All the Kingdoms of the World Kevin Vallier, 2023 In All the Kingdoms of the World Kevin Vallier evaluates new and radical religious alternatives to liberal democracy In reaction to the perceived failings of liberalism new intellectuals propose to replace our system of government with one that promotes the true faith He focuses on the new Catholic illiberals and assesses their anti liberal doctrine known as integralism He then generalizes the critique of integralism to assess related doctrines in Sunni Islam and Chinese Confucianism Vallier does not merely describe these views but he asks whether they are true on their own terms

The Political Dialogue of Nature and Grace Caitlin Smith Gilson, 2017-03-23 The discourse between nature and grace finds its linguistic and existential podium in the political condition of human beings As Caitlin Smith Gilson shows it is in this arena that the perennial territorial struggle of faith and reason God and man man and state take place and it is here that the understanding of the personal as political as well as the political as personal finds its meaning And it is here too that the divine finds or is refused a home Any discussion of post secular society has its origins in this political dialogue between nature and grace the resolution of which might determine not only a future post secular society but one in which awe is re united to affection solidarity and fraternity Smith Gilson questions whether the idea of pure nature antecedently disregards the fact that grace enters existence and that this accomplishes a conversion in the metaphysical existential region of man's action and being This conversion alters how man acts as an affective moral intellectual social political and spiritual being State of nature theories transformed yet retained in the broader metaphysical and existential implications of the Hegelian Weltgeist are shown to be indebted to the ideological restrictedness of pure nature natura pura as providing the foremost adversary to any meaningful type of divine presence within the polis as well as inhibiting the phenomenological facticity of man as an open nature

Religion, Diaspora and Cultural Identity J.W. Pulsis, 2014-01-02 Although the religions of the Caribbean have been a subject of popular media there have been few ethnographic publications This text is a much needed and long overdue addition to Caribbean studies and the exploration of ideas beliefs and religious practices of Caribbean folk in diaspora and at home Drawing upon ethnographic and historical research in a variety of contexts and settings the contributors to this volume explore the relationship between religious and social life Whether practiced at home or abroad the contributors contend that the religions of Caribbean folk are dynamic and creative endeavors that have mediated the ongoing and open ended relation between local and global historical and contemporary change Natural and Supernatural Brian Inglis,1979 The African Transformation of Western Medicine and the Dynamics of Global Cultural Exchange David Baronov,2010-05-14 Beginning with the colonial era Western biomedicine has radically transformed African medical beliefs and practices Conversely in using Western biomedicine Africans have also transformed it The African Transformation of Western Medicine and the Dynamics of Global Cultural Exchange contends that contemporary African medical systems no less biomedical than Western medicine in fact greatly enrich and expand the notion of biomedicine reframing it as a global cultural form deployed across global networks of cultural exchange The book analyzes biomedicine as a complex and dynamic sociocultural form the conceptual premises of which make it necessarily subject to ongoing change and development as it travels the globe David Baronov captures the complexities of this cultural exchange by using world systems analysis in a way that places global cultural processes on equal footing with political and economic processes In doing so he both allows the story of Africa s transformation of Western biomedicine to be told and offers new insights into the capitalist world system

Diversity and Universality in Causal Cognition Sieghard Beller,Andrea Bender,Michael R. Waldmann,2017-12-12 Causality is one of the core concepts in any attempt to make sense of the world and the explanations people come up with shape their judgments emotions intentions and actions This renders causal cognition a core topic for the social as well as the cognitive sciences In the past however research has been split into diverging paradigms each pertaining to a distinct sub discipline and focusing on a specific domain thus creating a rather fragmented picture of causal cognition Furthermore most of this previous research paid only incidental attention to culture as a possibly constitutive factor leaving important questions unanswered Is causality always perceived in the same way Are causal explanations affected by the concepts to which people refer and or the language they use Is causal cognition domain specific and if so how does it differ from agency construal Is causal reasoning always based on the same cognitive mechanisms or does the cultural background of people shape how they process respective information and perhaps even their willingness to search for causal explanations in the first place By soliciting contributions that address questions like these this research topic aimed at assessing the extent to which causal cognition may vary across species cultures or individuals at various stages of their development and at integrating different perspectives across a broad range of disciplines Originating from the work of a research group funded by the Center for Interdisciplinary Research ZiF at Bielefeld University Germany the scope of this research topic was broadened by inviting additional contributions from researchers with expertise in different fields of causal cognition agency construal and or cultural impacts on cognition In order to fully exploit the potential of cognitive science we explicitly encouraged submissions from scholars from all its classic sub disciplines i e anthropology artificial intelligence linguistics neuroscience philosophy psychology as well as scholars from comparative psychology cognitive archeology economics and any other discipline interested in causal cognition We welcomed empirical findings as well as theoretical contributions with an emphasis on those factors that do or may constrain trigger or shape the way in which humans and other primates think about causal relationships and inform us about both the diversity and the universality of causal cognition

Religion and Innovation Donald A. Yerxa,2015-12-17 It is often assumed that religion is the backward looking servant of tradition and the status quo utterly opposed to the new This refrain in so much of recent polemical writing has permeated the public mind and can even be found in academic publications But recent scholarship increasingly shows that this view is a gross simplification that in fact religious beliefs and practices have contributed to significant changes in human affairs political and legal social and artistic scientific and commercial This is certainly not to say that religion is always innovative But the relationship between religion and innovation is much more complex and instructive than is generally assumed Religion and Innovation includes contributions from leading historians archaeologists and social scientists who offer findings about the relationship between religion and innovation The essays collected in this volume range from discussions of the transformative power of religion in early societies to re examinations of our notions of naturalism secularization and progress to explorations of cutting edge contemporary issues Combining scholarly rigor with clear accessible writing Religion and Innovation Antagonists or Partners is essential reading for anyone interested in the history of religion and the ongoing debates about its role in the modern world and into the future

The Blind Watch Jack E. Brush,2021-01-10 The Blind Watch has a twofold purpose Firstly it aims to expose some of the salient inadequacies and fallacies of modern atheism Secondly and more fundamentally it is intended to expand our thinking about nature in general and about the meaning of nature for a Christian understanding of human beings For systematic reasons the book focuses on Richard Dawkins The Blind Watchmaker which has become a classic on modern atheism In contrast to Dawkins work the present book describes the watch i e the atheistic scientist not the watchmaker as blind insofar as the scientist calculates everything but sees very little By confronting the atheism of Dawkins with the philosophical Heraclitus and the Stoics and the theological the Apostle Paul and Augustine traditions the book develops a fundamental understanding of nature as nature that leads to a definition of life quite different from that of the evolutionary biologists Prof Dr Brush studied engineering philosophy and theology at Vanderbilt University the University of Z rich and Harvard University As Professor of Theology at the University of Z rich he specialized in the relationship between science and theology

Archbishop of Chicago James Joseph McGovern, 1891 Barkers' Review of Politics, Literature, Religion, and Morals, and Journal of Education, Science, and Co-operation Joseph Barker, 1862 Delivered from the Elements of the World Peter J. Leithart, 2016-03-30 In this wide ranging study bursting with insights Peter Leithart explores how and why Jesus death and resurrection address the deepest realities of this world This biblical and theological examination of atonement and justification challenges conventional perceptions and probes the depths of the death that changes everything The Works of Orestes A. Brownson: Philosophy Orestes Augustus Brownson, 1882 The Philosophy of Miracles David Corner, 2007-01-21 Philosophers who wish to argue for the rationality of belief in God frequently employ a god of the gaps strategy This strategy consists in trying to find a phenomenon that cannot be explained by natural science and insisting that it can be explained only by reference to the activity of God Philosophical discussion of miracles usually revolves around the attempt to link a miracle to God in just this way One of the problems with this approach is that it is very difficult to identify anything as being forever beyond the power of science to explain Science continues to advance upon the territory occupied by the god of the gaps Thus it is desirable to develop an account of divine agency that will not be subject to revision in the face of scientific progress This book is just such an account Drawing on recent work in the theory of action it shows that we can attribute God's agency to an event in nature without eliminating the possibility that it might be explained scientifically In bringing God's actions out of the gaps we avoid the possibility that future discoveries in science will make our talk of divine agency obsolete
