Longterm Care For Frail Older People:

Long-Term Care for Frail Older People John C. Campbell, Naoki Ikegami, 2012-12-06 The aging of society is a growing concern in all advanced nations and at the forefront of concern is long term care for frail older people Enactment of a new public long term care insurance program by the Japanese government in 1997 provided an excellent opportunity for a conference focusing on an ideal long term care system for frail older people The conference was organized around four major themes Social aspects including family dynamics and the role of formal providers Clinical aspects including effective treatments for physical and mental disabilities Macroeconomic and macropolitical settings for public policy Program design and management issues With contributions from the fields of medicine nursing social work gerontology political science economics and sociology this volume provides an overview of key problems and possible solutions in programs for frail older people from a unique international perspective Improving the Quality of Long-Term Care Institute of Medicine, Division of Health Care Services, Committee on Improving Quality in Long-Term Care, 2001-02-27 Among the issues confronting America is long term care for frail older persons and others with chronic conditions and functional limitations that limit their ability to care for themselves Improving the Quality of Long Term Care takes a comprehensive look at the quality of care and quality of life in long term care including nursing homes home health agencies residential care facilities family members and a variety of others This book describes the current state of long term care identifying problem areas and offering recommendations for federal and state policymakers Who uses long term care How have the characteristics of this population changed over time What paths do people follow in long term care The committee provides the latest information on these and other key questions This book explores strengths and limitations of available data and research literature especially for settings other than nursing homes on methods to measure oversee and improve the quality of long term care The committee makes recommendations on setting and enforcing standards of care strengthening the caregiving workforce reimbursement issues and expanding the knowledge base to guide organizational and individual caregivers in improving the quality of care The OECD Health Project Long-term Care for Older People OECD, 2005-06-30 This study reports on the latest trends in long term care policies in nineteen OECD countries and studies lessons learned from countries that undertook major reforms over the past decade Handbook of Long-Term Care Administration and Policy Cynthia Massie Mara, Laura Olson, 2008-03-27 Attitudes toward long term care contain a strong residue of negativity in today's society and current problems with the system augment such perceptions Unless dealt with now this will only get worse as the 85 and older crowd is the fastest growing part of the population and the first wave of Baby Boomers is approaching 60 Exploring and delineating Frailty in Aging O., Theou, K., Rockwood, 2015-07-20 Frailty represents an important challenge for aging populations As a concept it is full of known unknowns such as which mechanisms lead to frailty and how it is best managed In order to examine these circumstances the new science of understanding and managing frailty requires an appropriate framing of the problem This publication investigates the biology and management of frailty and its social aspects. It considers these and related questions: How can we recognize frailty? How does an understanding of frailty increase our comprehension of the aging process? What are its implications for health care systems including primary care, hospitals and rehabilitation? How will a growing number of frail older adults affect society more generally? The book focuses on frailty as a state of vulnerability which is related to aging but which can occur across the life course and aims to improve the life of frail people and those around them. The book is highly recommended to researchers in aging, health science, health care professionals and anyone interested in the understanding of the aging process. Easing the Family Caregiver Burden, Programs Around the Nation United States. Long-Term Care Reforms in OECD Countries Cristiano Gori, Jose-Luis Fernandez, Raphael Wittenberg, 2016-06-01 Since the early 1990s long term care policies have undergone significant transformations across OECD countries. In some countries these changes have responded to the introduction of major policy reforms while in others significant transformations have come about through the accumulation of incremental policy changes. The book brings together evidence from over 15 years of care reform to examine changes in long term care systems occurring in OECD countries. It discusses and compares key changes in national policies and examines the main successes and failures of recent reforms. Finally it suggests possible policy strategies for the future in the sector. With contributions from a wide range of experts across OECD countries this book is essential reading for academics, researchers and policy makers in the field of long term care policy. Long-term Care for the Elderly United States. Cumulated Index Medicus, 1999 Long-term care for older people: A global perspective Bo Hu, Ricardo Rodrigues, YongJoo Rhee, Raphael Wittenberg, 2023-05-04 Long-term Care for Older People Manfred Huber, Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, Patrick Hennessy, 2005 Long term care is a cross cutting policy issue that brings together a range of services for persons who are dependent on help with basic activities of daily living. When the cohorts of the baby boom generation will reach the oldest age groups over the next three decades demand for long term care will rise steeply. How do governments in OECD countries respond to this growing demand? What has been done to improve access to long term care, improve quality of services and make care affordable? Are there examples of successful strategies to improve the mix of services and policies to enable a larger number of older persons to stay in their homes? And has this helped contain the costs of caring for the elderly? This study reports on the latest trends in long term care policies in nineteen OECD countries: Australia, Austria, Canada, Germany, Hungary, Ireland, Japan, Korea, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Mexico, Poland, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, the United Kingdom and the United States. It studies lessons learned from countries that undertook major reforms over the past decade. Trends in expenditure, financing and the number of care recipients are analyzed based on new data on cross country differences. Special attention is given to experience with programs that provide consumers of services with a choice of care options including cash to family caregivers Concise country profiles of long term care systems and an overview on demography and living situations of older persons make this complex policy field more accessible
