Cinema Approaching Reality Victor Fan, 2015-03-20 In Cinema Approaching Reality Victor Fan brings together for the first time Chinese and Euro American film theories and theorists to engage in critical debates about film in Shanghai and Hong Kong from the 1920s through 1940s His point of departure is a term popularly employed by Chinese film critics during this period bizhen often translated as lifelike but best understood as approaching reality What these Chinese theorists mean in Fan's reading is that the cinematographic image is not a form of total reality but it can allow spectators to apprehend an effect as though they had been there at the time when an event actually happened Fan suggests that the phrase approaching reality can help to renegotiate an aporia blind spot that influential French film critic Andr  Bazin wrestled with the cinematographic image is a trace of reality yet reality is absent in the cinematographic image and the cinema makes present this absence as it reactivates the passage of time Fan enriches Bazinian cinematic ontology with discussions on cinematic reality in Republican China and colonial Hong Kong putting Western theorists from Bazin and Kracauer to Baudrillard Agamben and Deleuze into dialogue with their Chinese counterparts The result is an eye opening exploration of the potentialities in approaching cinema anew especially in the photographic materiality following its digital turn

Building a New China in Cinema Laikwan Pang, 2002-05-01 Building a New China in Cinema introduces English readers for the first time to one of the most exciting left wing cinema traditions in the world This unique book explores the history ideology and aesthetics of China's left wing cinema movement a quixotic film culture that was as political as commercial as militant as sensationalist Originating in the 1930s it marked the first systematic intellectual involvement in Chinese cinema In this era of turmoil and idealism the movement's films were characterized by fantasies of heroism intertwined with the inescapable spell of impotency thus exposing the contradictions of the filmmakers underlying ideology as their political and artistic agendas alternately fought against or catered to the taste and viewing habits of a popular audience Political cinema became a commercially successful industry resulting in a film culture that has never been replicated Drawing on detailed archival research Pang demonstrates that this cinema movement was a product of the era's social economic and political discourses The author offers a close analysis of many rarely seen films richly illustrated with over eighty stills collected from the Beijing Film Archive With its original conceptual approach and rich use of primary sources this book will be of interest not only to scholars and fans of Chinese cinema but to those who study the relationship between cinema and modernity

The End of St. Petersburg Vance Kepley, 2003-06-27 Pudovkin's epic is the most complex work of his brilliant career The film was made to commemorate the Bolshevik Revolution's tenth anniversary and it is a gripping recreation of the events of 1917 as well as the conditions and events that led to revolution It is a remarkable interweaving of subplots motifs and historical references realized through a mix of cinematic techniques which Vance Kepley Jr traces and clarifies in his analysis of the film He explores the production circumstances that shaped the film and its reception establishing its key place in both Russian and world cinema Pudovkin's Cinema of the 1920s Panayiota Mini, 2002

Subject Guide to Books in Print, 1993 Literature into Film Linda Costanzo Cahir, 2014-12-24 For most people film adaptation of literature can be summed up in one sentence The movie wasn't as good as the book This volume undertakes to show the reader that not only is this evaluation not always true but sometimes it is intrinsically unfair Movies based on literary works while often billed as adaptations are more correctly termed translations A director and his actors translate the story from the written page into a visual presentation Depending on the form of the original text and the chosen method of translation certain inherent difficulties and pitfalls are associated with this change of medium So often our reception of a book based movie has more to do with our expectations and reading of the literature than with the job that the movie production did or did not do Avoiding these biases and fairly evaluating any particular literary based film takes an awareness of certain factors Written with a formalistic rather than historical approach this work presents a comprehensive guide to literature based films establishing a contextual and theoretical basis to help the reader understand the relationships between such movies and the original texts as well as the reader's own individual responses to these productions To this end it focuses on recognizing and appreciating the inherent difficulties encountered when basing a film on a literary work be it a novel novella play or short story Individual chapters deal with the specific issues and difficulties raised by each of these genres providing an overview backed up by case studies of specific film translations Films and literary works receiving this treatment include The Unbearable Lightness of Being The Manchurian Candidate 1962 Lady Windemere's Fan by Oscar Wilde and Shakespeare's Henry V Interspersed throughout the text are suggestions for activities the film student or buff can use to enhance his or her appreciation and understanding of the films Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here
