Nana Clabiques Garnier:

Nana Émile Zola, 2020-03-26 She was the golden beast an unconscious force the very scent of her could bring the world to ruin Nana daughter of a drunk and a laundress is the Helen of Troy of Paris A sexually magnetic high class prostitute and actress she becomes a celebrity rapidly conquering society ruining all men who fall under her spell especially Count Muffat Chamberlain to the Empress Nana herself meets a terrible fate consumed by her own dissipation and extravagance just as the disastrous war with Prussia is declared Nana is the ninth instalment in the twenty volume Rougon Macquart series The novel opens in 1867 the year of the World Fair when Paris thronged by a cosmopolitan lite was la Ville Lumi re the glittering setting and object of Zola s scathing denunciation of society s hypocrisy and moral corruption Nana comes to symbolize the Second Empire regime itself in all its excesses but in the final chapters the narrator seems to suggest that the coming disaster is not so much a result of the corruption of the Empire as of rampant female sexuality French Cultural Studies

Marie-Pierre Le Hir, Dana Strand, 2000-06-22 Addresses the theoretical and pedagogical implications of redefining French Studies as an interdisciplinary field while providing practical examples of the kind of criticism that such a shift would entail

The Literary Channel Margaret Cohen, Carolyn Dever, 2009-02-14 The Literary Channel defines a crucial transnational literary zone that shaped the development of the modern novel During the first two centuries of the genre s history Britain and France were locked in political economic and military struggle The period also saw British and French writers critics and readers enthusiastically exchanging works codes and theories of the novel Building on both nationally based literary history and comparatist work on poetics this book rethinks the genre s evolution as marking the power and limits of modern cultural nationalism In the Channel zone the novel developed through interactions among texts readers writers and translators that inextricably linked national literary cultures It served as a forum to promote and critique nationalist clich s whether from the standpoint of Enlightenment cosmopolitanism the insurgent nationalism of colonized spaces or the non nationalized culture of consumption In the process the Channel zone promoted codes that became the genre s hallmarks including the sentimental poetics that would shape fiction through the nineteenth century Uniting leading critics who bridge literary history and theory The Literary Channel will appeal to all readers attentive to the future of literary studies as well as those interested in the novel s development British and French cultural history and extra national patterns of cultural exchange Contributors include April Alliston Emily Apter Margaret Cohen Joan DeJean Carolyn Dever Lynn Festa Fran oise Lionnet Deidre Shauna Lynch Sharon Marcus Richard Maxwell and Mary Helen McMurren Blood Novels Julia H.

Chang, 2022-08-31 In the late nineteenth century Spain s most prominent writers Juan Valera Leopoldo Alas and Benito P rez Gald s made blood a crucial feature of their fiction Blood Novels examines the cultural and literary significance of blood unsettling the dominant assumption of the period that blood no longer played a decisive role in social hierarchies By examining fictional works through the rubric of blood novels Julia H Chang identifies a shared fascination with blood that probes the limits of realism through blood's dual nature of matter and metaphor. Situating the literature within broader cultural and theoretical debates, Blood Novels attends to the aesthetic contours of material blood and in particular how bleeding is inflected by gender, caste, and race. Critically engaging with feminist theory, theories of race and whiteness, literary criticism, and medical literature, this innovative study makes a case for treating blood as a critical analytic tool that not only sheds new light on Spanish realism but more broadly challenges our understanding of gendered and racialized embodiment in Spain.

Narrative Memory in Flaubert's Works Christophe Ippolito, 2001. Christophe Ippolito's study of Flaubert's fiction and travel narratives demonstrates how the Flaubertian reader's attitude is reoriented from a plot-centered reading toward a retroactive reading based on the perception of underlying cultural signifiers. It is argued that by strategically pointing to recurrent symbolic artifacts, character types, intertexts, or tropes, Flaubert's narratives shape a system of representation that is progressively memorized by the reader as a coherent hermeneutic model for the reception of his oeuvre. Nineteenth-century French Studies, 1994.

The Culture of the Europeans Donald Sassoon, 2006. This wide-ranging and hugely ambitious book offers for the first time ever an integrated history of the culture produced and consumed by Europeans since 1800 and follows its transformation from an elite activity to a mass market from lending libraries to the internet, from the first public concerts to music downloads. BOOK JACKET Australian Journal of French Studies, 2001.

Literary Slumming Eliza Jane Smith, 2021-08-06. Literary Slumming: Slang and Class in Nineteenth-Century France applies a sociolinguistic approach to the representation of slang in French literature and dictionaries to reveal the ways in which upper-class writers, lexicographers, literary critics, and bourgeois readers participated in a sociolinguistic concept the author refers to as literary slumming or the appropriation of lower-class and criminal language and culture. Through an analysis of spoken and embodied manifestations of the anti-language of slang in the works of Eugène François Vidocq, Honoré de Balzac, Eugène Sue, Victor Hugo, the Goncourt Brothers, and Émile Zola, Literary Slumming argues that the nineteenth-century French literary discourse on slang led to the emergence of this sociolinguistic phenomenon that prioritized lower-class and criminal life and culture in a way that ultimately expanded class boundaries and increased visibility and agency for minorities within the public sphere.

Translation and the Arts in Modern France Sonya Stephens, 2017-07-10.

Translation and the Arts in Modern France sits at the intersection of transposition, translation, and ekphrasis, finding resonances in these areas across periods, places, and forms. Within these contributions, questions of colonization, subjugation, migration, and exile connect Benin to Brittany and political philosophy to the sentimental novel and to film. Focusing on cultural production from 1830 to the present and privileging French culture, the contributors explore interactions with other cultures, countries, and continents, often explicitly equating intercultural permeability with representational exchange. In doing so, the book exposes the extent to which moving between media and codes, the very process of translation and transposition, is a defining aspect of creativity across time, space, and disciplines.

Damned Women Jennifer Waelti-Walters, 2000. Damned

Women charts the previously unexplored literary territory of the place of lesbians in the French novel Beginning with the early depictions of lesbians as decadent monsters by nineteenth century male authors such as Diderot Balzac and Gautier Jennifer Waelti Walters shows how later little known female writers struggled to free lesbian characters from imposed stereotypes While homosexual men are legion in the history of French literature and criticism until now no critic writing in French or English has given the same sort of attention to lesbians Waelti Walters covers two hundred years of fiction beginning with the publication of Diderot's The Nun in 1796 and ending with present day lesbian writers Jocelyne Fran ois Mireille Best H l ne de Monferrand and the authors connected to Genevi ve Pastre's lesbian publishing house While she deals with renowned authors such as Violette Leduc and Monique Wittig including their respective literary and personal relationships with Simone de Beauvoir and H l ne Cixous many of the writers discussed will be unknown to most readers Their novels vary from the extraordinarily powerful to the utterly trite by providing the first comprehensive guide to this body of work Waelti Walters sheds light on French literary and cultural history Waelti Walters shows how the lesbian authors of this literature had little or no contact with each other let alone with lesbians outside France She describes their world and its effects on their work showing how their situation differs from that of British and North American lesbians Damned Women tells a story of alienation persecution and isolation within a culture It is a cultural and literary commentary full of new information forgotten or little known authors poignant surprises and unexpected interrelationships Jennifer Waelti Walters is retired from the Department of Women's Studies University of Victoria
