Narrating Practice with Children and Adolescents Mery F. Diaz, Benjamin Shepard, 2019-09-24 In Narrating Practice with Children and Adolescents social workers sociologists researchers and helping professionals share engaging and evocative stories of practice that aim to center the young client s story Drawing on work with a variety of disadvantaged populations in New York City and around the world they seek to raise awareness of the diversity of the individual experiences of youth They make use of a variety of narrative approaches to offer new perspectives on a range of critical health care mental health and social issues that shape the lives of children and adolescents The book considers the narratives we tell about the lives and experiences of children and adolescents and proposes counternarratives that challenge dominant ideas about childhood Contributors examine the environments and structures that shape the lives of children and youth from an ecological lens From their stories emerge questions about how those working with young clients might respond to a changing landscape How do we define and construct childhood How do poverty and inequality impact children s health and welfare How is childhood lived at the intersection of race class and gender How can practitioners engage children and adolescents through culturally responsive and democratic processes Offering new frameworks for reflecting on social work practice the essays in Narrating Practice with Children and Adolescents also serve as a vehicle for exploration of children's agency and voice

The Relational Ethics of Narrative Inquiry D. Jean Clandinin, Vera Caine, Sean Lessard, 2018-03-15 Narrative inquiry is based on the proposition that experience is the stories lived and told by individuals as they are embedded within cultural social institutional familial political and linguistic narratives It represents the phenomenon of experience but also constitutes a methodology for its study At the heart of this methodology is relational ethics However until now the functioning of this key relationship in practice has remained largely undefined In this book the authors take on the essential task of developing a conceptual framework for the application of relational ethics to narrative inquiry Building on a corpus of more generalized research this book is grounded in a multi year study with indigenous youth and families The authors describe their experiences of narrative inquiry highlighting how relational ethics informed their negotiation of these research relationships They also engage in a conversation with the work of philosophers who have guided their narrative inquiry to offer a more thorough understanding of relational ethics Through this and contributions from five further studies on a diverse range of subjects a number of key points for successful relational ethics are isolated and expounded upon This book is an invaluable tool for researchers and postgraduates engaged in qualitative research providing clear and practical guidance on ethical concerns It also extends the work of the authors two previous titles Engaging in Narrative Inquiry and Engaging in Narrative Inquiries with Children and Youth

A Handbook of Children and Young People's Participation Barry Percy-Smith, Nigel Patrick Thomas, Claire O'Kane, Afua Twum-Danso Imoh, 2023-04-21

This new edition of A Handbook of Children and Young People's Participation brings together work from research and practice to reflect on some of the key developments in the field since the first edition published in 2010. Subtitled Conversations for Transformational Change, the collection focuses on both ongoing and new discourses that enable us to advance thinking and practice to better understand what it means for participation to be transformational. Featuring all new content, it explores the developments that have been achieved in theory and practice in the last decade as well as the challenges and indeed the limitations of dominant participation approaches with children and young people in achieving genuine societal transformation. A key feature of the Handbook is the inclusion of young people as co-authors in many of the chapters. Foregrounding aspects of participation as experienced by diverse groups of children and young people, the book especially illuminates the experiences and perspectives of participation relating to groups of children who face particular challenges such as displaced children and children living with disabilities and young people from indigenous groups in a range of contexts. The broad spectrum of debates that the text covers will be invaluable in challenging and transforming thinking and practice for a wide range of scholars, practitioners, activists, and young people themselves. It will additionally be suitable for use on a wide range of courses including childhood and youth studies, sociology, law, political studies, community development, development studies, children's rights, citizenship studies, education, and social work.

Narrative Constellations Susanne Garvis, 2015-07-23

Narrative research in contemporary times can free social scientists from the rhetorical forms Emihovich 1995 that alienate children and families from their own traditions. Through the use of narrative, we are able to recognise the power of subjectivity in allowing open dialogue and co-construction of meaning. Becoming comfortable with narrative research also means accepting ideas that the world has no fixed rules for assigning behaviour Emihovich 1995. This means that open dialogue is required to build consensus around shared meaning and to ensure the inclusion of multiple voices. The book begins with a theoretical overview of narrative genre before focusing on narrative constellations. Three constellations are then shared with the reader. The final chapter provides ideas about the future of narrative constellation in research and the impact constellations can have for future policy and practice. It is hoped that the reader develops a better understanding of narrative ways and begins to see the potential of narrative constellations in the research genre. Dr Susanne Garvis is a professor of child and youth studies at the University of Gothenburg, Sweden. She has previously worked in Australian universities and is an adjunct academic with Griffith University, Australia. Professor Garvis has experience with narrative approaches in early childhood education and care. She has researched the lives of teachers, families, and children. She is particularly interested in representations of lived experience and the power of stories in research
