Mental Representation And Consciousness:

Mental Representation and Consciousness E. Marbach, 2013-03-14 conditions of the possibility of Experience must mean nothing else than all that which lies immanently in the essence of Experience and therefore belongs to it indispensably The essence of Experience that phenomenological analysis of Experience elucidates is the same as the possibility of Experience and all that which is determined in the essence in the possibility of Experience is eo ipso 1 condition of the possibility of Experience Through acquaintance with Husserl's work then I developed my way of understanding what according to their very possibility lies in conscious activities of mentally representing something for example by imagining or remembering it or by viewing it in a picture all these understood as forms of modified perception As Husserl himself made clear such reflective and descriptive analyses of the mental activities according to their very possibility are carried out regardless of the way they have actually come to be However I was also interested in developmental questions especially with regard to the activity of imagining Hence I turned to cognitive developmental psychology in order to get acquainted with the necessary empirical material Moreover I conducted a pilot study with young children that I had conceived according to phenomenologically relevant aspects concerning the difference and yet inner connection of the activities of imagining and viewing 2 pictures

Mental Representation and Self-consciousness Gottfried Vosgerau, 2009 Ten Lectures on Cognition, Mental Representation, and the Self Robert D. Rupert, 2023-05-01 These ten lectures articulate a distinctive vision of the structure and workings of the human mind drawing from research on embodied cognition as well as from historically more entrenched approaches to the study of human thought On the author's view multifarious materials co contribute to the production of virtually all forms of human behavior rendering implausible the idea that human action is best explained by processes taking place in an autonomous mental arena those in the conscious mind or occurring at the so called personal level Rather human behavior issues from a widely varied though nevertheless integrated collection of states and mechanisms

the integrated nature of which is determined by a form of clustering in the components contributions to the production of intelligent behavior This package of resources the cognitive system is the human self Among its elements the cognitive system includes a vast number of representations many subsets of which share their content On the author s view redundancy of content itself constitutes an important explanatory quantity the greater the extent of content redundancy among representations that co contribute to the production of an instance of behavior the more fluid the behavior In the course of developing and applying these views the author addresses questions about the content of mental representations extended cognition the value of knowledge and group minds

The Epistemic Role of Consciousness Declan

Smithies,2019-08-02 What is the role of consciousness in our mental lives Declan Smithies argues here that consciousness is essential to explaining how we can acquire knowledge and justified belief about ourselves and the world around us On this view unconscious beings cannot form justified beliefs and so they cannot know anything at all Consciousness is the ultimate basis of all knowledge and epistemic justification Smithies builds a sustained argument for the epistemic role of phenomenal consciousness which draws on a range of considerations in epistemology and the philosophy of mind His position combines two key claims The first is phenomenal mentalism which says that epistemic justification is determined by the phenomenally individuated facts about your mental states The second is accessibilism which says that epistemic justification is luminously accessible in the sense that you re always in a position to know which beliefs you have epistemic justification to hold Smithies integrates these two claims into a unified theory of epistemic justification which he calls phenomenal accessibilism The book is divided into two parts which converge on this theory of epistemic justification from opposite directions Part 1 argues from the bottom up by drawing on considerations in the philosophy of mind about the role of consciousness in mental representation perception cognition and introspection Part 2 argues from the top down by arguing from general principles in epistemology about the nature of epistemic justification These mutually reinforcing arguments form the basis for a unified theory of the epistemic role of phenomenal consciousness one that bridges the gap between epistemology and philosophy of mind nature of conscious experience from a philosophical psychological and biological perspective Consciousness and Intentionality: Models and Modalities of Attribution D. Fisette, 2013-03-14 Philosophy of mind has been one of the most active fields in philosophy for the past three decades One of the most significant factors in the development of this discipline has been the emergence of cognitive science and the interest philosophers have taken in the empirical study of mind Another equally important factor has been the naturalistic turn brought about by W V Quine His proposal that normative epistemology be replaced by empirical psychology marked a radical departure from the Fregean anti psychologism and apriorism that had characterized much of the analytic tradition in philosophy But while Quine's program of naturalization called the attention of philosophers to empirical psychology his conception of psychology was inspired by an austere behaviorism which shunned the mentalism of intentional psychology in the Brentanian and phenomenological tradition Thus while agreeing with Brentano that the intentional idiom could not be reduced to that of the natural sciences Quine argued that it is of a piece with the indeterminacy of translation Most contributors of this collection share the cognitivist stance and believe that the mind needs to be explained rather than eliminated Three main questions are actually confronting current philosophers of mind each addressed by one or another of the contributors to the present collection Pre-reflective Consciousness Sofia Miguens, Gerhard Preyer, Clara Morando, 2015-10-16 Pre-reflective Consciousness Sartre and Contemporary Philosophy of Mind delves into the relationship between the current analytical debates on consciousness and the debates that took place within continental philosophy in the twentieth century and in particular around the time of Sartre and within his seminal works Examining the return of the problem of subjectivity in philosophy of mind and the idea that phenomenal consciousness could not be reduced to functional or cognitive properties this volume includes twenty two unique contributions from leading scholars in the field Asking questions such as Why we should think that self consciousness is non reflective Is subjectivity first personal Does consciousness necessitate self awareness Do we need pre reflective self consciousness Are ego disorders in psychosis a dysfunction of pre reflective self awareness How does the Cartesian duality between body and mind fit into Sartre's conceptions of consciousness Kant, Science, and Human Nature Robert Hanna, 2006-10-19 Robert Hanna argues for the importance of Kant's theories of the epistemological metaphysical and practical foundations of the exact sciences relegated to the dustbin of the history of philosophy for most of the 20th century Hanna's earlier book Kant and the Foundations of Analytic Philosophy OUP 2001 explores basic conceptual and historical connections between Immanuel Kant's 18th century Critical Philosophy and the tradition of mainstream analytic philosophy from Frege to Quine The central topics of the analytic tradition in its early and middle periods were meaning and necessity But the central theme of mainstream analytic philosophy after 1950 is scientific naturalism which holds to use Wilfrid Sellars's apt phrase that science is the measure of all things This type of naturalism is explicitly reductive Kant Science and Human Nature has two aims one negative and one positive Its negative aim is to develop a Kantian critique of scientific naturalism But its positive and more fundamental aim is to work out the elements of a humane realistic and nonreductive Kantian account of the foundations of the exact sciences According to this account the essential properties of the natural world are directly knowable through human sense perception empirical realism and practical reason is both explanatorily and ontologically prior to theoretical reason the primacy of the practical

Subjective Consciousness Uriah Kriegel, 2009-08-06 Some mental events are conscious some are unconscious What is the difference between the two Uriah Kriegel offers an answer His aim is a comprehensive theory of the features that all and only conscious mental events have The key idea is that consciousness arises when self awareness and world awareness are integrated in the right way Conscious mental events differ from unconscious ones in that whatever else they may represent they always also represent themselves and do so in a very specific way Subjective Consciousness is a fascinating new move forward towards a full understanding of the mind

Disturbed Consciousness Rocco J. Gennaro, 2024-05-28 Essays defend discuss and critique specific theories of consciousness with respect to various psychopathologies In Disturbed Consciousness philosophers and other scholars examine various psychopathologies in light of specific philosophical theories of consciousness The contributing authors some of them discussing or defending their own theoretical work consider not only how a theory of consciousness can account for a specific psychopathological condition but also how the characteristics of a psychopathology might challenge such a theory Thus one essay defends the higher order thought HOT theory of consciousness against the charge that it cannot account for somatoparaphrenia a delusion in which one denies ownership of a limb Another essay argues that various attempts to explain away such anomalies within subjective theories of consciousness fail Other essays consider such topics as the application of a model of unified consciousness to cases of brain bisection and dissociative identity disorder prefrontal and parietal underconnectivity in autism and other psychopathologies self deception and the self model theory of subjectivity schizophrenia and the vehicle theory of consciousness and a shift in
