Naven Or The Other Self A Relational Approach To Ritual Action:

Naven, Or, The Other Self Michael Houseman, Carlo Severi, 1998 This book proposes a novel approach to the analysis of ritual action Founded upon an in depth study of the transvestism naven ceremony of the Iatmul of Papua New Guinea it focuses on the relational and interactive forms entailed by ritual performance Theorizing Rituals Jens Kreinath, Michael Strausberg, 2006 Volume two of Theorizing Rituals mainly consists of an annotated bibliography of more than 400 items covering those books edited volumes and essays that are considered most relevant for the field of ritual theory Instead of proposing yet another theory of ritual the bibliography is a comprehensive monument documenting four decades of Theorizing Rituals, Volume 2: Annotated Bibliography of Ritual Theory, 1966-2005 Jens theorizing rituals Kreinath, J.A.M. Growing Artefacts, Displaying Relationships Ludovic Coupaye,2013-08-01 What gives artefacts their power and beauty This ethnographic study of the decorated long yams made by the Nyamikum Abelam in Papua New Guinea examines how these artefacts acquire their specific properties through processes that mobilise and recruit diverse entities substances and domains All come together to form the finished product that is displayed representing what could be an indigenous form of non verbal sociology Engaging with several contemporary anthropological topics material culture techniques arts aesthetics rituals botany cosmology Melanesian ethnography the text also discusses in depth the complex position of the study of technology within anthropology Women in Kararau Brigitta Hauser-Schäublin, 2019 The book offers a glimpse back in time to a Middle Sepik society the Iatmul first investigated by the anthropologist Gregory Bateson in the late 1920s while the feminist anthropologist Margaret Mead worked on sex roles among the neighbouring Tchambuli Chambri people The author lived in the Iatmul village of Kararau in 1972 3 where she studied women s lives works and knowledge in detail She revisited the Sepik in 2015 and 2017 The book the translation of a 1977 publication in German is complemented by two chapters dealing with the life of the Iatmul in the 2010s It presents rich quantitative and qualitative data on subsistence economy marriage and women s knowledge concerning myths and rituals Besides life histories and in depth interviews convey deep insights into women s experiences and feelings especially regarding their varied relationships with men in the early 1970s Since then Iatmul culture has changed in many respects especially as far as the economy religion knowledge and the relationship between men and women are concerned In her afterword the anthropologist Christiane Falck highlights some of the major topics raised in the book from a 2018 perspective based on her own fieldwork which she commenced in 2012 Thus the book provides the reader with detailed information about gendered lives in this riverine village of the 1970s and an understanding of the cultural processes and dynamics that have taken place since Transformations of the Inner Self in Ancient Religions Jan Assmann, Guy Stroumsa, 2018-11-13 This collection of papers from two workshops held in Heidelberg Germany in July 1996 and Jerusalem Israel in October 1997 is concerned with anthropological rather than theological aspects of the Near Eastern and Mediterranean religions ranging from the primary religions of the archaic period and their complex developments in Egypt and Mesopotamia to the soteriological movements and secondary religions that emerged in Late Antiquity The first part of the book focuses on Confession and Conversion while the second part is devoted to the topic of Guilt Sin and Rituals of Purification The primary purpose of this volume is to convey a sense of the dynamics and dialectical relationships between the various Near Eastern and Mediterranean religions from the archaic period to Late Antiquity

The Righting of Passage A. David Napier,2004-04-19 Today much theory in the social sciences assumes that the acceptance of experience as inevitably unruly means that it is characterized by constant change and even by chaos In such a world we are told the unordered qualities of daily living create so much uncertainty that identity itself becomes unstable But this view David Napier argues begs a fundamental question if contemporary life is as flexible and unstructured as for example postmodernists maintain and we in turn are products of such a world how might any of us order our thinking enough to recognize what is meaningful in life let alone describe our experiences in ways that might have meaning for others If we are truly the products of modernity Napier says we must either accept our inability to structure and shape our own sensations or alternately argue for some form of humanism that sees a struggling existential self living unsettled within its unstructured environment Were either circumstance universally the case the world would of course be a rather different place for there would be no shared literature called postmodern and there would be no one to dissect such experience for us no authors with coherent identities no theories that could be communicated no books bought or read no university departments dedicated to the industry of chaos In short there would be no ordered space for interpersonal understanding in such a world This is the premise that informs The Righting of Passage In this challenging book Napier offers a novel argument that accounts for diffuse and flexible notions of the self while also illustrating how a coherent communicating self persists amid such apparent instability This he does by arguing something entirely counterintuitive to both modernist and postmodernist positions namely that modernity s increasing separation of embodiment from meaning not only slows down human transformation but attenuates human growth by encouraging us to perceive risk as largely pathological Today the combined forces of stress management depth psychology therapeutic writing dislocated meaning and of institutional conformity work together to produce a reduction not a proliferation of change in human life Engaging Evil William C. Olsen, Thomas J. Csordas, 2019-05-03 Anthropologists have expressed wariness about the concept of evil even in discussions of morality and ethics in part because the concept carries its own cultural baggage and theological implications in Euro American societies Addressing the problem of evil as a distinctly human phenomenon and a category of ethnographic analysis this volume shows the usefulness of engaging evil as a descriptor of empirical reality where concepts such as violence criminality and hatred fall short of capturing the darkest side of human existence Ritual in Its Own Right Don Handelman, Galina Lindquist, 2005 First published in 2004 by Berghahn Books Social analysis volume 48 issue 2 summer Cultic and Further Orders: Semiotics of a Kabbalistic Culture Maurizio Mottolese, 2022-01-31 This 2004 T p verso book starts from the assumption that semiotics of culture and social anthropological studies can offer useful tools to understand large segments and lasting aspects of the kabbalistic tradition It attempts to study from this perspective the Sephardi Kabbalah by examining 16th century emblematic commentaries that collect rearrange and carry on the earlier kabbalistic interpretation of the rabbinic ritual system In this unusual light much kabbalistic culture appears as an ongoing semiotic intensification of deep structures governing the discourse and practice of the Jews so that for instance institutional cultic orders are integrated by other forms of order in imagination thought writing and experience The Covenant's Veil Alexandra Sellassie Antohin, 2024-12-03 An exploration of how contemporary Ethiopian Orthodox Christianity preserves and protects sacred ideas and relationships Ethiopia stretches her hand upon God the narrative of Sheba and Solomon the material presence of the Ark of the Covenant in Axum For Ethiopian Orthodox Christians these classic understandings of the covenant are prized narratives For historical and scriptural scholarship a central focus is to explain the characteristics of Ethiopian Orthodox Christianity as retaining key Old Testament qualities to demonstrate a wide chasm with post

Enlightenment secular societies By widening the lens of analysis to include a body of knowledge best accessed through Orthodox Christian devotional culture The Covenant's Veil offers an interpretation that challenges the reader to adopt a novel understanding of these well established ideas The multiple complex ways that the covenant idea appears as ideas idioms customs symbols and articulations in the lifeworld of Ethiopian Orthodox are the starting point for The Covenant s Veil Ethiopia s story of the covenant is a domain of nested reference points that inspires celebrants through their devotional activities to expand and elaborate upon a network of meanings Covenant refractions within Ethiopian Orthodox devotional culture not only demonstrate the established pattern of magnifying spiritual importance through symbolic similes and analogic pairings but perform a vital function for keeping traditional knowledge alive and current Detailed ethnographic material arranges devotional activities such as mahaber rituals of communing and processions of tabots on feast days It describes habits of making vows presenting oneself at church and telling stories of saints and their covenants Thinking about the covenant concept as refracting the bending motion of points encountering a common surface is a way to conceive how these reference points reveal a connective thread what is theorized as an Ethiopian Orthodox method of elaboration Identifying when and where elaboration of tradition is happening provides an opportunity to demonstrate how Orthodox Christianity is integral to the lives and actions of its faithful By reframing covenant as expanding beyond Ethiopian religious and political exceptionalism The Covenant's Veil provides us with a timely reappraisal of this concept in light of increased social fragmentation and the urgency for negotiating harmony in a country with many forms of diversity Most Popular English Emigrants to the United States Wikipedia contributors, Strength Beyond Structure Mirjam De Bruijn, Rijk Van Dijk, Jan Bart Gewald, 2007 Drawing on a wide range of historical and anthropological case studies from various parts of Africa this anthology provides an understanding of the importance of agency in processes of social transformation especially in the context of crisis and structural constraint The Manambu Language of East Sepik, Papua New Guinea Alexandra Aikhenvald, 2010-06-17 This book is the first comprehensive description of the Manambu language of Papua New Guinea and is based entirely on the author's immersion fieldwork Manambu belongs to the Ndu language family and is spoken by about 2 500 people in five villages Avatip Yawabak Malu Apa n and Yambon Yuanab in East Sepik Province Ambunti district Manambu can be considered an endangered language The Manambu language has many unusual properties Every noun is considered masculine or feminine Feminine gender which is unmarked is associated with small size and round shape and masculine gender with elongated shape large size and importance The Manambu culture is centered on ownership of personal names and is similar to that of the Iatmul described by Gregory Bateson After an introductory account of the language and its speakers Professor Aikhenvald devotes chapters to phonology grammatical relations word classes gender semantics number case possession derivation and compounding pronouns morphohology verbs mood and modality negation clause structure pragmatics discourse semantics the lexicon current directions of change and genetic relationship to other languages The description is presented in a clear style in a framework that will be comprehensible to all linguists and linguistically oriented anthropologists Christianity and Belonging in Shimla, North India Jonathan Miles-Watson, 2020-10-01 This book explores the material religion of contemporary Shimla a vibrant postcolonial city famed for its colonial heritage set against the backdrop of the North Western Himalayas Jonathan Miles Watson demonstrates that this landscape is able to peacefully reconcile the apparent tensions of faith heritage and identity in a way that unseats traditional theories of religion politics and heritage It presents a mystery that is written in space through time the key to unlocking this mystery lies in clear view at the city's heart in the contemporary material religion that surrounds nominally Christian sacred sites Although the material religion centres on landscapes that are identifiable as Christian the book demonstrates that Hindus atheists and Sikhs all have a role to play in the mutually constitutive relations that lie at the centre of these knots of sacred entanglement This book builds upon over a decade of research to present an ethnographic account of devotional practices that speaks to contemporary developments in both the anthropology of Christianity and material religion Through this exploration the book answers the mystery of Shimla's postcolonial harmony while complicating established theories in the anthropology of religion postcolonial studies mythography heritage studies and material culture Poetics Jean-Baptiste Eczet, 2021-09-17 Loving cows then killing them The relation with cattle in Mursi country is shaped by the dichotomy between the value given to it during life and the death imposed upon it The killing of cattle may be brief and inflicted with few words but it is preceded by a series of intense aesthetic practices such as body painting and adornments colour poetics poems and oratory art This book investigates the link between the nurturing and killing of cattle with Mursi daily life and finds that these rituals cut across pastoralism social organisation and politics in forming the very fabric of Mursi society Rethinking Relation-Substance Dualism Aurélie Névot, 2024-01-16 This book analyses anthropological debates on relationism referring to methodological and theoretical issues and sets out to reconsider these discussions with regards to the notion of substance generally associated with the body Reflecting on the philosophical origins and implications of these two concepts the author aims to bring them to the heart of contemporary anthropological discourse and addresses the erasure or blurring of substance in favour of relation The argument put forward is that the conceptual pairing of substance relation should be substituted for the nature culture dualism that has been dominant in structural anthropology The chapters engage with the work of scholars such as Philippe Descola Eduardo Viveiros de Castro and Wang Mingming as part of a decentring and questioning of the tradition in which anthropology is rooted The book also considers the role that the anthropology of China plays in the re evaluation of the relationship between relation and substance The concept of submutance is introduced with Chinese ethnographic material to explore the possibility of moving beyond the relation substance dualism of Western heritage This is valuable reading for scholars interested in the theory and history of anthropology Truth, Intentionality and Evidence Yazid Ben Hounet, Deborah Puccio-Den, 2017-03-27 This book provides an anthropological exploration of the ways in which crime is perceived and defined focusing on notions of truth intentionality and evidence The chapters contain rich ethnographic case studies drawn from work in the Middle East Africa India Mexico and Europe A variety of instances are discussed from court proceedings police reports and newspapers to moments of conflict resolution and reconciliation Through analysis of this material the authors reflect on how perception of an act as a crime can differ and how the definition of crime may not be shared by all societies The approach takes into consideration local standards as well as social legal and contextual constraints
