episode marked as a one off crisis which also functions as a locus for an ongoing renegotiation of a modern polity and culture Reading a wide ranging archive of English language texts from prison memoir to popular magazine from high brow literary fiction to boilerplate thriller from the unrelentingly realistic to the mythically allegorical Genres of Emergency traces the tension between crisis and continuity that these genres mediate In addressing this tension the authors of Emergency fiction take seriously the genres in which they write and use them to mobilize literary conventions as political interventions More specifically these novels use the conventions of realism epic allegory and the thriller to reach back in time and across cultures and languages invoking past iterations of these genres and histories and anticipating those to come Combining literary criticism with cultural history Genres of Emergency thus has implications for the study of literary genre for the historical events that these genres recount and for understanding the politics of literary form

The Bookman, 1914 John Fowles's Fiction and the Poetics of Postmodernism Mahmoud Salami, 1992 Salami presents for instance a critique of the self conscious narrative of the diary form in The Collector the intertextual relations of the multiplicity of voices the problems of subjectivity the reader's position the politics of seduction ideology and history in The Magus and The French Lieutenant's Woman. The book also analyzes the ways in which Fowles uses and abuses the short story genre in which enigmas remain enigmatic and the author disappears to leave the characters free to construct their own texts. Salami centers for example on A Maggot which embodies the postmodernist technique of dialogical narrative the problem of narrativization of history and the explicitly political critique of both past and present in terms of social and religious dissent. These political questions are also echoed in Fowles's nonfictional book The Aristos in which he strongly rejects the totalization of narratives and the materialization of society.
