of the key issues in understanding the shape of religion today including religion as culture and as social system pure and applied religion privatized and publicly influential religion and liberal versus conservative religions He goes on to apply these issues to five contemporary illustrative cases the American Christian Right Liberation Theology movements in Latin America the Islamic Revolution in Iran Zionists in Israel and religious An Ecological Christian Anthropology Ernst M. Conradie, 2017-03-02 What is the place and vocation of human beings in the earth community This is the central question that this contribution towards a Christian ecological anthropology addresses In ecological theology this question is often answered by the affirmation that We are at home on earth This affirmation rightly responds to the widespread sense of alienation from nature to the anthropocentrism that pervades much of the Christian tradition and to concerns about the scope of environmental devastation This book challenges the affirmation that we are at home on earth examining natural suffering anxieties concerning human finitude and especially the pervasiveness of evil The book investigates contributions to ecological theology South African and African theology reformed theology and contemporary dialogues between theology and the sciences in search of a thoroughly ecological Christian anthropology guidebook Ecotherapy Healing Ourselves Healing the Earth fills a wide gap in both the counseling and therapy literature and the ecology literature. It offers an innovative model for fulfilling the ecological circle between humans and nature with three action dimensions: These are self care by being intentionally nurtured by nature, spiritual enrichment by enjoying the transcendent Spirit in nature, and responding by nurturing nature more responsibly and lovingly. The theories and practical applications presented in the book come together to explore long overlooked issues at the boundary between human health and the health of the natural environment. Psychotherapists, health professionals, and teachers, pastoral counselors, and other clergy who counsel and teach laypersons who are parents and grandparents and individuals and groups interested in environmental issues will find Ecotherapy Healing Ourselves Healing the Earth essential for approaching the long neglected earthy roots of the total human mind/body/spirit organism.

Earth Habitat Dieter T. Hessel, Larry L. Rasmussen, This signal volume gathers theologians from around the world to address three pressing questions: How can Christianity and Christian churches rethink themselves and their roles in light of the endangered earth? What earth honoring elements does justice oriented Christianity have to contribute to the common good? And how can local communities and churches respond creatively and constructively on a level to these vast global forces? This volume captures the chief themes and presentations from the October 1998 conference on social justice ecology and church entitled Ecumenical Earth and held at Union Theological Seminary. Among the 18 contributors to this trailblazing conference are Rasmussen and Hessel, James Cone, Kusumita Pedersen, Brigitte Kahl, Ibrahim M. Abu Rabi, Steven Rockefeller, Havid Hallman, Ernst Conradie, Peggy Shepard, and Troy Messenger.

Hallman about this collection of short stories, each of which revolves around the characters' interaction with a piece of literature. Combining fiction, creative non-fiction, and semifictionalized autobiography, Hallman has crafted tales that draw readers into his characters' complex lives using the lens of books such as Paul Bowles' The Sheltering Sky, John Le Carré's The Constant Gardener, E. M. Forster's Maurice, Patricia Nell Warren's The Front Runner, Robertson Davies's Fifth Business, and Hallman's own memoir August Farewell Some of the stories focus specifically on the literary work In others the role of the book in the plot is quite subtle The stories are emotionally engaging and intellectually stimulating with some being sexually explicit Each one is a dramatic exploration of the joys and heartaches the thrills and conflicts inherent in personal and social relationships The connecting theme of the role of books illuminates linkages between art and life The short stories in Book Tales with their gay plots and themes depict the characters finding insight courage and inspiration through a variety of literary works
