Reasserting the Public in Public Services M. Ramesh,Eduardo Araral,Xun Wu,2010-02-25 After two decades of dominating the public sector reform agenda privatization is on the wane as states gradually reassert themselves in many formerly privatized sectors The change of direction is a response to the realization that privatization is not working as intended especially in public service sectors This landmark volume brings together leading social scientists including B Guy Peters Anthony Cheung and Jon Pierre to systematically discuss the emerging patterns of the reassertion of the state in the delivery of essential public services The state under these emerging arrangements assumes overall responsibility for and control over essential public service delivery yet allows scope for market incentives and competition when they are known to work The recent reforms thus display a more pragmatic and nuanced understanding of how markets work in public services The first part of the book provides the theoretical context while the second provides sectoral studies of recent reforms in healthcare education transportation electricity and water supply It includes case studies from a range of countries Brazil China South Korea Singapore Thailand Vietnam USA Hong Kong and the UK This book will be of interest to students and scholars in Political Science Public Administration Public Policy Geography Political Economy Sociology and Urban Planning

Pacific Automobility Gijs Mom, 2022-09-13 The beginning of the 21st century has seen important shifts in mobility cultures around the world as the West's media driven car culture has contrasted with existing local mobilities from rickshaws in India and minibuses in Africa to cycling in China In this expansive volume historian Gijs Mom explores how contemporary mobility has been impacted by social political and economic forces on a global scale as in light of local mobility cultures the car as an adventure machine seems to lose cultural influence in favor of the car's status character

Moving People Peter Cox, 2013-07-04 The local and global environmental impacts of transport are more apparent than ever before Moving People provides an attention grabbing introduction to the problems of transport and the development of sustainable alternatives focusing on the often misunderstood issue of personal mobility as opposed to freight Re assessing the value and importance of non motorized transport the author raises questions about mobility in the face of climate change and energy security particularly for the developing world Featuring original case studies from across the globe this book is essential for anyone studying or working in the area of environmental sustainability and transport policy

International Public Policy Analysis George Guess, Thomas Husted, 2016-07-15 Most public policy analysis books currently on the market are US centric and focused on quantitative analysis while comparative public policy textbooks are oriented around countries and specific policy processes International Public Policy Analysis is the first textbook to take a truly comparative and cross cultural approach organized around policy issues to examine important policy lessons that affect the everyday lives of citizens Authors George Guess and Thomas Husted demonstrate that incremental marginal changes in sectoral policy systems using cross national lessons can lead to larger changes in country policies democracy and better governance While whole systems policy transfer without major adaptation to local cultural and institutional contexts often does not work many opportunities exist in each sector for operational level piecemeal transfer of lessons and practices to improve policy performance Jargon free and using a cross cultural approach the individual chapters in this book utilize a 3 level analysis to review the policy issue areas present analytic tools and frameworks and provide cases exercises for practice in applying the methods and frameworks International Public Policy Analysis is an essential upper level undergraduate and graduate textbook for courses on comparative public policy policy process political economy and international policy analysis and may also be used as required reading in introductory public affairs and policy courses at the graduate level Regional Development Dialogue ,1999 Urban Mobility for All: La Mobilité Urbaine pour Tous X. Godard,I. Fatonzoun,2002-01-01 This title covers topics such as the urban travel mobility of social groups transport urbanism and accessibility mass transport investment regulation integration and financing public transport road safety and strategic approach institution and governance Current Literature on Science of Science ,1995 Paratransit in African Cities Roger Behrens,Dorothy McCormick,David Mfinanga,2015-09-07 Public transport systems in contemporary Sub Saharan African cities are heavily reliant upon paratransit services These services are defined as informal transportation which operates between the public and individual private spheres In Africa paratransit is characterized by low quality of vehicles and chaotic management but it also provides cheap accessible and flexible transport solutions for the urban poor It is typically poorly regulated and operates as a set of informal businesses A common result of weak public sector regulation and a fare strategy in which owners claim a fixed daily revenue target and drivers who keep the variable balance as income is destructive competition and poor quality of service There is an incontrovertible case for improving the quality reliability and coverage of public transport systems and some city governments have attempted to do so by initiating reform projects that envisage the phased replacement of paratransit operations with formalised bus rapid transit systems In this book the authors argue that there are however path dependencies and constraints that limit the possible extent of public transport system reform Paratransit operations also have some inherent advantages with respect to demand responsiveness and service innovation Attempts to eradicate paratransit may be neither pragmatic nor strategic Two future scenarios are likely hybrid systems comprised of both paratransit and formally planned modes and systems improved by upgrades and strengthened regulation of existing paratransit services The business strategies and aspirations of incumbent paratransit operators in three case cities Cape Town Dar es Salaam and Nairobi are discussed as well as their attitudes towards emerging public transport reform projects International experiences of hybrid system regulation and paratransit business development are reviewed in order to explore policy options The authors contend that policies recognising paratransit operators and seeking contextually appropriate complementarity with formalised planned services will produce greater benefits than policies ignoring their continued existence The World Bank & Transportation ,1996 The Routledge Handbook on Cities of the Global South Susan Parnell,Sophie Oldfield,2014-03-26 The renaissance in urban theory draws directly from a fresh focus on the neglected realities of cities beyond the west and embraces the global south as the epicentre of urbanism This Handbook engages the complex ways in which cities of the global south and the global north are rapidly shifting the imperative for multiple genealogies of knowledge production as well as a diversity of empirical entry points to understand contemporary urban dynamics The Handbook works towards a geographical realignment in urban studies bringing into conversation a wide array of cities across the global south the ordinary mega global and peripheral With interdisciplinary contributions from a range of leading international experts it profiles an emergent and geographically diverse body of work. The contributions draw on conflicting and divergent debates to open up discussion on the meaning of the city in or of the global south arguments that are fluid and increasingly contested geographically and conceptually. It reflects on critical urbanism the macro and micro scale forces that shape cities including ideological demographic and technological shifts and constantly changing global and regional economic dynamics. Working with southern reference points the chapters present themes in urban politics identity and environment in ways that re frame our thinking about cities. The Handbook engages the twenty first century city through a southern urban lens to stimulate scholarly professional and activist engagements with the city.

Urban Transportation Innovations Worldwide Roger L. Kemp, Carl J. Stephani, 2015-01-28 This handbook of urban transportation planning presents case studies detailing 40 best practices from 33 states in the U S and 19 countries on six continents. Cities around the world have improved transportation options for their citizens. Roadways have seen the addition of walkways and bicycle lanes and light rail transit systems have reduced street traffic. These cities have decreased reliance on personal cars and enhanced their urban environments by reducing congestion pollution and the number and width of roadways. This volume discusses the dynamic field of urban transportation planning and provides resources for planning professionals and public officials interested in obtaining additional information on the latest trends.

Cities of the Global South Reader Faranak Miraftab, Neema Kudva, 2014-10-10 The Cities of the Global South Reader adopts a fresh and critical approach to the field of urbanization in the developing world. The Reader incorporates both early and emerging debates about the diverse trajectories of urbanization processes in the context of the restructured global alignments in the last three decades. Emphasizing the historical legacies of colonialism the Reader recognizes the entanglement of conditions and concepts often understood in binary relations: first third worlds wealth poverty development underdevelopment and inclusion exclusion. By asking whose city whose development the Reader rigorously highlights the fractures along lines of class race gender and other socially and spatially constructed hierarchies in global South cities. The Reader's thematic structure where editorial introductions accompany selected texts examines the issues and concerns that urban dwellers planners and policy makers face in the contemporary world. These include the urban economy housing basic services infrastructure the role of non state civil society based actors planned interventions and contestations the role of diaspora capital the looming problem of adapting to climate change and the increasing spectre of violence in a post 9 11 transnational world. The Cities of the Global South Reader pulls together a diverse set of readings from scholars across the world some of which have been written specially for the volume to provide an essential resource for a broad interdisciplinary readership at undergraduate and postgraduate levels in urban geography urban sociology and urban planning as well as disciplines related to international and development studies. Editorial commentaries that introduce the central issues for each theme summarize the state of the field and outline an associated bibliography. They will be of particular value for lecturers students and researchers making the Cities of the Global South Reader a key text for those interested in understanding contemporary urbanization processes American Book Publishing Record ,1995 Guide to Country Information in International Governmental Organization Publications American Library Association. Government Documents Round Table,1996 Government Reports Announcements & Index ,1995 The Challenge of Slums United Nations Human Settlements Programme,2012-05-23 The Challenge of Slums presents the first global assessment of slums emphasizing their problems and prospects Using a newly formulated operational definition of slums it presents estimates of the number of urban slum dwellers and examines the factors at all level from local to global that underlie the formation of slums as well as their social spatial and economic characteristics and dynamics It goes on to evaluate the principal policy responses to the slum challenge of the last few decades From this assessment the immensity of the challenges that slums pose is clear Almost 1 billion people live in slums the majority in the developing world where over 40 per cent of the urban population are slum dwellers The number is growing and will continue to increase unless there is serious and concerted action by municipal authorities governments civil society and the international community This report points the way forward and identifies the most promising approaches to achieving the United Nations Millennium Declaration targets for improving the lives of slum dwellers by scaling up participatory slum upgrading and poverty reduction programmes The Global Report on Human Settlements is the most authoritative and up to date assessment of conditions and trends in the world s cities Written in clear language and supported by informative graphics case studies and extensive statistical data it will be an essential tool and reference for researchers academics planners public authorities and civil society organizations around the world
