Stunning Males and Powerful Females Christina Sunardi, 2015-02-15 In east Javanese dance traditions like Beskalan and Ngremo musicians and dancers negotiate gender through performances where males embody femininity and females embody masculinity Christina Sunardi ventures into the regency of Malang in east Java to study and perform with dancers Through formal interviews and casual conversation Sunardi learns about their lives and art Her work shows how performers continually transform dance traditions to negotiate and renegotiate the boundaries of gender and sex sometimes reinforcing lines of demarcation sometimes transgressing them and sometimes doing both simultaneously But Sunardi's investigation moves beyond performance It expands notions of the spiritual power associated with female bodies and feminine behavior and the ways women men and waria males who dress and live as female access the magnetic power of femaleness A journey into understudied regions and ideas Stunning Males and Powerful Females reveals how performances seemingly fixed by tradition are instead dynamic environments for cultural negotiation and change surrounding questions of sex and gender

Storied Island, 2023-07-31 Javanese literature is one of the world's richest and most unusual literary traditions yet it is little known today outside of Java Indonesia and a handful of western universities With its more than a millennium of documented history its complex interactions over the centuries with literature written in Sanskrit Arabic Persian Malay and Dutch its often symbiotic relationship with the performing arts of puppetry and dance and its own immense creativity and insight this vastly understudied literature offers a lens to understanding Java's fascinating world as well as human ingenuity more broadly. The essays in this volume Storied Island: New Explorations in Javanese Literature take a fresh look at questions and themes pertaining to Java's literature employing new theoretical and methodological lenses.

Balinese Discourses on Music and Modernization Brita Heimarck Renee, 2013-08-21 While many Western scholars have discussed the technical aspects of Balinese music or the traditional contexts for performance little has been written in Western languages about Balinese discourses on their music. This dissertation seeks to understand the experience of music in Bali according to Balinese voices through an analysis of oral and written dialogues on music mainly by musicians and dalangs shadow play puppeteers from the village of Sukawati scholars teachers administrators and students from the Indonesian College of the Arts STSI in the City of Denpasar. The study examines the influence of modernization on the traditional arts and their role in society. A concentration on Balinese discourses enables individual performers and scholars to represent themselves to a greater extent than previously seen in ethnomusicological scholarship making this study more of a critical discussion among equals than a Western interpretation of others. This approach permits a rare view into contemporary Balinese conceptions and practices of music.

Durga's Mosque Stephen Headley, 2004 Stephen Headley's new book explores contemporary religious change in the Surakarta region of Central Java. In his analysis of the Durga ritual complex the author sheds light on one of the most unusual court traditions to have survived in an era of deepening Islamisation.

Fluid Iron Tony Day, 2002-08-31 Fluid Iron is the first extended treatment of state formation in Southeast Asia from early to contemporary times and the first book length analysis of Western historical and ethnographic writing on the region. It includes critical assessments of the work of Clifford Geertz O.W. Wolters Benedict Anderson and other major scholars who have written on early colonial and modern Southeast Asian history and culture. Making use of the ideas of Weber Marx Foucault and postmodern and postcolonial theory Tony Day argues that culture must be restored to the study of Southeast Asian history so that the state and historical developments in the region can be returned to their own alternative historical contexts and trajectories. He employs a wide range of contemporary scholarship as well as Southeast Asian literary and historical texts inscriptions and temples to explore the kinds of concepts and practices kinship networks cosmologies gender identities bureaucracies rituals violence and aesthetics that have been used for centuries to build states. Highly readable and accessibly written Fluid Iron demonstrates that Southeast Asian state building has taken place in a part of the world that has always been a crossroads of cultural and transcultural change. Day urges Southeast Asians to learn more about the history of their own state formations so they can safeguard not only human freedom but also the incongruity of their unique region in the years ahead.
