Segou Les Murailles De Terre:

Ségou - Tome 1 Maryse Condé, 2012-12-20 Ségou est un roman si riche et si divers qu'on ne le peut résumer. Il est la mesure et la mesure de ces terres du Sahel qui se tendent sous un ciel immense. Un grand souffle le parcourt et l'anime, c'est la mesure même de l'Afrique. Ségou, c'est la fin du XVIII<sup>e</sup> siècle entre Bamako et Tombouctou dans l'actuel Mali, un royaume qui tire sa puissance de la guerre. Ségou, on est animiste ou une religion conquérante se répand dans les pays du Niger, l'islam qui séduit les esprits et se les attache. De ce choc historique naissent les malheurs de Ségou et les déchirements de la famille de Dousika Traor. Les quatre fils de ce noble bambara proche du pouvoir royal connaissent des destins opposés et terribles en ce temps où se développent d'un côté la guerre sainte et de l'autre la traite des Noirs. Ainsi acteurs et victimes de l'histoire, il y a les hommes. Mais plus profondément, il y a les femmes libres ou esclaves, fières et passionnées qui mieux que leurs poux et mères connaissent les chemins de la vie. Prix Nobel alternatif de littérature.

Meeting, 1998 This book takes on the challenge: What roles can and should African literature play in Africa's development? From a variety of critical stances and perspectives, the concepts of literature and of development are theorized to include and extend beyond inherited concepts and boundaries in the Humanities and the Social Sciences and thus to engage people's everyday life experiences. Approaches to the question of Africa's literature and its development range from African feminism or feminist practices to the economics and politics of public access to knowledge, information and literature to communication networks and use of African languages in national education policies. Twenty essays constitute the volume's four parts which focus on: Diverse conceptualizations of African literature and development; Critical studies of specific writers' works linking their artistic development with issues and events of social or political development; A philosophical consideration of the development's relationship to literature; Models of activist pedagogy in African literature. The structure of this volume is encompassed by two roundtable transcriptions with writers and critics for whom African literature and Africa's development is part of a larger struggle to create new space in which to thrive and envision new life inside and outside the academy. Postcolonial Echoes and Evocations Derek O'Regan, 2006 This work is a sedulous enquiry into the intertextual practice of Maryse Condé in Moi Tituba sorcière noire de Salem 1986 Traversée de la mangrove 1989 and La Migration des coeurs 1995 the texts of her oeuvre in which the practice is the most elaborate and discursively significant Arguing that no satisfactory reading of these novels is possible without due intertextual reference and interpretation the author analyses salient intertexts which flesh out and in the case of Traversée de la mangrove shed considerable new light on meaning and authorial discourse Whether it be in respect of canonical William Faulkner Emily Brontë Nathaniel Hawthorne postcolonial Aimé Césaire Jacques Roumain or other Anne Hébert Saint John Perse writers the author explores Condé's intertextual choices not only around such themes as identity resistance in tissage and errance but also through the dialectics of race culture male female centre periphery and past present As both textual symbol and enactment of an increasingly creolised world intertextuality constitutes a pervasively powerful force in Condé's writing the elucidation of which is indispensable to evaluating the significance of this unique fictional oeuvre

Eating Well, Reading Well Nicole Simek, 2008-01-01 While rejecting a conception of literature as moral philosophy or a device for imparting particular morals to the reader through exemplary characters and plots Maryse Condé has displayed throughout her writing career a strong valorization of literature as ethical critique This study examines her singular approach to literary commitment as a critical reworking of aesthetic models and modes of interpretation Focusing on four dominant problematics in Condé's work history and globalization in La Belle Créole and Moi Tituba sorcière noire de Salem intertextuality and reception in La migration des coeurs and Calanque trauma and subjectivity in En attendant le bonheur and Desirada community and ethics in Traversée de la mangrove and Histoire de la femme cannibale this analysis proposes to elucidate how and to what ends Condé engages and alters approaches to reading staging the problematic yet pragmatic need to read well This hermeneutic imperative foregrounds the need to engage with texts to cannibalize texts while recognizing their fundamental opacity and inexhaustibility their resistance to the reader's interpretive habits

Exhibiting Slavery Vivian Nun Halloran, 2009-10-23 Exhibiting Slavery examines the ways in which Caribbean postmodern historical novels about slavery written in Spanish English and French function as virtual museums simultaneously showcasing and curating a collection of primary documents within their pages As Vivian Nun Halloran attests these novels highlight narrative objects extraneous to their plot such as excerpts from the work of earlier writers allusions to specific works of art the uniforms of maroon armies assembled in preparation of a military offensive and accounts of slavery's negative impact on the traditional family unit in Africa or the United States In doing so they demand that their readers go beyond the pages of the books to sort out fact from fiction and consider what relationship these featured objects have to slavery and to contemporary life The self-referential function of these texts produces a museum effect that simultaneously teaches and entertains their readers prompting them to continue their own research beyond and outside the text

The Daughter's Return Caroline Rody, 2001 The Daughter's Return offers a close analysis of an emerging genre in African American and Caribbean fiction produced by women writers who make imaginative returns to their ancestral pasts Considering some of the defining texts of contemporary fiction Toni Morrison's Beloved Jean Rhys's Wide Sargasso Sea and Michelle Cliff's No Telephone to Heaven Rody discusses their common inclusion of a daughter who returns to the site of her people's founding trauma of slavery through memory or magic Rody treats these texts as allegorical expressions of the desire of writers newly emerging into cultural authority to reclaim their difficult inheritance and finds a counter plot of heroines encounters with women of other racial and ethnic groups running through these works

Rewriting the Return to Africa Anne M.

François, 2011-08-16 Rewriting The Return to Africa Voices of Francophone Caribbean Women Writers examines the ways Guadeloupean women writers Maryse Condé Simone Schwarz Bart and Myriam Warner Vieyra demystify the theme of the return to Africa as opposed to the masculinist version by Négritude male writers from the 1930s to 1960s Négritude a cultural and literary movement drew much of its strength from the idea of a mythical or cultural reconnection with the African past allegorized as a mother figure In contrast these women writers of the post colonial era who are to large extent heirs of Négritude differ sharply from their male counterparts in their representation of Africa In their novels the continent is not represented as a propitious mother figure but a disappointing father figure This study argues that these women writers subversion of the metaphorical figure of Africa and its transformation is tied to their gender The women novelists are indeed critical of a female allegorization of the land that is reminiscent of a colonial or nationalist project and a simplistic representation of motherhood that does not reflect the complexities of the Diaspora's relation to origins and identity Unlike the primary male writers of the Négritude movement they carefully gendered the notion of return by choosing female protagonists who made their way back to the Motherland in search of identity I argue that writing is a more suitable space for the female subject seeking identity because it allows her to have a voice and become subject rather than object as that was the case with the Negritude writers. The women writers shattering of the image of Mother Africa and subsequently that of Father Africa highlights the complex relationship between Africa and the Diaspora from a female point of view. It shifts the identity quest of the characters towards the Caribbean which emerges as the real problematic mother, a multi-faceted fragmented figure that reflects the constitutive clash that occurred in the archipelago between Europe, Africa and the Americas where the issues of race, gender, class, culture, ethnicity, history and language are very complex.
