star rating system to focus on more telling criteria Death in the Middle Ages and Early Modern Times Albrecht Classen, 2016-04-11 Death is not only the final moment of life it also casts a huge shadow on human society at large People throughout time have had to cope with death as an existential experience and this also of course in the premodern world The contributors to the present volume examine the material and spiritual conditions of the culture of death studying specific buildings and spaces literary works and art objects theatrical performances and medical tracts from the early Middle Ages to the late eighteenth century Death has always evoked fear terror and awe it has puzzled and troubled people forcing theologians and philosophers to respond and provide answers for questions that seem to evade real explanations The more we learn about the culture of death the more we can comprehend the culture of life As this volume demonstrates the approaches to death varied widely also in the Middle Ages and the early modern age This volume hence adds a significant number of new facets to the critical examination of this ever present phenomenon of death exploring poetic responses to the Black Death types of execution of a female murderess death as the springboard for major political changes and death reflected in morality plays and art Horror International Steven Jay Schneider, Tony Williams, 2005 A close look at horror films from around the world drawing attention to neglected social cultural and ideological aspects of the horror genre in international cinema In the Wake of the Plague Norman F. Cantor, 2015-03-17 The Black Death was the fourteenth century's equivalent of a nuclear war It wiped out one third of Europe's population taking millions of lives The author draws together the most recent scientific discoveries and historical research to pierce the mist and tell the story of the Black Death as a gripping intimate narrative Southern Screens: Cinema, Culture and the Global South Antonio Traverso, 2018-05-16 Southern Screens Cinema culture and the global South adopts a transversal south south approach to the study of screen culture across national and cultural territories It examines the conditions by which screen culture participates in the generation sharing and circulation of new knowledge that is both southern and about the global South The contributors all of them residents of the world's southernmost nations examine new and traditional media that manifests an affinity with southern cultural imaginaries and territories identifiable through the sociological category of Global South Some of their chapters engage in analysis linked to specific national contexts others follow comparative approaches to screen culture across national regional and socio historical borders Sketching a new tapestry of references to other areas of southern social science and cultural theory Southern Screens traces a critical genealogy that here finds a productive place within an emerging comparative discussion of the screen cultures of the Global South This book was originally published as a special issue of Critical Arts South North Cultural and Media Studies Australian National Cinema Tom O'Regan, 2005-08-10 Tom O'Regan's book is the first of its kind on Australian post war cinema It takes as its starting point Bazin's question What is cinema and asks what the construct of a national cinema means It looks at the broader concept from a different angle taking film beyond the confines of art into the broader cultural world O'Regan's analysis situates Australian cinema in its historical and cultural perspective producing a valuable insight into the issues that have been raised by film policy the cinema market place and public discourse on film production strategies Since 1970 Australian film has enjoyed a revival This book contains detailed critiques of the key films of this period and uses them to illustrate the recent theories on the international and Australian cinema industries Its conclusions on the nature of the nation's cinema and the discourses within it are relevant within a far wider context film as a global phenomenon

Faith and Film Bryan P. Stone, 2000 Bryan Stone engages the cinema to open a discussion of theology and the culture of our time by pairing specific Christian doctrines found in the Apostles Creed with popular movies and videos

Worlds Enough and Time Gary Westfahl, George Slusser, David A. Leiby, 2002-06-30 With our lives firmly controlled by the steady pace of time humans have yearned for ways to escape its constraints and authors have responded with narratives about traveling far into the past or future reversing the flow of time or creating alternate universes where Napoleon was triumphant at Waterloo or the South won the Civil War Writers ranging from Dante and Lewis Carroll to Philip K Dick and Martin Amis have probed into the workings of time and an overwhelming desire to master time reverberates throughout popular culture This book considers how imaginative works involving time and time travel reflect ongoing scientific concerns and examine the human condition The scope of the volume is unusually wide covering such topics as Dante the major novels of the 19th century and stories and films of the 1990s The book concludes with a lengthy bibliography of short stories and novels films and television programs and nonfiction works that feature time travel or speculations about time With a roster of contributors that includes several of the field's major scholars this book offers many new insights into this fascinating subject

Now and Then We Time Travel Fraser A. Sherman, 2017-01-11 More than 400 films and 150 television series have featured time travel stories of rewriting history lovers separated by centuries journeys to the past or the often dystopian future This book examines some of the roles time travel plays on screen in science fiction and fantasy Plot synopses and credits are listed for films and TV series from England Canada the UK and Japan as well as for TV and films from elsewhere in the world Tropes and plot elements are highlighted The author discusses philosophical questions about time travel such as the logic of timelines causality what's to keep time travelers from jumping back and correcting every mistake and morality if you correct a mistake are you still guilty of it

The Dread of Difference Barry Keith Grant, 2015-04-01 The Dread of Difference is a classic Few film studies texts have been so widely read and so influential It's rarely on the shelf at my university library so continuously does it circulate Now this new edition expands the already comprehensive coverage of gender in the horror film with new essays on recent developments such as the Hostel series and torture porn Informative and enlightening this updated classic is an essential reference for fans and students of horror movies Stephen Prince editor of The Horror Film and author of Digital Visual Effects in Cinema The Seduction of Reality An impressive array of distinguished scholars gazes deeply into the darkness and then forms a Dionysian chorus reaffirming that sexuality and the monstrous are indeed mated in many horror films Choice An extremely useful introduction to recent thinking about gender issues within this genre Film Theory
