Publishing Pedagogies for the Doctorate and Beyond

Claire Aitchison, Barbara Kamler, Alison Lee, 2010-01-21 Within a context of rapid growth and diversification in higher degree research programs there is increasing pressure for the results of doctoral research to be made public Doctoral students are now being encouraged to publish not only after completion of the doctorate but also during and even as part of their research program For many this is a new and challenging feature of their experience of doctoral education Publishing Pedagogies for the Doctorate and Beyond is a timely and informative collection of practical and theorised examples of innovative pedagogies that encourage doctoral student publishing The authors give detailed accounts of their own pedagogical practices so that others may build on their experiences including a program of doctoral degree by publication mentoring strategies to support student publishing innovations within existing programs including embedded publication pedagogies co editing a special issue of a scholarly journal with students publication brokering and writing groups and writing retreats With contributions from global leading experts this vital new book explores broader issues pertaining to journal publication and the impacts on scholarly research and writing practices for students supervisors and the academic publishing community takes up particular pedagogical problems and strategies including curriculum and supervisory responses arising from the push to publish documents explicit experiences and practical strategies that foster writing for publication during doctoral candidature Publishing Pedagogies for the Doctorate and Beyond explores the challenges and rewards of supporting doctoral publishing and provides new ways to increase research publication outputs in a pedagogically sound way It will be a valued resource for supervisors and their doctoral students as well as for program coordinators and managers academic developers learning advisors and others involved in doctoral education Resources in Education ,2001 Computation, Physics and Beyond Michael J. Dinneen,Bakhadyr Khoussainov,Prof. Andre Nies,André Nies,2012-01-17 This Festschrift volume has been published in honor of Cristian Calude on the occasion of his 60th birthday and contains contributions from invited speakers and regular papers presented at the International Workshop on Theoretical Computer Science WTCS 2012 held in Auckland New Zealand in February 2012 Cristian Calude has made a significant contribution to research in computer science theory Along with early work by Chaitin Ku era Kurtz Solovay and Terwijn his papers published in the mid 1990s jointly with Khoussainov Hertling and Wang laid the foundation for the development of modern theory of algorithmic randomness His work was essential for establishing the leading role of New Zealand in this area The research interests of Cristian Calude are reflected in the topics covered by the 32 papers included in this book namely algorithmic information theory algorithms automata and formal languages computing and natural sciences computability and applications logic and applications philosophy of computation physics and computation and unconventional models of computation They have been organized into four parts The first part consists of papers discussing his life achievements This is followed by papers in the three general areas of complexity computability and randomness physics philosophy and logic and computation and algorithms automata and formal models including unconventional computing Helping Beyond the 50-Minute Hour Jeffrey A. Kottler,Matt Englar-Carlson,Jon Carlson,2013-07-18 First Published in 2013 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Beyond Poststructuralism Wendell V. Harris,2010-11-01 Beyond Productivity Kim Hensley Owens,Derek Van Ittersum,2023-11-15 In Beyond Productivity a wide range of contributors share honest narratives of the sometimes impossible conditions that scholars face when completing writing projects The essays provide backstage views of the authors varying approaches to moving forward when the desire to produce wanes when deciding a project is not working when working within and around and redefining academic productivity expectations and when writing with ever changing bodies that do not always function as expected This collection positions scholarly writers ways of writing as a form of flexible evolving knowledge By exhibiting what is lost and gained through successive rounds of transformation and adaptation over time the contributors offer a sustainable understanding and practice of process one that looks beyond productivity as the primary measure of success Each presents a fluid understanding of the writing process illustrating its deeply personal nature and revealing how fragmented and disjointed methods and experiences can highlight what is precious about writing Beyond

Productivity determines anew the use and value of scholarly writing and the processes that produce it both within and beyond the context of the losses constraints and adaptations associated with the COVID 19 pandemic Beyond the Large Farm Paul B. Thompson, 2019-03-07 This book examines the rationale for emphasizing productivity as the dominant goal of agricultural research and challenges in the form of alternative goals that scientists might seek in performing agricultural research It presents bibliographic essays that review the criticisms of research How Writing Faculty Write Christine E. Tulley, 2018-04-09 In How Writing Faculty Write Christine Tulley examines the composing processes of fifteen faculty leaders in the field of rhetoric and writing revealing through in depth interviews how each scholar develops ideas conducts research drafts and revises a manuscript and pursues publication The book shows how productive writing faculty draw on their disciplinary knowledge to adopt attitudes and strategies that not only increase their chances of successful publication but also cultivate writing habits that sustain them over the course of their academic careers The diverse interviews present opportunities for students and teachers to extrapolate from the personal experience of established scholars to their own writing and professional lives Tulley illuminates a long unstudied corner of the discipline the writing habits of theorists researchers and teachers of writing Her interviewees speak candidly about overcoming difficulties in their writing processes on a daily basis using strategies for getting started and restarted avoiding writer s block finding and using small moments of time and connecting their writing processes to their teaching How Writing Faculty Write will be of significant interest to students and scholars across the spectrum graduate students entering the discipline new faculty and novice scholars thinking about their writing lives mid level and senior faculty curious about how scholars research and write historians of rhetoric and composition and metadisciplinary scholars
