Nellie L. McClung, 2014-12-03 wandered over the river to the other bank feeling sure they would find grass there only to find the snow over everything and not even a little rosebush showing its head Then it was that the old cow an acknowledged leader of the herd who bore the name of the Broncho on account of her wildness her glaring red eyes and her branching horns with an angry toss of her head to shake the water from her eyes lifted her voice in one long angry rolling bellow that seemed to startle the whole herd It had in it defiance and determination Like the leading spirit among the leprous men who sat at the gate of Samaria the Broncho gathered up the feeling of The Canadian National Record for Swine , 1913

Annual Report - Alberta Agriculture , 1926 The Next Instalment Wendy Roy, 2019-11-28 What happens next That was the question asked of early twentieth century authors Nellie L McClung L M Montgomery and Mazo de la Roche whose stories and novels appeared serially and kept readers and publishers in a state of anticipation Each author answered through the writing and dissemination of further instalments McClung s Pearlre Watson trilogy 1908 1921 Montgomery s Anne of Green Gables books 1908 1939 and de la Roche s Jalna novels 1927 1960 were read avidly not just as sequels but as serials in popular and literary newspapers and magazines A number of the books were also adapted to stage film and television The Next Instalment argues that these three Canadian women writers all born in the same decade of the late nineteenth century were influenced by early twentieth century publication marketing and reading practices to become heavily invested in the cultural phenomenon of the continuing story A close look at their serials sequels and adaptations reveals that rather than existing as separate cultural productions each is part of a cultural and material continuum that encourages repeated consumption through development and extension of the originary story This work considers the effects that each mode of dissemination of a narrative has on the other Priorsford Anna Masterton Buchan, 2022-08-01 In Priorsford Anna Masterton Buchan weaves a rich tapestry of life in a fictional Scottish village exploring themes of community resilience and the nuanced threads of human relationships The narrative unfolds with a charming and vivid prose style that evokes the picturesque landscape of Scotland imbuing the story with a sense of place that becomes a character in its own right Set against the backdrop of early 20th century Scotland Buchan s work reflects the societal changes of the era capturing the essence of rural life with a blend of humor and poignant observation Anna Masterton Buchan a member of the storied Buchan literary family drew on her deep connection to Scottish culture and the complexity of its social fabric Growing up in a literate environment influenced by the works of her brother John Buchan and her family s dedication to community she sought to portray the individuality and spirit of the Scottish people Her intimate knowledge of village life and her empathy for the characters she depicts allow Priorsford to resonate with authenticity and depth Priorsford is a compelling read for those intrigued by the interplay of personal and communal narratives within a pastoral setting Buchan s keen insights and
