Memory Horse:

The Memory Horse Troon Harrison, 2001-05 The village is holding a special auction to save the local carousel People are bidding on the old horses and taking responsibility for refurbishing them Sarah knows money is scarce but her grandfather bids on Starflyer the horse that his late wife enjoyed riding in the summers of their youth As grandfather and granddaughter paint the horse they use symbols of the woman they loved ribbons that she won at the fall fair stamps for the letters she wrote to soldiers during the war and most importantly a heart around her name Although the next generations to ride Starflyer will never know her painting the horse is a perfect way to celebrate and to remember her Memory and Understanding Renate Bartsch, 2005-01-01 This book treats memory and understanding on two levels on the phenomenological level of experience on which a theory of dynamic conceptual semantics is built and on the neuro connectionist level which supports the capacities of concept formation remembering and understanding A neuro connectionist circuit architecture of a constructive memory is developed in which understanding and remembering are modelled in accordance with the constituent structures of a dynamic conceptual semantics Consciousness emerges by circuit activation between conceptual indicators and episodic indices with the sensory motor emotional and proprioceptual areas This theory of concept formation remembering and understanding is applied to Proust's A la recherche du temps perdu with special attention to the author's excursions into philosophical and aesthetic issues Under this perspective Proust's work can be seen as an artistic exploration into our capacity of understanding whereby the unconscious the memory is exteriorized in consciousness by presenting the experienced episodes in the conceptual order of similarity and contiguity through our capacity of concept formation Series A Blood Memory Dayton Duncan, Ken Burns, 2023-10-10 The epic story of the buffalo in America from prehistoric times to today a moving and beautifully illustrated work of natural history inspired by the PBS series American Buffalo The American buffalo our nation's official mammal is an improbable shaggy beast that has found itself at the center of many of our most mythic and sometimes heartbreaking tales The largest land animals in the Western Hemisphere they are survivors of a mass extinction that erased ancient species that were even larger For nearly 10 000 years they evolved alongside Native people who weaved them into every aspect of daily life relied on them for food clothing and shelter and revered them as equals Newcomers to the continent found the buffalo fascinating at first but in time they came to consider them a hindrance to a young nation's expansion And in the space of only a decade they were slaughtered by the millions for their hides with their carcasses left to rot on the prairies Then teetering on the brink of disappearing from the face of the earth they would be rescued by a motley collection of Americans each of them driven by different and sometimes competing impulses This is the rich and complicated story of a young republic's heedless rush to conquer a continent but also of the dawn of the conservation era a story of America at its very best and worst Recovering Memory Hedda Friberg, Irene Gilsenan Nordin, Lene Yding Pedersen, 2009-03-26 Various ways of collecting storing and recovering memories have been the focus of the most recent joint research project carried out by a group of Irish Studies scholars all based in the Nordic countries and members of the Nordic Irish Studies Network NISN The result of the project Recovering Memory Irish Representations of Past and Present is a collection of essays which examines the theme of memory in Irish literature and culture against the theoretical background of the philosophical discourse of modernity Offering a wide range of perspectives this volume examines a plurality of representations past and present of memory both public and private and the intersection between collective memory and individual in modern Ireland Also explored is the relation between memory and identity national and private as well as questions of subjectivity and the construction of the self Given Ireland's tragic past and its long history of colonisation it is inevitable that various aspects of memory in terms of nationality post colonialism and politics also have bearing on this study The volume is divided into five sections each of which examines one broadly defined aspect of memory The introductory section focuses on memory and history and is followed by sections on memory and autobiography place identity and memory in the work of novelist John Banville Within each section the individual writers engage in a fruitful dialogue with each other and with the approaches of such theorists as Arendt Husserl Merleau Ponty Ricoeur and Baudrillard

Myth and Memory John Sutton Lutz, 2011-11-01 The moment of contact between two peoples two alien societies marks the opening of an epoch and the joining of histories What if it had happened differently The stories that indigenous peoples and Europeans tell about their first encounters with one another are enormously valuable historical records but their relevance extends beyond the past Settler populations and indigenous peoples the world over are engaged in negotiations over legitimacy power and rights These struggles cannot be dissociated from written and oral accounts of contact moments which not only shape our collective sense of history but also guide our understanding of current events For all their importance contact stories have not been systematically or critically evaluated as a genre Myth and Memory explores the narratives of indigenous and newcomer populations from New Zealand and across North America from the Lost Colony of Roanoke on the Atlantic seaboard of the United States to the Pacific Northwest and as far as Sitka Alaska It illustrates how indigenous and explorer accounts of the same meetings reflect fundamentally different systems of thought and focuses on the cultural misunderstandings embedded in these stories The contributors discuss the contemporary relevance production and performance of Aboriginal and European contact narratives and introduce new tools for interpreting the genre They argue that we are still in the contact zone striving to understand the meaning of contact and the relationship between indigenous and settler populations
