Pursuing Melville 1940 198:

Pursuing Melville, 1940-1980 Merton M. Sealts, 1982 Pursuing Melville collects fourteen representative chapters and essays out of nearly fifty pieces written between 1940 and 1980 by this influential Melville scholar drawing also on his extensive correspondence of those years concerning Melville and Melvilleans The selections range from a previously unpublished graduate seminar paper of 1940 through later articles and books to an authoritative study of Melville and the Platonic tradition composed especially for this volume Presented chronologically these writings reflect not only the development of Professor Sealts's own thinking but also the direction taken by Melville scholarship generally over a period of forty years The book conveys its author's evident love of his subject and the enthusiasm with which he has shared his findings in his classroom and in his publications A variety of readers can consult it with pleasure and profit those making their first acquaintance with Melville and his works more advanced students who are learning the methodology of literary study and those scholars who deal professionally with American literature American literary scholarship and the cultural history of both the nineteenth and the twentieth centuries As his Preface observes Professor Sealts has been an explorer of five recurrent themes Melville's reading first in philosophy and then in general literature his shorter fiction from his magazine writing of the 1850s through Billy Budd Sailor the fruit of his last years his three seasons of lecturing between 1857 and 1860 his relations with certain relatives friends and early biographers and along with all the rest his distinctive temperament and personality which are as enigmatic and alluring as the books he wrote

Exiled Royalties : Melville and the Life We Imagine Department of English Washington University Robert Milder Professor, St Louis, 2005-12-09 Exiled Royalties is a literary biographical study of the course of Melville's career from his experience in Polynesia through his retirement from the New York Custom House and his composition of three late volumes of poetry and Billy Budd Sailor Conceived separately but narratively and thematically intertwined the ten essays in the book are rooted in a belief that Melville's work as Charles Olson said must be left in his own life which for Milder means primarily his spiritual psychological and vocational life Four of the ten essays deal with Melville's life and work after his novelistic career ended with the The Confidence Man in 1857 The range of issues addressed in the essays includes Melville's attitudes toward society history and politics from broad ideas about democracy and the course of Western civilization to responses to particular events like the Astor Place Riots and the Civil War his feeling about sexuality and throughout the book about religion his relationship to past and present writers especially to the phases of Euro American Romanticism post Romanticism and nascent Modernism his relationship to his wife Lizzie to Hawthorne and to his father all of whom figured in the crisis that made for Pierre The title essay Exiled Royalties takes its origin from Ishmael's account of the larger darker deeper part of Ahab Melville's mythic projection of a larger darker deeper part of himself How to live nobly in spiritual exile to be godlike in the perceptible absence of God was a lifelong preoccupation for Melville who in lieu of positive belief transposed the drama of his spiritual life to literature The ways in which this impulse expressed itself through Melville's forty five year career interweaving itself with his personal life and the life of the nation and shaping both the matter and manner of his work is the unifying subject of Exiled Royalties Herman Melville's Malcolm Letter Hennig Cohen, Donald Yannella, 1992 The Malcolm Letter was written by Melville in 1849 on the birth of his son This letter is one of thirty six to be retrieved since the publication of The Letters of Herman Melville 1960 and has earned a place in the New York Public Library's Gansevoort Lansing Collection Addressed to Melville's brother the letter entices critics to read it on several levels It reveals Melville's serious consideration of his own father's influence on his upbringing as he anticipates undertaking the role of father himself It is not a literary work but a deeply personal outpouring distinguished by dark underpinnings barely hidden by his light hearted tone In a bit of dramatic irony Melville reflects on the responsibility looming ahead of him as the reader notes the tragedy that Melville cannot possibly foresee his son Malcolm's suicide eighteen years later Cohen's and Yannella's careful study relives for the reader this and other events which shaped the clannish Melville family history They also show how the author's struggle with these pressures are manifested in his writing This volume is published in cooperation with the New York Public Library

Cast by Means of Figures Bryan Collier Short, 1992 The power of Herman Melville's fiction owes much to his literary voice a protean speaking presence brought to life by innovative and masterful rhetoric In this book Bryan C Short explores the evolution of that voice through close analysis of Melville's works the deft application of literary and rhetorical theory and new biographical insights Described by the author as a rhetorical biography Cast by Means of Figures presents Melville as a self consciously experimental writer whose literary development was shaped more by rhetorical concerns than by philosophical psychological or social influences Short begins with an examination of Melville's early immersion in the theory of his day especially that of the widely popular Scottish rhetorician Hugh Blair He then analyzes each of Melville's major fictional writings from Typee to Billy Budd tracing the structural force and interplay of Melville's key figurative devices He shows how each work either builds on or departs dialectically from its predecessors in ways that explain the complex and shifting aesthetic of Melville's fiction In the final chapter a coda entitled Tropics of Fiction Short reviews theories of figurative language from classical times to the present and details his own theoretical synthesis National Union Catalog
