Kort, 2012-05-23 Given its affinity with questions of identity autobiography offers a way into the interior space between author and reader especially when writers define themselves in terms of religion In his exploration of this textual intimacy Wesley Kort begins with a theorization of what it means to say who one is and how one's self account as a religious person stands in relation to other forms of self identification He then provides a critical analysis of autobiographical texts by nine contemporary American writers including Maya Angelou Philip Roth and Anne Lamott who give religion a positive place in their accounts of who they are Finally in disclosing his own religious identity Kort concludes with a meditation on several meanings of the word assumption
