, 1974 Honor and Revenge: A Theory of Punishment Whitley R.P. Kaufman, 2012-08-28 This book addresses the problem of justifying the institution of criminal punishment It examines the paradox of retribution the fact that we cannot seem to reject the intuition that punishment is morally required and yet we cannot even after two thousand years of philosophical debate find a morally legitimate basis for inflicting harm on wrongdoers The book comes at a time when a new abolitionist movement has arisen a movement that argues that we should give up the search for justification and accept that punishment is morally unjustifiable and should be discontinued immediately This book however proposes a new approach to the retributive theory of punishment arguing that it should be understood in its traditional formulation that has been long forgotten or dismissed that punishment is essentially a defense of the honor of the victim Properly understood this can give us the possibility of a legitimate moral justification for the institution of punishment

Punishment & Sentencing Mirko Bagieric, 2001-07 Sentencing is the most important area of law yet ironically it is also arguably the least coherent This book suggests a way of introducing principle into sentencing by bridging the gap between the philosophical justification for punishment and sentencing law and practice

Mental Illness: Law and Public Policy B.A. Brody, H. Tristram Engelhardt Jr., 2012-12-06 This volume developed from and around a series of six lectures sponsored by Rice University and the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston in the Fall of 1976 Though these lectures on the concepts of mental health mental illness and personal responsibility and the social treatment of the mentally ill were given to general audiences in Houston and Galveston they were revised and expanded to produce six extensive formal essays by Dan Brock Jules Coleman Joseph Margolis Michael Moore Jerome Neu and Rolf Sartorius The five remaining contributions by Daniel Creson Corinna Delkeskamp Edmund Erde James Speer and Stephen Wear were in various ways engendered by the debates occasioned by the original six lectures In fact the majority of the last five contributions emerged from informal discussions occasioned by the original lecture series The result is an interlocking set of essays that address the law and public policy insofar as they bear on the treatment of the mentally ill special attention being given to the definition of mental illness generally and in the law to the issues of the bearing of mental incompetence in cases of criminal and civil liability and to the issue of involuntary commitment for the purpose of treatment or for institutional care There is as well a critical defense of Thomas Szasz's radical proposal that mental illnesses are best understood as problems in living not as diseases

Punishment Antony Duff, 1993 This philosophical work on punishment includes coverage of retributivism moral education and reform consequentialism and rights sentencing and how to make the punishment fit the crime abolitionism and sociological perspectives
