Public Management The New Zealand Model:

Public Management Jonathan Boston,1996 This work describes and critically assesses the merits of the new model of public management in New Zealand It examines the model s theoretical origins and identifies the administrative principles and doctrines upon which it is based It also explores how the new model operates in practice how its outcomes compare with those intended and what impact it has had both positive and negative on the governance of New Zealand Evaluation in Public-sector Reform Hellmut Wollmann,2003-09-26 Articles from internationally renowned scholars highlighting the connections between public sector reform and evaluation The Ashgate Research Companion to New Public Management Tom Christensen,Per Lægveid,2016-03-23 This collection provides a comprehensive state of the art review of current research in the field of New Public Management NPM reform Aimed primarily at a readership with a special interest in contemporary public sector reforms The Ashgate Research Companion to New Public Management offers a refreshing and up to date analysis of key issues of modern administrative reforms This volume comprises a general introduction and twenty nine chapters divided into six thematic sessions each with chapters ranging across a variety of crucial topics in the field of New Public Management reforms and beyond The principal themes to be addressed are The New Public Management Michael Barzelay,2001-02-15 How policymakers should guide manage and oversee public bureaucracies is a question that lies at the heart of contemporary debates about government and public administration In their search for better systems of public management reformers have looked in particular at the United Kingdom Australia and New Zealand These countries are exemplars of the New Public Management a term used to describe distinctive new themes styles and patterns of public service management Calling for public management to become a vibrant field of public policy this valuable book consolidates recent work on the New Public Management and provides a basis for improving research and policy debate on managing public bureaucracies A copublication with the Russell Sage Foundation New Zealand Under MMP Jonathan Boston,1996 Prepared as part of a three year research project begun in mid 1995 based at the Victoria University of Wellington and known as The New Zealand political change project the impact of electoral system change in a small democracy P x

Integrating new values into Mongolian public management Badarch, Kherlen,2014-02-18 This dissertation explores the socio cultural and institutional environment of the public sector organizations of Mongolia that have strong influence on current public administration reform results This study applies the Cultural theory and Value theory The strong hierarchy favoring rule bounded behavior and collectivism fatalism accepting an authority as inevitable and uncontrollable and individualism wishing to have control over own actions are the types of culture common in Mongolian public sector organizations Accordingly Mongolian public sector employees transcending their selfish interests emphasize the well being of others protection of order harmony in relations life safety and stability Then self direction values with emphases on independent thought and action and creativity are important for them This socio cultural context has great implication for work behavior of public employees for their action to implement the reform policies in government organizations Thus the institutional leadership which produces and protects values becomes essential for introducing changes in the existing intuitional environment Transcending New Public Management Per Laegreid,2017-03-02 Following on from the success of the editors previous book New Public Management The Transformation of Ideas and Practice which examined the public reform process up to the end of the last decade this new volume draws on the previous knowledge both theoretically and empirically It examines and debates the post new public management reform development in Denmark Norway Sweden Australia and New Zealand The ideal follow up to the previous volume this book includes many of the same contributors in addition to some fresh voices and is a must for anyone looking for an integrated framework of analysis Comprehensive and analytical it is an important contribution to the study of public administration and particularly to the reform of public management The Global Public Management Revolution Donald F. Kettl,2006-05-24 Over the last quarter century governments around the world have launched ambitious efforts to reform how they manage their programs Citizens have demanded smaller cheaper more effective governments They have also asked for more programs and better services To resolve this paradox governments have experimented with scores of ideas to be more productive improve performance and reduce costs In this new edition of The Global Public Management Revolution Donald F Kettl charts the basic models of reform that are being employed worldwide Reviewing the standard strategies and tactics behind these reforms Kettl identifies six common core ideas the search for greater productivity more public reliance on private markets a stronger orientation toward service more decentralization from national to subnational governments increased capacity to devise and track public policy and tactics to enhance accountability for results Kettl predicts that reform and reinvention will likely become mantras for governments of all stripes Ultimately this strategy means coupling the reform impulse with governance government s increasingly important relationship with civil society and the institutions that shape modern life Public Policy and Governance Frontiers in New Zealand Evan Berman,Girol Karacaoglu,2020-07-10 New Zealand is widely regarded as a leader in public policy and governance reforms and innovations being an early adopted of New Public Management a leader in e government and transparency Discussing reforms including those in policy areas such as well being sustainability environmental management agriculture and indigenous development Targeting Commitment Rodney Scott,Ross Boyd,2022-03-08 New Zealand s deceptively simple but effective program to improve public services New Zealand has long been considered at the forefront of public administration experimenting with new ways of organizing and delivering public services Even so successive New Zealand governments had mixed results from using traditional public management tools to lift the performance of the public service and address persistent problems that required multi agency action In 2012 the government decided to try something different As part of a reform package called Better Public Services the government challenged the public service to organize itself around achieving just ten results that had proven resistant to previous interventions The plan was deceptively simple set ambitious targets and publicly report on progress every six months hold small groups of public managers collectively responsible use lead indicators and learn from both success and failure This book explores how and why the New Zealand government made progress and how the program was able to create and sustain the commitment of public servants and unleash the creativity of public entrepreneurs The authors combine case studies based on the experience of people involved in the change together with public management research They explain how ambitious targets and public accountability were used as levers to overcome the bureaucratic barriers that impeded public service delivery and how data evidence and innovation were used to change practice New Zealand experimented failed succeeded and learned from the experience over five years This New Zealand experience demonstrates that interagency performance targets are a potentially powerful tool for fostering better public services and thus improving social outcomes
