social practices and urban environments culture infrastructures technologies and the politics of mobility The book introduces the concept of networked urban mobilities and lays out a research agenda for the future of mobility studies Each of the contributors represents a specific approach in the field and each article provides cutting edge theoretical and conceptual reflections on the topic Mobility here is understood as a heterogeneous phenomenon that shapes modern societies and cities by emerging in different dimensions as physical social cultural and digital mobilities Traces of a Mobile Field James R Faulconbridge, Allison Hui, 2017-10-02 This agenda setting collection critically reflects upon a decade of contributions to the social scientific mobilities turn in order to propose new trajectories for the future of this interdisciplinary research field The chapters are all exemplars of how the past decade of research has opened up new insights into the place of mobilities in societies They also highlight how attempts to look forward towards new conversations understandings and interventions in a mobile world will emerge from the transformations invoked by this field of research Authors foreground issues of power interdisciplinarity transformative technologies fragmented discourses and changing social processes whilst addressing automobility aeromobility tourism communications technologies urban infrastructures migration and emergencies As a whole the collection raises important questions about not only how understandings of mobilities are changing but also how the field of mobilities research is itself on the move The evocative empirical cases and provocative arguments in this book thus highlight the necessity of new concepts conversations methods empirical studies and interventions to address transformations in both the complex mobilities of social worlds and what is examined or taken for granted in mobilities research itself This book was originally published as a special issue of Mobilities It's World that Makes the Love Go Round Ken Geering, 1968 Danteum Karl T. Northwest China largely ignore the Muslim community in Hong Kong Islam and China's Hong Kong skillfully fills this gap and investigates how ethnic and Chinese speaking Muslims negotiate their identities and the increasing public attention to Islam in Hong Kong Examining a range of issues and challenges facing Muslims in Hong Kong this book focuses on the three different diasporic Muslim communities and reveals the city state's triple Islamic heritage and distinctive Islamic culture It begins with the transition from the colonial to the post colonial era and explores how this has impacted on the experiences of the Muslim diaspora and the ways this shift has compelled the community to adapt to Chinese nationalism whilst forging greater links with the Gulf Then with reference to the rise of new media and technology the book examines the heightened presence of Islam in the Chinese public sphere alongside the emergence of Chinese Islamic websites which have sought to balance transnational Muslim solidarity and sensitivity towards Chinese government's concern of external extremism Finally it concludes by investigating Hong Kong's growing awareness of the Muslim minorities demands for Islamic religious education and how this links with the city state's aspiration to become the new gateway for Islamic finance Indeed Wai Yip Ho posits that Hong Kong is now shifting from its role as the broker that bridged East and West during the Cold War to that of a new mediator between China and the Middle East Drawing on extensive ethnographic research this book thoughtfully charts a new area of inquiry and as such will be welcomed by students and scholars of Chinese studies Islamic studies Asian studies and ethnicity studies
