Public Television In America:

Public Radio and Television in America Ralph Engelman, 1996-04-22 The origins and evolution of the major institutions in the United States for noncommercial radio and television are explored in this unique volume Ralph Engelman examines the politics behind the development of National Public Radio Radio Pacifica and the Public Broadcasting Service He traces the changing social forces that converged to launch and shape these institutions from the Second World War to the present day The book challenges several commonly held beliefs including that the mass media is simply a manipulative tool and concludes that public broadcasting has an enormous potential as an emancipatory vehicle Public Television in America

Eli M. Noam, 1998 This book examines the challenges public television faces today including technological advances increased scrutiny and long term funding Public Broadcasting in America L. R. Ickes, 2006 The Corporation for Public Broadcasting CPB was created out of the Public Broadcasting Act of 1967 P L 90 129 The CPB was intended to provide a funding mechanism for individual public broadcasting stations but not subject these stations to political influence or favouritism Therefore the CPB receives an annual appropriation and then uses this money in addition to foundation corporate individual memberships and other funding sources to provide grants to individual public television and radio broadcast entities The Public Broadcasting System PBS National Public Radio NPR and Public Radio International PRI do not receive any direct appropriations from CPB all of the appropriated money goes directly to member stations of these organisations The number of radio and television public broadcasting stations supported by the CPB increased from 270 in 1969 to approximately 1 100 as of August 2003 of which 356 are television stations Public broadcasting stations are mostly run by universities non profit community associations and state government agencies Public broadcasting is regarded as a public service To serve most Americans public television reaches approximately 99% of the population and public radio 91% With regard to programming the public broadcasting system observes the principle of local autonomy That is public broadcasting stations make decisions independently of the CPB as to what programming will be available to their viewing or listening audience as well as on their programming schedule The CPB serves as an umbrella organisation for public television and radio Broadcasting The CPB s principal function is to receive and distribute government contributions or federal appropriations to fund national programs and to support qualified member radio and television stations based on legislatively mandated formulas The bulk of these funds are to provide Community Service Grants or CSGs to member stations that have matching funds By law the CPB is authorised to exercise minimum control of program content or other activities of local member stations The CPB is prohibited from owning or operating any of the primary facilities used in broadcasting In addition it may not produce disseminate or schedule programs This new book presents the issues dealing with this hot topic

Made Possible By-- James Ledbetter, 1997 A critique of American public broadcasting explores how its mission has been eroded from public supported educational and cultural programming to corporate sponsorship of mainstream entertainment
