Rope Of Moka:

The Rope of Moka Andrew Strathern,1971-07-02 In the Mount Hagen area of central New Guinea warfare has been replaced since the arrival of the Europeans by a vigorous development of moka a competitive ceremonial exchange of wealth objects The exchanges of pigs shells and other valuables are interpreted as acting as a bond between groups and as a means whereby individuals notably the big men can maximize their status Professor Strathern analyses the ways in which competition between big men actually takes place and the effects of this competition on the overall political system

The King's Road Xin Wen,2024-12-17 An exciting and richly detailed new history of the Silk Road that tells how it became more important as a route for diplomacy than for trade The King s Road offers a new interpretation of the history of the Silk Road emphasizing its importance as a diplomatic route rather than a commercial one Tracing the arduous journeys of diplomatic envoys Xin Wen presents a rich social history of long distance travel that played out in deserts post stations palaces and polo fields The book tells the story of the everyday lives of diplomatic travelers on the Silk Road what they ate and drank the gifts they carried and the animals that accompanied them and how they navigated a complex web of geographic cultural and linguistic boundaries It also describes the risks and dangers envoys faced along the way from financial catastrophe to robbery and murder Using documents unearthed from the famous Dunhuang library cave in Western China The King s Road paints a detailed picture of the intricate network of trans Eurasian transportation and communication routes that was established between 850 and 1000

CE By exploring the motivations of the kings who dispatched envoys along the Silk Road and describing the transformative social and economic effects of their journeys the book reveals the inner workings of an interstate network distinct from the Sino centric tributary system In shifting the narrative of the Silk Road from the transport of commodities to the exchange of diplomatic gifts and personnel The King s Road puts the history of Eastern Eurasia in a new light Common Worlds and Single Lives Verena Keck,2020-08-20 In Pacific societies local knowledge which has been accumulated over thousands of years and is irreplaceable is rapidly disappearing With the extinction of languages the ability to observe and interpret the world from varying perspectives is also being lost At the same time an enormous body of knowledge about nature plants and animals is vanishing However in parallel with this the people of the Pacific are confronted with new modes of knowledge and newly introduced technologies through imported educational systems missions of various denominations and the media They do not passively assimilate this knowledge but adopt adapt and apply it in a syncretistic way These changes will have permanent effects on the individual lives of people in the region and their knowledge about themselves and their surrounding world This stimulating book tracks the course of these developments and offers revealing insights into the complexity of Pacific peoples responses to the process of globalization The Melanesian World Eric Hirsch,Will Rollason,2019-03-28 This wide ranging volume captures the diverse range of societies and experiences that form what has come to be known as Melanesia It covers prehistoric historic and contemporary issues and includes work by art historians political scientists geographers and anthropologists The chapters range from studies of subsistence ritual and ceremonial exchange to accounts of state violence new media and climate change The Melanesian world assembled here raises questions that cut to the heart of debates in the human sciences today with profound implications for the ways in which scholars across disciplines can describe and understand human difference This impressive collection of essays represents a valuable resource for scholars and students alike Peace-Making and the Imagination Andrew Strathern,Pamela J. Stewart,2012-07-01 A compelling new book that presents a thoughtful and creative approach to transforming violent discordances this work examines the intractable issues of revenge and restitution in a conflict context It argues that in communities where violence must be paid for through compensation violent conflict can be contained With primary reference to the Highlands of Papua New Guinea and comparisons to cases from Africa Pakistan and other arenas of tribal social formations the account explores how rituals such as wealth disbursement oath taking sacrifice and formal apologies are often used as a means of averting or transcending acts of vengeance after violence Through exploration of the balance between revenge and compensation at different junctures in the peace making process this compelling text devises a thought provoking and inventive analysis that would benefit countless communities in conflict around the world Landmarks Andrew Strathern,1993 Landmarks addresses a wide range of questions relevant to the recent history of anthropology and its importance to contemporary issues These questions include the significance of anthropology for Third World studies the debate on whether anthropology is a scientific or a humanistic subject anthropology as a means of reflecting on ourselves as well as others and the criticisms of anthropological work that have emerged out of postmodernism Drawing on his research findings in Papua New guinea since 1964 and his more recent work on the cross cultural study of medicine the author examines the extent to which we can achieve understanding between different cultures and the relative merits of approaches that stress indigenous categories or those of the observer He concludes that the discipline now requires reconstruction rather than deconstruction and advances the call for holistic models of human behavior which re conceptualize the relationship between body and mind

Americans in Tuscany Catherine Trundle,2014-07-01 Since the time of the Grand Tour the Italian region of Tuscany has sustained a highly visible American and Anglo migrant community Today American women continue to migrate there many in order to marry Italian men Confronted with experiences of social exclusion unfamiliar family relations and new cultural terrain many women struggle to build local lives In the first ethnographic monograph of Americans in Italy Catherine Trundle argues that charity and philanthropy are the central means by which many American women negotiate a sense of migrant belonging in Italy This book traces women s daily acts of charity as they gave food to the poor fundraised among the wealthy monitored untrustworthy recipients assessed the needy and reflected on the emotional work that charity required In exploring the often ignored role of charitable action in migrant community formation Trundle contributes to anthropological theories of gift giving compassion and reflexivity

The Heiltsuks Michael E. Harkin,2000-10-01 In an incisive and wide ranging critique of ethnohistory and historical anthropology Michael E Harkin develops an innovative approach to understanding the profound cultural changes experienced during the past century by the Heiltsuks Bella Bella a Northwest Coast Indian group Between 1880 and 1920 the Heiltsuks changed from one of the most traditional and aggressive groups on the Northwest Coast to paragons of Victorian virtues Why and how did this dramatic transformation occur Harkin answers these questions by tracing the changing views the Heiltsuks had of themselves and of their past as they encountered colonial powers Rejecting many of the common methods and assumptions of ethnohistorians as unwittingly Eurocentric or simplistic Harkin argues that the multiple perspectives motives and events constituting the Heiltsuks world and history can be productively conceived of as dialogues ongoing series of culturally embedded communicative acts that presuppose previous acts and constrain future ones Historical transformations in three of these dialogues centering on the body material goods and concepts of the soul are examined in detail

We Stay the Same Jason Roberts, 2024-04-23 On a remote island in the South Pacific the Lavongai have consistently struggled to obtain development through logging and commercial agriculture Yet many Lavongai still long to move beyond the grind of subsistence work that has seemingly defined their lives on New Hanover Papua New Guinea for generations Following a long history of smaller scale and largely unsuccessful resource development efforts New Hanover became the site of three multinational controlled special agricultural and business leases SABLs that combined to cover over 75 percent of the island for ninety nine year lease terms These agroforestry projects were part of a national effort to encourage sustainable rural development by tapping into the growing global demand for agricultural lands and crops like oil palm and biofuels They were supposed to succeed where the smaller scale projects of the past had failed Unfortunately these SABLs resulted in significant forest loss and livelihood degradation while doing little to promote the type of economic development that many Lavongai had been hoping for It is within this context that We Stay the Same grounds questions of hope for transformative economic change within Lavongai assessments of the inequitable relationships between global processes of resource development and the local lives that have become increasingly defined by the necessities and failures of these processes Written in a clear and relatable style for students We Stay the Same combines ethnographic and ecological research to show how the Lavongai continue to survive and make meaningful lives in a situation where their own hopes for a better future have often been used against them as a mechanism of a more distantly profitable dispossession

Cosmologies in the Making Fredrik Barth, 1987 All culture particularly that of non literate traditions is constantly being recreated and in the process also undergoes changes In this book Fredrik Barth examines the changes that have taken place in the secret cosmological lore transmitted in male initiation ceremonies among the Mountain Ok of Inner New Guinea and offers a new way of explaining how cultural change occurs Professor Barth focuses in particular on accounting for the local variations in cosmological traditions that exist among the Ok people who otherwise share similar material and ecological conditions and similar languages Rejecting existing anthropological theory as inadequate for explaining this Professor Barth constructs a new model of the mechanisms of change based on his close empirical observation of the processes of cultural transmission This model emphasises the role of individual creativity in cultural reproduction and change and maintains that cosmologies can be adequately understood only if they are regarded as knowledge in the process of communication embedded in social organization rather than as fixed bodies of belief From the model he derives various theoretically grounded hypotheses regarding the probable courses of change that would be generated by such mechanisms He then goes on to show that these hypotheses fit the actual patterns of variation that are found among the Ok
