Napoleon Abel Gances Classic Film:

Napoleon, Abel Gance's Classic Film Kevin Brownlow, 1983 French Film Theory and Criticism: 1907-1929 Richard Abel, 1993-09-12 These two volumes examine a significant but previously neglected moment in French cultural history the emergence of French film theory and criticism before the essays of Andr Bazin Richard Abel has devised an organizational scheme of six nearly symmetrical periods that serve to bite into the discursive flow of early French writing on the cinema Each of the periods is discussed in a separate and extensive historical introduction with convincing explications of the various concepts current at the time In each instance Abel goes on to provide a complementary anthology of selected texts in translation Amounting to a portable archive these anthologies make available a rich selection of nearly one hundred and fifty important texts most of them never before published in English Abel Gance and the End of Silent Cinema Paul Cuff, 2016-11-10 This book explores the creation and destruction of Abel Gance s most ambitious film project and seeks to explain why his meteoric career was so nearly extinguished at the end of silent cinema By 1929 Gance was France s most famous director Acclaimed for his technical innovation and visual imagination he was also admonished for the excessive length and expense of his productions Gance s first sound film La Fin du Monde 1930 was a critical and financial disaster so great that it nearly destroyed his career But what went wrong Gance claimed it was commercial sabotage whilst critics blamed the director s inexperience with new technology Neither excuse is satisfactory Based on extensive archival research this book re investigates the cultural background and aesthetic consequences of Gance s transition from silent filmmaking to sound cinema La Fin du Monde is revealed to be only one element of an extraordinary cultural project to transform cinema into a universal religion and propagate its power through the League of Nations From unfinished films to unrealized social revolutions the reader is given a fascinating tour of Gance s lost cinematic utopia British Film Institute Film Classics Rob White, Edward Buscombe, 2003 Nitrate Won_ Nét Wait Anthony Slide, 2013-05-03 This study looks at the preservation process newsreel television and color preservation the often controversial issue of colorization and commercial film archives It provides detailed histories of the major players in the preservation battle including the International Museum of Photography at George Eastman House the American Film Institute the Museum of Modern Art the UCLA Film and Television Archive and the Library of Congress This first historical overview of film preservation in the United States is also highly controversial in its exposure and criticism of the politicization of film preservation in recent years and the rising bureaucracy which has often lost sight of preservation and restoration as the ultimate purpose of film archives The 20th Century A-GI Frank N. Magill, 2013-05-13 Each volume of the Dictionary of World Biography contains 250 entries on the lives of the individuals who shaped their times and left their mark on world history This is not a who s who Instead each entry provides an in depth essay on the life and career of the individual concerned Essays commence with a quick reference section that provides basic facts on the individual s life and achievements The extended biography places the life and works of the individual within an historical context and the summary at the end of each essay provides a synopsis of the individual's place in history. All entries conclude with a fully annotated bibliography.

Napoleonic Objects and their Afterlives Matilda Greig, Nicole Cochrane, 2025-01-09

Two centuries after Napoleon Bonaparte's death, this edited volume brings together a diverse group of historians, art historians, and museum professionals to critically examine the enduring power of visual and material culture in the making of Napoleonic memory. While most discussions surrounding the legendary figure explore his impact on legislative, political, or military reform, this innovative volume explores the global dimensions of the trade in Napoleonic collectibles, art, and relics over time. Representing new avenues of research and scholarship, Napoleonic Objects and their Afterlives investigates the material objects and cultural forms that Napoleon inspired through a range of themes. These include art collecting, the circulation and display of objects, political and imperial symbolism, and the flexibility and ambiguity of Napoleon's enduring legacy. The essays examine how and why, despite his contentious role in contemporary memory, Napoleon continues to escape much historical and popular censure. They explore the ways people have connected with the idea of him on stage and screen, in museums and galleries, and most intimately of all, by gathering items said to have belonged to him, right down to his toothbrush and locks of his hair. Napoleonic items can be official or personal, serious or comical, luxury or disposable, yet little work has been done to bring together these diverse cultural histories into conversation with one another. With its broad, multi-disciplinary approach, including perspectives from art history, film studies, cultural history, and museum curation, the book provides a deep critical insight into the cult of personality surrounding Napoleon and its effect on our understanding of celebrity culture today and in the future. Includes an additional foreword by Napoleon's biographer Ruth Scurr, author of In Gardens and Shadows (2021).

The A to Z of French Cinema Dayna

Oscherwitz, MaryEllen Higgins, 2009-09-02

It can be argued that cinema was created in France by Louis Lumière in 1895 with the invention of the cinematographe, the first true motion picture camera and projector. While there were other cameras and devices invented earlier that were capable of projecting intermittent motion of images, the cinematographe was the first device capable of recording and externally projecting images in such a way as to convey motion. Early films such as Lumière's La Sortie de l'usine, a minute-long film of workers leaving the Lumière factory, captured the imagination of the nation and quickly inspired the likes of Georges Méliès, Alice Guy, and Charles Pathé. Through the years, French cinema has been responsible for producing some of the world's best directors: Jean Renoir, Jean-Luc Godard, François Truffaut, and Louis Malle, and actors: Charles Boyer, Catherine Deneuve, Gérard Philipe, and Audrey Tautou. The A to Z of French Cinema covers the history of French film from the silent era to the present in a concise and up-to-date volume, detailing the development of French cinema and major theoretical and cultural issues related to it. This is done through a chronology, an introduction, photographs, a bibliography, and hundreds of cross-referenced dictionary entries on many of the major actors, directors, films, movements, producers, and studios associated with French cinema. Going beyond mere biographical information, entries also discuss the impact and significance of each individual film movement or studio included This detailed scholarly analysis of the development of film in France is useful to both the novice and the expert alike The Cinema of France Phil Powrie, 2006 An in depth look at some of the best and most influential French films of all time The Cinema of France contains 24 essays each on an individual film The book features works from the silent period and poetic realism through the stylistic developments of the New Wave and up to more contemporary challenging films from directors such as Abel Gance Jean Renoir Marcel Carné François Truffaut Jean-Luc Godard Alain Resnais Agnès Varda and Luc Besson Set in chronological order The Cinema of France provides an illuminating history of this essential national cinema and includes in depth studies of films such as Un Chien Andalou 1929 Les Vacances de Monsieur Hulot 1953 Le Samouraï 1967 Shoah 1985 Jean de Florette 1986 Les Visiteurs 1993 and La Haine 1995

The Virtual Window Anne Friedberg, 2009-02-13 From the Renaissance idea of the painting as an open window to the nested windows and multiple images on today's cinema television and computer screens a cultural history of the metaphoric literal and virtual window As we spend more and more of our time staring at the screens of movies televisions computers and handheld devices windows full of moving images texts and icons how the world is framed has become as important as what is in the frame In The Virtual Window Anne Friedberg examines the window as metaphor as architectural component and as an opening to the dematerialized reality we see on the screen In De pictura 1435 Leon Battista Alberti famously instructed painters to consider the frame of the painting as an open window Taking Alberti's metaphor as her starting point Friedberg tracks shifts in the perspectival paradigm as she gives us histories of the architectural window developments in glass and transparency and the emerging apparatuses of photography cinema television and digital imaging Single point perspective Alberti's metaphorical window has long been challenged by modern painting modern architecture and moving image technologies And yet notes Friedberg for most of the twentieth century the dominant form of the moving image was a single image in a single frame The fractured modernism exemplified by cubist painting for example remained largely confined to experimental avant garde work On the computer screen however where multiple windows coexist and overlap perspective may have met its end In this wide ranging book Friedberg considers such topics as the framed view of the camera obscura Le Corbusier's mandates for the architectural window Eisenstein's opinions on the shape of the movie screen and the multiple images and nested windows commonly displayed on screens today The Virtual Window proposes a new logic of visuality framed and virtual an architecture not only of space but of time

Symbols, Myths and Images of the French Revolution James A. Leith, University of Regina. Canadian Plains Research Center, University of Regina. Department of History, 1998 From 18-26 September 1996 the Department of History of the University of Regina hosted a colloquium entitled Symbols Myths and Images of the French Revolution in honour of James A. Leith Queen's University a leading historian of revolutionary France for over three decades who began his teaching career in Saskatchewan The colloquium brought together an international panel of scholars to discuss the visual imagery propaganda and cultural dimensions of the French Revolution a subject which since Professor Leith began his career has come to occupy an ever larger place in revolutionary historiography Meteors that Enlighten the Earth Matthew D. Zarzeczny, 2012-11-16 Napoleon promoted and honored great men throughout his reign In addition to comparing himself to various great men he famously established a Legion of Honor on 19 May 1802 to honor both civilians and soldiers including non ethnically French men Napoleon not only created an Irish Legion in 1803 and later awarded William Lawless and John Tennent the Legion of Honour he also gave them an Eagle with the inscription L'Indépendance d'Irlande He awarded twenty six of his generals the marshal's baton from 1804 to 1815 and in 1806 he further memorialized his soldiers by deciding to erect a Temple to the Glory of the Great Army modeled on Ancient designs From 1806 to 1815 Napoleon had more men interred in the Pantheon in Paris than any other French leader before or after him In works of art depicting himself Napoleon had his artists allude to Caesar Charlemagne and even Moses Although the Romans had their legions Pantheon and temples in Ancient times and the French monarchy had their marshals since at least 1190 Napoleon blended both Roman and French traditions to compare himself to great men who lived in ancient and medieval times and to recognize the achievements of those who lived alongside him in the nineteenth century Analyzing Napoleon's ever changing personal cult of great men and his recognition of contemporary great men who contributed to European or even human civilization and not just French civilization is original While work does exist on the French cults of Greco Roman antiquity and of great men prior to 1800 Napoleon appears only fleetingly in other discussions of the cult of great men None of the burgeoning historiography adequately takes Napoleon's place in the story of this cult into perspective This book serves as a further exploration of the cult of great men including its place in Napoleonic and European history and the alleged efforts of its members to enlighten the earth Silent Films,
