LaSasso, Kelly Lamar Crain, Jacqueline Leybaert, 2010-02-01 Modality and Structure in Signed and Spoken Languages Texas Linguistics Society. Conference, 2002-10-24 Publisher Description The Deaf Way Carol Erting, 1994 Selected papers from the conference held in Washington DC July 9 14 1989 Language Acquisition By Eye Charlene Chamberlain, Jill P. Morford, Rachel I. Mayberry, 1999-08-01 This book focuses on the early acquisition of

signed languages and the later development of reading by children who use signed languages It represents the first collection of research papers focused solely on the acquisition of various signed languages by very young children all of whom are acquiring signed languages natively from deaf parents It is also the first collection to investigate the possible relationships between the acquisition of signed language and reading development in school aged children The underlying questions addressed by the chapters are how visual gestural languages develop and whether and how visual languages can serve the foundation for learning a second visual representation of language namely reading Language Acquisition by Eye is divided into two parts anchored in the toddler phase and the school pupil phase The central focus of Part I is on the earliest stages of signed language acquisition The chapters in this part address important questions as to what babytalk looks like in signed language and the effect it has on babies attention what early babbling looks like in signed language what babies earliest signs look like how parents talk to their babies in signed language to ensure that their babies see what s being said and what the earliest sentences in signed languages tell us about the acquisition of grammar With contrasting research paradigms these chapters all show the degree to which parents and babies are highly sensitive to one another s communicative interactions in subtle and complex ways Such observations cannot be made for spoken language acquisition because speech does not require that the parent and child look at each other during communication whereas signed language does Part II focuses on the relationship between signed language acquisition and reading development in children who are deaf All of these chapters report original research that investigates and uncovers a positive relationship between the acquisition and knowledge of signed language and the development of reading skills and as a result represents a historical first in reading research This section discusses how current theory applies to the case of deaf children s reading and presents new data that illuminates reading theory Using a variety of research paradigms each chapter finds a positive rather than a negative correlation between signed language knowledge and usage and the development of reading skill These chapters are sure to provide the foundation for new directions in reading research

Raising and Educating a Deaf Child

Marschark, 2009 The second edition of this guide offers a readable comprehensive summary of everything a parent or teacher would want to know about raising and educating a deaf child It covers topics ranging from what it means to be deaf to the many ways that the environments of home and school can influence a deaf child s chances for success in academic and social circles The new edition provides expanded coverage of cochlear implants spoken language mental health and educational issues relating to deaf children enrolled in integrated and separate settings Marschark makes sense of the most current educational and scientific literature and also talks to deaf children their parents and deaf adults about what is important to them Raising and Educating a Deaf Child is not a how to book or one with all the right answers for raising a deaf child rather it is a guide through the conflicting suggestions and programs for raising deaf children as well as the likely implications of taking one direction or the other

Marginalization Processes across Different Settings

Sangeeta

Bagga-Gupta,2018-06-11 While issues of marginalization and participation have engaged scholars across various disciplines and domains and a range of theoretical perspectives and methodological framings have been deployed in this enterprise the research presented in this volume aligns itself to alternative traditions by focusing on people s membership and participation across settings and institutional contexts The work here thus focuses on the constitution of marginalization inside outside and across a range of settings It centre stages marginalization and participation as action in the human world Going beyond a focus on the marginalized or explanations of marginalization or comparing groups of the marginalized with the non marginalized a number of contributions focus on mundane processes inside outside and across institutional settings in different geopolitical spaces Other chapters in the book demonstrate the marginalization of specific analytical foci in the research process or hegemonies of national high stake testing protocols and specific dialects in different geopolitical regions or in domains such as the sporting arena In contrast to other studies on marginalization and participation this book takes its point of departure in the complexities that characterize and shape both individuals and societies past and present Its chapters challenge demarcated fields of study and conceptions of identity framed marginalization and participation Drawing attention to the fact that the centre continues to define the margins the work presented here joins research efforts that highlight the need to focus on the constitution of marginalization and participation in a wide range of settings with the explicit aim of going beyond static boundaries that define the human state at different scales of becoming and beyond an understanding of development and progress in terms of a linear trajectory
