Seeing and Understanding Granada ,1989      Enlightenment and Emancipation Susan Manning,Peter France,2006

The Enlightenment has been represented in radically opposing ways on the one hand as the throwing off of the chains of superstition custom and usurped authority on the other hand in the Romantic period but also more recently as what Michel Foucault termed the great confinement in which mind forged manacles imprison the free and irrational spirit The debate about the Enlightenment project remains a topical one which can still arouse fierce passions This collection of essays by distinguished scholars from various disciplines addresses the central question Was Enlightenment a force for emancipation Their responses working from within and frequently across the disciplinary lines of history political science economics music literature aesthetics art history and film reveal unsuspected connections and divergences even between well known figures and texts In their turn the essays suggest the need for further inquiry in areas that turn out to be very far from closed The volume considers major writings in unusual juxtaposition highlights new figures of importance and demonstrates familiar texts to embody strange implications Publisher's website      Seeing Spain and Morocco Edward Manuel Newman,1930
