Napoleon Abel Gances Cla:

A Revolution for the Screen Paul Cuff, 2016-12-15 Abel Gance's silent masterpiece Napoleon was given a limited run on its debut in 1927 but soon afterwards distributors in France and America unwilling to deal with its nine hour running time subjected it to savage cuts with devastating results for the movie and for film history. The struggle across ensuing decades to restore and reintegrate Gance's film has formed a backdrop to an array of formal contextual and ideological battles. In this book Paul Cuff takes account of those battles and challenges received opinion on Gance's view of both his film and its subject.

Napoleon Nelly Kaplan, 2019-07-25 Abel Gance's film restored through the efforts of Kevin Brownlow is discussed here by Nelly Kaplan who was Gance's assistant and then later with such productions as The Pirate's Fiancée a film director in her own right. Each volume in the BFI Film Classics series contains a personal commentary on the film, a brief production history and a detailed filmography.

French Film Theory and Criticism, Volume 1 Richard Abel, 2020-12-08 These two volumes examine a significant but previously neglected moment in French cultural history: the emergence of French film theory and criticism before the essays of André Bazin. Richard Abel has devised an organizational scheme of six nearly symmetrical periods that serve to bite into the discursive flow of early French writing on the cinema. Each of the periods is discussed in a separate and extensive historical introduction with convincing explications of the various concepts current at the time. In each instance Abel goes on to provide a complementary anthology of selected texts in translation. Amounting to a portable archive, these anthologies make available a rich selection of nearly one hundred and fifty important texts, most of them never before published in English.

The 9.5mm Vintage Film Encyclopaedia Patrick Moules, 2020-07-28 Written in both English and French, The 9.5mm Vintage Film Encyclopaedia provides a single volume comprehensive catalogue of all known 9.5mm film releases including Films (comprising 12,460 individual entries), this A-Z reference index provides the main listing for each film and its origin, where known, along with additional information including cast and crew and cross references to other relevant material. People: This index of all known actors and film crew comprising over 12,000 names provides a listing which is cross referenced to the main entry for each original film they worked on. Numbers: Path Baby Path scope and other distributors catalogue numbers, film length, release dates where known and the series in which the films were organised are set out in detail. With a foreword from eminent film historian and filmmaker Keith Brownlow, this extensively researched text explains the importance of the 9.5mm film from its beginnings in the early 1920s to becoming synonymous with Home Cinema throughout Europe. Readers will also find a brief technical explanation on how 9.5mm films were produced along with relevant images.

On the Viewing Platform Katie Trumpener, Tim Barringer, 2020-11-17 A wide ranging study of the painted panorama's influence on art, photography and film. This ambitious volume presents a multifaceted account of the legacy of the circular painted panorama and its far reaching influence on art, photography, film and architecture. From its 18th century origins, the panorama quickly became a global mass cultural phenomenon, often linked to an imperial worldview. Yet it also transformed modes of viewing and exerted a lasting visible impact on filmmaking techniques museum displays and contemporary installation art On the Viewing Platform offers close readings of works ranging from proto panoramic Renaissance cityscapes and 19th century paintings and photographs to experimental films and a wide array of contemporary art Extensively researched and spectacularly illustrated this volume proposes an expansive new framework for understanding the histories of art film and spectatorship

Mists of Regret Dudley Andrew, 2021-11-09 Just before World War II French cinema reached a high point that has been dubbed the style of poetic realism Working with unforgettable actors like Jean Gabin and Arletty directors such as Renoir Carn Gremillon Duvivier and Chenal routinely captured the prizes for best film at every festival and in every country and their accomplishments led to general agreement that the French were the first to give maturity to the sound cinema Here the distinguished film scholar Dudley Andrew examines the motivations and consequences of these remarkable films by looking at the cultural web in which they were made Beyond giving a rich view of the life and worth of cinema in France Andrew contributes substantially to our knowledge of how films are dealt with in history Where earlier studies have treated the masterpieces of this era either in themselves or as part of the vision of their creators and where certain recent scholars have reacted to this by dissolving the masterpieces back into the system of entertainment that made them possible Andrew stresses the dialogue of culture and cinema In his view the films open questions that take us into the culture while our understanding of the culture gives energy direction and consequence to our reading of the films The book demonstrates the value of this hermeneutic approach for one set of texts and one period but it should very much interest film theorists and film historians of all sorts

Cinema Genre Raphaëlle Moine, 2009-01-26 Genre or type is a core concept in both film production and the history of film Genres play a key role in how moviegoers perceive and rate films and is likely to determine a film s production values and costs Written in a clear engaging jargon free style this volume offers a cutting edge theoretical overview of the topic of genre as practiced in British American and French film criticism Organized by a series of simple but fundamental questions the book uses numerous examples from classic Hollywood cinema the western drama musical comedy and film noir as well as some more contemporary examples from European or Asian cinema that are so often neglected by other studies in the field How do we characterize genre and what are its various functions In what ways does genre give a film its identity How do genres emerge What is the cultural significance of genre and how does it circulate within and across national boundaries Informative and user friendly Moine s book is accessible to general readers and adapts easily to a wide range of teaching approaches

Eye of the Century Francesco Casetti, 2008-05-14 Is it true that film in the twentieth century experimented with vision more than any other art form And what visions did it privilege In this brilliant book acclaimed film scholar Francesco Casetti situates the cinematic experience within discourses of twentieth century modernity He suggests that film defined a unique gaze not only because it recorded many of the century's most important events but also because it determined the manner in which they were received Casetti begins by examining film's nature as a medium in an age obsessed with immediacy nearness and accessibility He considers the myths and rituals cinema constructed on the screen and in the theater and how they provided new images and behaviors that responded to emerging concerns ideas and social orders Film also succeeded in negotiating the different needs of modernity comparing and uniting conflicting stimuli providing answers in a world torn apart by conflict and satisfying a desire for everydayness as well as lightness in people's lives The ability to communicate the power to inform and the capacity to negotiate these are the three factors that defined film's function and outlook and made the medium a relevant and vital art form of its time So what kind of gaze did film create Film cultivated a personal gaze intimately tied to the emergence of point of view but also able to restore the immediacy of the real a complex gaze in which reality and imagination were combined a piercing gaze achieved by machine and yet deeply anthropomorphic an excited gaze rich in perceptive stimuli but also attentive to the spectator's orientation and an immersive gaze which gave the impression of being inside the seen world while also maintaining a sense of distance Each of these gazes combined two different qualities and balanced them The result was an ever inventive synthesis that strived to bring about true compromises without ever sacrificing the complexity of contradiction As Casetti demonstrates film proposed a vision that in making opposites permeable modeled itself on an oxymoronic principle In this sense film is the key to reading and understanding the modern experience
