Shaping the Future of African American Film Monica White Ndounou,2014-04-29 In Hollywood we hear it s all about the money It s a ready explanation for why so few black films get made no crossover appeal no promise of a big payoff But what if the money itself is color coded What if the economics that governs film production is so skewed that no film by about or for people of color will ever look like a worthy investment unless it follows specific racial or gender patterns This Monica Ndounou shows us is precisely the case In a work as revealing about the culture of filmmaking as it is about the distorted economics of African American film Ndounou clearly traces the insidious connections between history content and cash in black films How does history come into it Hollywood s reliance on past performance as a measure of potential success virtually guarantees that historically underrepresented underfunded and undersold African American films devalue the future prospects of black films So the cycle continues as it has for nearly a century Behind the scenes the numbers are far from neutral Analyzing the onscreen narratives and off screen circumstances behind nearly two thousand films featuring African Americans in leading and supporting roles including such recent productions as Bamboozled Beloved and Tyler Perry s Diary of a Mad Black Woman Ndounou exposes the cultural and racial constraints that limit not just the production but also the expression and creative freedom of black films Her wide ranging analysis reaches into questions of literature language speech and dialect film images and narrative acting theater and film business practices production history and financing and organizational history By uncovering the ideology behind profit driven industry practices that reshape narratives by about and for people of color this provocative work brings to light existing limitations and possibilities for reworking stories and business practices in theater literature and film Horror at the Drive-In Gary D. Rhodes,2003-01-13 Drive in movie theaters and the horror films shown at them during the 1950s 60s and early 70s may be somewhat outdated but they continue to enthrall movie buffs today More than just fodder for the satirical cannons of Joe Bob Briggs and Mystery Science Theatre 3000 they appeal to knowledgeable fans and film scholars who understand their influence on American popular culture This book is a collection of eighteen essays by various scholars on the classic drive in horror film experience Those in Section One emphasize the roles of the drive in theater in the United States and its cultural cousin Australia Section Two examines how horror operated at the drive in the rhetoric used in coming attraction trailers horror film premieres at drive ins double features and the preproduction production and marketing of Last House on the Left Section Three addresses the effects of the Vietnam War and counter culture on The Texas Chainsaw Massacre and the Cold War on Cat Women of the Moon Section Four explores gender issues and sexuality two of the most common and most important subjects of horror film analysis Section Five covers drive in culture via Hush Hush Sweet Charlotte 2000 Maniacs and the films of Mario Bava Section Six investigates a variety of issues such as the drive in horror film s embrace of DNA the use of cinematic form to create a non Hollywood look in Wizard of Gore and the many different prints and running times of I Drink Your Blood

Ghost Channels Amy Lawrence,2022-03-08 Through American history often in times of crisis there have been periodic outbreaks of obsession with the paranormal Between 2004 and 2019 over six dozen documentary style series dealing with paranormal subject matter premiered on television in the United States Combining the stylistic traits of horror with earnest accounts of what are claimed to be actual events paranormal reality incorporates subject matter formerly characterized as occult or supernatural into the established category of reality TV Despite the high number of programs and their evident popularity paranormal reality television has to date received little critical attention Ghost Channels Paranormal Reality Television and the Haunting of Twenty First Century America provides an overview of the paranormal reality television genre its development and its place in television history Conducting in depth analyses of over thirty paranormal television series including such shows as Ghost Hunters Celebrity Ghost Stories and Long Island Medium author Amy Lawrence suggests these programs reveal much about Americans contemporary fears Through her close readings Lawrence asks What are these shows trying to tell us and What do they communicate about contemporary culture if we take them seriously and watch them closely Ridiculed by nearly everyone paranormal reality TV shows with their psychics ghost hunters and haunted houses provide unique insights into contemporary American culture Half horror half documentary realism these shows expose deep seated questions about class race gender the value of technology the failure of institutions and what it means to be American in the twenty first century The Encyclopedia of Fantastic Film R.
