The American Journal of Public Health published a research titled “An Evaluation of a Classroom Science, Intervention Designed to Extend the Bicycle Helmet Safety Message” in order to create awareness regarding the helmet safety. This study seeks to present the results of an evaluation of the knowledge of students with regard to the head safety and their attitude towards helmet use after the delivery of the Wizards of Motion Head Safety Intervention module that was introduced to grade seven science classrooms. The research question seeks to find out “what is the relationship between student head safety knowledge and their attitude towards helmet use after they were exposed to the delivery of the Wizards of Motion Head Safety Intervention module?”

The World Health Organization reveals that most of the hospitalized children suffering from head injuries that came as a result of bicycle accidents. The population sample for this study was 74 (35 males and 39 females) while two instruments were employed in data collection, and they comprised of a knowledge based test to record student’s knowledge on head safety and biomechanical concepts, as well as the questionnaires to collect information on the student’s present and prospective helmet use. The hypothesis of the study was to find out whether wearing a bicycle helmet was directly connected to the attitudes of these young children.

There is widespread use of bicycles by young children aged between 11 and 15 in varied daily activities, including visiting friends, adventure or for fun activities. From the 74 respondents who were involved in this study, it was reported that 84 percent rode bicycles on a daily basis while only 88 percent of these actually owned a helmet. Despite this, only 32 percent of those who owned the helmets, were reported to be wearing them when riding a bicycle even though the law requires that each child ought to wear a helmet when riding a bicycle. The fact that

Name Of Action Critical Essays:

The Name of Action John Fraser, 1984-12-20 John Fraser's critical essays explore conflicting attitudes towards self affirmation and social order Important concerns that touch these essays are ideas of energy power and personal plenitude and the way in which idealism and heroic intensity can sometimes lead to overstrain and collapse Valuation in Criticism and Other Essays F. R. Leavis, 1986-07-17 This volume gathers together some of F R Leavis's earliest work with the things he was working on before his death as well as a representative sample of pieces reflecting the concerns he developed throughout his writing life This material from the whole span of a long writing career shows both the continuity of his pre occupations and important respects in which his judgements changed In an introductory essay Professor Singh discusses each piece and relates it to the development of Leavis's ideas The reader can trace his concern for standards of critical valuation as it evolved through studies of T S Eliot D H Lawrence William Empson George Eliot Henry James W B Yeats I A Richards and others Leavis's well known reflections on Marxism are also included The Reception of Northrop Frye ,2021-08-31 The widespread opinion is that Northrop Frye's influence reached its zenith in the 1960s and 1970s after which point he became obsolete his work buried in obscurity This almost universal opinion is summed up in Terry Eagleton's 1983 rhetorical question Who now reads Frye In The Reception of Northrop Frye Robert D Denham catalogues what has been written about Frye books articles translations dissertations and theses and reviews in order to demonstrate that the attention Frye's work has received from the beginning has progressed at a geomantic rate Denham also explores what we can discover once we have a fairly complete record of Frye's reception in front of us such as Hayden White's theory of emplotments applied to historical writing and Byron Almén's theory of musical narrative The sheer quantity of what has been written about Frye reveals that the only valid response to Eagleton's rhetorical question is a very large and growing number the growth being not incremental but exponential A Critical Dictionary of English Literature and British and American Authors, Living and Deceased Samuel Austin Allibone, 1896 NTA UGC NET Paper 1 Topic-wise 50 Solved Papers (2019 to 2004) Disha Experts, 2020-07-04 Ashgate Critical Essays on Women Writers in England, 1550-1700 Elaine V. Beilin, 2017-05-15 This volume includes leading scholarship on five writers active in the first half of the sixteenth century Margaret More Roper Katherine Parr Anne Askew Mildred Cooke Cecil and Anne Cooke Bacon The essays represent a range of theoretical approaches and provide valuable insights into the religious social economic and political contexts essential for understanding these writers texts Scholars examine the significance of Margaret More Roper's translations and letters in the contexts of humanism family relationships and changing cultural forces the contributions of Katherine Parr and Anne Askew to Reformation discourses and debates and the material presence of Mildred Cooke Cecil and Anne Cooke Bacon in the intellectual religious and political life of their time The introduction surveys the development of the field as an interdisciplinary project involving literature history classics religion and cultural studies Criticism in Action Dena

Goodman,2019-05-15 Dena Goodman here offers a fresh explanation of how critical theory broke out of the mold of an earlier tradition of discourse the mirror for princes genre and shaped its own course in the eighteenth century Criticism in Action provides a historical analysis of French Enlightenment texts as actions and as the focus of critical activity in which writers and their potential readers participate Goodman approaches texts as forces that shape the thinking and acting of the individuals engaged in the act of reading and presents new interpretations of major Enlightenment texts by Montesquieu Rousseau and Diderot

From Action to Ethics Constantine Sandis,2024-01-11 Over the course of the last 15 years Constantine Sandis has advanced our understanding of the role that action plays in shaping our moral thought In this collection of his best essays in the philosophy of action Sandis brings together updated versions of his writings accompanied by a new introduction Read collectively they demonstrate the breadth of his interests and ability to relate to broader issues within the culture connecting debates in philosophical psychology about motivation negligence and moral responsibility with Greek tragedy social psychology and literature Along this path from action to ethics Sandis engages with Hegel Wittgenstein Anscombe Ricoeur Davidson and Dretske together with contemporary authors such as Jennifer Hornsby and Jonathan Dancy As he responds to each thinker and theme he develops his own philosophical position the key thesis of which is that philosophy of action without ethics is empty ethics without philosophy of action is blind

Media Education in Action Alberto Parola,Maria Ranieri,2010 Media Education ME has come a long way Today it can no longer be considered a field of study reserved for semiotic and communication researchers Nor can it be regarded as a privileged practice of those teachers who for some reason consider media of fundamental importance On one hand ME is now part of the agenda of international organizations which consider the development of media competences a necessary requisite to fully exercise citizenship in the current contemporary society On the other ME practices are becoming increasingly widespread in schools involving a growing number of teachers

Notwithstanding teaching the media still seems to be a rather solipsistic task where everything is fine Indeed in ME there is a tremendous lack of research concerning the educational practices quality and effectiveness This book tries to cope with these issues by providing a set of instruments to design develop and evaluate ME activities in schools and supporting the enhancement of media educators knowledge and skills
