Nature A Weekly Journal Of Science Volume 13:

Catalogue New South Wales Free Public Library, Sydney, 1895      Remote Sensing for Natural Resources Management & Monitoring Mahesh Gaur, C.B. Pandey, R.K. Goyal, 2016-10-01 The book attempts to match user need to the level of technology required for management planning and monitoring of natural resources. It provides clear guidance on the reliability, accuracy and cost of applications. Editors believe that this endeavour shall provide a valuable scientific basis to students and researchers to address the future challenges in natural resources monitoring and management. Accurate inventory assessment and periodic monitoring of resources will enable the policy makers to keep an eye on optimal utilization of resources and development process to take timely interventions. We further hope this book will be a valuable reference and provide practical guidance for all who work towards the goal of the sustainable and judicious use of resources.

This volume offers a detailed reassessment of Descartes' scientific work and its bearing on his philosophy. The 35 essays written by some of the world's leading scholars cover topics as diverse as optics, cosmology and medicine and will be of vital interest to all historians of philosophy or science      Annual Report of the Ohio State Library Ohio State Library, 1877

Routledge Revivals: John Phillips and the Business of Victorian Science (2005) Jack Morrell, 2016-10-04 First published in 2005 this book represents the first full length biography of John Phillips one of the most remarkable and important scientists of the Victorian period. Adopting a broad chronological approach this book not only traces the development of Phillips' career but clarifies and highlights his role within Victorian culture shedding light on many wider themes. It explores how Phillips' love of science was inseparable from his need to earn a living and develop a career which could sustain him. Hence questions of power, authority, reputation and patronage were central to Phillips' career and scientific work. Drawing on a wealth of primary sources and a rich body of recent writings on Victorian science this biography brings together his personal story with the scientific theories and developments of the day and fixes them firmly within the context of wider society.

Nature's Spectacle John Sheail, 2014-06-17 National parks have always been an emotive and iconic symbol ever since the first parks of the modern era were created in the mid nineteenth century. This book based on original research delves deeply into their character and significance and the larger context in which they developed. The book celebrates the deserved attractiveness of the parks as wilderness or spectacle to millions of visitors but also emphasises how there was nothing inevitable about their self-sustaining or without cost in their magnificence and accessibility. Those early parks were a powerful unifying force as national playgrounds especially as motor transport democratised their use. However they also provoked bitter conflict in their dispossession of local communities and perhaps deliberate segregation of people from scenery and wildlife That first century of national parks which concluded with the significant break of the Second World War and the subsequent development of more international approaches to conservation left an uncertain legacy It was a fragile foundation from which to build what became an integral part of today s conservation movement

Characterization and Properties of Petroleum Fractions M. R. Riazi,2005 The last three chapters of this book deal with application of methods presented in previous chapters to estimate various thermodynamic physical and transport properties of petroleum fractions In this chapter various methods for prediction of physical and thermodynamic properties of pure hydrocarbons and their mixtures petroleum fractions crude oils natural gases and reservoir fluids are presented As it was discussed in Chapters 5 and 6 properties of gases may be estimated more accurately than properties of liquids Theoretical methods of Chapters 5 and 6 for estimation of thermophysical properties generally can be applied to both liquids and gases however more accurate properties can be predicted through empirical correlations particularly developed for liquids When these correlations are developed with some theoretical basis they are more accurate and have wider range of applications In this chapter some of these semitheoretical correlations are presented Methods presented in Chapters 5 and 6 can be used to estimate properties such as density enthalpy heat capacity heat of vaporization and vapor pressure Characterization methods of Chapters 2-4 are used to determine the input parameters needed for various predictive methods. One important part of this chapter is prediction of vapor pressure that is needed for vapor liquid equilibrium calculations of Chapter 9.

R. Bartnikas, R. M. Eichhorn, 1983-12-31 Rationality, Relativism and the Human Sciences Joseph Margolis, A.S. Krausz, R. Burian, 2012-12-06 The Greater Philadelphia Philosophy Consortium was launched in the early eighties. It began during a particularly lean period in the American economy. But its success is linked as much to the need to be in touch with the rapidly changing currents of the philosophical climate as with the need to insure an adequately stocked professional community in the Philadelphia area faced perhaps permanently with the threat of increasing attrition. The member schools of the Consortium now include Bryn Mawr College, the University of Pennsylvania, Temple University and Villanova University that is the schools of the area that offer advanced degrees in philosophy. The philosophy faculties of these schools form the core of the Consortium which offers graduate students the instructional and library facilities of each member school. The Consortium is also supported by the associated faculties of other regional schools that do not offer advanced degrees notably those at Drexel University, Haverford College, La Salle University and Swarthmore College both philosophers and members of other departments as well as interested and professionally qualified persons from the entire region. The affiliated and core professionals now number several hundreds and the Consortium's various ventures have been received most enthusiastically by the academic community. At this moment the Consortium is planning its fifth year of what it calls the Conferences on the Philosophy of the Human Studies.

Cursive Script Text Recognition in Natural Scene Images Saad Bin Ahmed, Muhammad Imran Razzak, Rubiyah Yusof, 2019-11-21 This book offers a broad and structured overview of the state of the art methods that could be applied for context dependent languages like Arabic. It also provides guidelines on how to deal with Arabic scene data that appeared in an uncontrolled environment impacted by different font size, font styles, image resolution and opacity of text. Being an intrinsic script Arabic and Arabic like languages attract attention from research community. There are a number of challenges associated with the detection and recognition of Arabic text from natural images. This book discusses these challenges and open problems and also provides insights into the complexities and issues that researchers encounter in the context of Arabic or Arabic like text recognition in natural and document images. It sheds light on fundamental questions such as a) How the complexity of Arabic as a cursive script can be demonstrated; b) What the structure of Arabic text is and how to consider the features from a given text; and c) What guidelines should be followed to address the context learning ability of classifiers existing in machine learning.
