The Nature of Photographs Stephen Shore, 1998 How does a photograph work In this book internationally acclaimed photographer Stephen Shore brings together more than fifty images by such photographers as Walker Evans Eugne Atget Robert Adams Diane Arbus Frank Gohlke Lee Friedlander Edward Weston Robert Frank William Eggleston and Jan Groover to illustrate a process of looking at and understanding photography He traces the process by which the world in front of the camera is transformed into a photograph and how that photograph in turn is transformed into a mental image A photograph Shore explains can be viewed on several levels First it is a physical object a print On this print is an image an illusion of a window onto the world It is at this level that we read a picture and discover its content a souvenir of an exotic land the face of a lover a wet rock a landscape at night This is the depictive level in which the world is transformed into a photograph through qualities of flatness frame time and focus On a final level is the mental apprehension of the image which joins the focus of lens eye attention and mind Using these levels of seeing Shore reveals how the qualities of a photograph create tension and meaning as the collapsing of depth creates new relationships as lines and shapes in the image play against the frame as focus creates barriers in the depth of an image as the duration of exposure variously transforms the fluid world into a static piece of film As the visual image continues to grow in importance as a medium of global communication the skills and insights conveyed by this book will become increasingly relevant both to those who take photographs and those who view them

Rotherham,2020-03-30 Understanding the current state and dynamics of any forest is extremely difficult if not impossible without recognizing its history. Biaowiec Primeval Forest BPF located on the border between Poland and Belarus is one of the best preserved European lowland forests and a subject of myriads of works focusing on countless aspects of its biology ecology management. BPF was protected for centuries 15th 18th century as a game reserve of Polish kings and Lithuanian grand dukes. Being at that time a part of the Grand Duchy of Lithuania BPF was subject to long lasting traditional multi functional utilisation characteristic for this part of Europe including haymaking on forest meadows traditional bee keeping and fishing in rivers flowing through forest. This traditional model of management came to an abrupt end due to political change in 1795 when Poland and Grand Duchy of Lithuania ceased to exist in effect of partitioning by neighbouring countries and the territory of BPF was taken over by the Russian Empire. The new Russian administration influenced by the German trends in forestry attempted at introducing the new science based forestry model in the BPF throughout the 19th century. The entire 19th century in the history of BPF is a story of struggle between new trends and concepts brought and implemented by new rulers of the land and the traditional perception of the forest and forest uses culturally rooted in this area and originating from mediaeval or older practices. The book will show the historical background and the outcome of this struggle the forest's history in the long 19th century focusing on tracking all cultural imprints both material artificial landscapes introduced alien species human induced processes and immaterial traditional knowledge of forest and use of forest resources the political and cultural significance of the forest that shaped the forest's current state and picture. Our book will deliver a picture of a crucial moment in forest history relevant not only to the Central Europe but to the continent in general. Moment of transition between a royal hunting ground traditional type of use widespread throughout Europe to a modern managed forest. Looking at main obstacles in the management shift the essential difference in perceptions of the forest and goods it provides in both modes of management and the implications of the management change for the state of BPF in the long 19th century could help in better understanding the changes that European forests underwent in general.
